Forty-Five Years An Editor

The Maritime Baptist records that the editor of the paper, Rev. Joseph McLeod, D. D., has just completed forty-five years of continuous editorial service. "The publishers feel that such an unusual event should not pass unnoticed. Only incidentally was it learned that Sunday, the 17th. inst., was the 45th. anniversary of our honored editor's entrance upon the field of religious journalism. As our readers will have observed, the editor has never made any mention of himself in his paper; they will therefore readily appreciate his emphatic unwillingness that place should be given to this special reference to himself. The publishers are sure that Maritime Baptist readers will justify them in insisting upon the use of this column for this issue. While it is a column of the editorial page, it is no sense an editorial. Provision is carefully made even for the reading of the proof. The father of the present editor, Rev. Ezekiel McLeod, founded The Religious Intelligencer in 1853. He was pastor and editor and publisher until his death in 1867. His mantle then fell upon his son, the man whom the publishers of The Maritime Baptist most heartily congratulate to-day—then 22 years of age. For 22 years Dr. McLeod, too, was pastor, editor and publisher. He was pastor in Fredericton, his only pastorate, from July, 1868, to July, 1890. For eighteen consecutive years he was Chaplain of the Legislative Assembly. In 1905, when the union of The Messenger and Visitor and The Religious Intelligencer was effected, Dr. McLeod was appointed joint-editor of the resultant paper, The Maritime Baptist, in conjunction with the lamented Dr. S. McC. Black. On the demise of Dr. Black in 1909, Dr. McLeod became the sole editor, a position which he has filled with sympathy, tact, devotion and success. His advocacy of moral reforms has been consistent and strong. His sympathy with the work of the Christian Church has been warm and comprehensive. He has made the paper the friend of all our denominational enterprises, and he has given generous attention to world-wide interests of the Kingdom of God."

Dr. Anna Shaw Makes Threats

Philadelphia, March 19—"We hope that we will not come to the militant methods of our sisters in England, but I say that if we are played with, made fun of and greeted with supercilious smiles by congressional committees as we were last week we will be driven to it. If it does come, the daughters of old English sires here will be ready to suffer as the women are suffering in England."

Dr. Anna H. Shaw so spoke during the course of an address at a dinner given here in honor of the board of managers of the national American Woman's Suffrage Association, of which Dr. Shaw is a leader. Prolonged applause greeted her declaration.
