Public School Closes Closing Exercises on Friday Evening, Good Work in Manual Training. The Graduating Class

The Public schools closed on Friday, and the closing exercises were held on that evening in the assembly room of the Fisher Memorial School. There will be eight weeks holidays, schools to resume again on August 25th.

MANUAL TRAINING ROOM.

Many of the citizens visited the manual training school, which is located in the Broadway building, from Monday till Thursday evening, when the work of the pupils was open to the inspection of the public. This branch of the school work has been in charge of Miss Winifred Smith, of St. Stephen, for the past three years. There is probably no more capable teacher in the Maritime Provinces than is Miss Smith and the town is fortunate in having her on the staff, particularly at this time when in the near future the manual training work will be transferred to the rooms in the Agricultural College now being erected, with the necessary high class apparatus to be purchased, making it probably the most complete manual training school in these provinces by the sea. Miss Smith is a graduate of the Manuel Training School in Fredericton, after which she took a special course in Columbia University, New York city. During the past school year 116 boys a week registered in Miss Smith's department.

The work turned out by the boys was most pleasing to the teacher as well as to the judge, Mr. Burnham, who had much difficulty in awarding the prizes, so evenly matched were the contestants.

The pupils in Grade X, had on exhibition the following work:—Fraser Ellis won the prize of a fountain pen donated by J. D. Carey. His exhibit was a gramophone case, made of white wood, mahogany stained; it is to be used for large records, with a smaller drawer for needles.

Robert Mooers showed a screen made of chestnut wood, which had been fumed and oiled, giving it a beautiful finish; he also had a typewriter table, made of chestnut, fumed and oiled.

Russel Brown's contribution was a plate rail made of whitewood, stained and waxed.

Neville Tompkins showed a hall seat made of chestnut, fumed and oiled.

Ralph Sprague made a piano bench, with cover, a really high class piece of work.

The above boys in Grade X, make their own drafting and blue prints from which the work is done.

In Grade IX, Wilbur Rideout showed a glove box, card tray, knife tray, towel roller, mirror and tabourette. The judge considered that this exhibit was pretty nearly as good as that of the prize winner's, Fraser Ellis.

For the best work in the two grades five and six, C. Allan Smith, school trustee, offered a prize of a jack-knife which was won by Zeb Thibideau, aged 10 years, for first year work.

For the best work in the two eight grades, E. W. Mair, school trustee, gave a drafting pen which was won by Lyman Flemming, Broadway, eighth, a third year student.

For the best work in the two sevens, J. T. A. Dibblee, school trustee, gave a jack plane which was awarded to Fred Grant, Broadway seven.

MEMORIAL SCHOOL.

The closing exercises in the Assembly Hall, on Friday evening, were attended by a large audience, which enjoyed the program so successfully carried out. Mr. W. B. Belyea, chairman of the school board, presided.

There are 15 members in the graduating class. The officers are Jasper Mc Gibbon, Pres; Jean Tilley, Vice Pres; Douglas Balmain, Secy.

The following is the program:—

1. Piano Solo—Danse Rustique, William Mason, Elva Van Wart.
2. Prize Essay—The Suffrage Movement, Lee Seely.
3. Sextette—Lillian Jones, Stella McKinney, Mary Dickinson, Elva Van Wart, Irma Jones, Evelyn Nicholson.
4. Class History—Marie Sullivan.
5. Class Prophecy—Thelma Stairs.
6. Duet.—Across the Still Lagoon,

Stella McKinney, Evelyn Deming.

7. Valedictory, Douglas Balmain, Presentation of Diplomas and Prizes.

The attendance at the exercises was very good indeed, far better than it was last year. The handsome hall was looking its best. Owing to the creditable work of its efficient caretaker, Mr. Herbert Holmes. The platform was decorated with potted plants, streamers of white Japanese paper running from the chandeliers in the ceiling to the back of the platform and connecting with the class motto: "Palmas Qui Meruit Ferat; the stand of the presiding officer was covered with flowers. A large painting of the late James McCoy occupied a prominent place on the platform, where were seated the chairman of the school board, Mr. W. B. Belyea; Trustees J. T. A. Dibblee, Geo. E. Baimain, C. Allan Smith and J. R. Brown Revds. R. W. Weddall and Frank Baird, T. C. L. Ketchum, J. D. Carey and Principal W. T. Denham.

Mr. Belyea said he was pleased at the large attendance of parents showing the warm interest they are taking in the educational work of the town. This was the largest graduating class ever turned out in the history of the town, and spoke very highly of the successful work of Principal W. T. Denham. He referred to the munificent gift of the late Mr. Fisher in giving to the town this magnificent school building. He told of the work of the trustees and thought that the purchase of the land recently made for the enlargement of the school grounds would meet with the approval of the citizens. He then congratulated the graduates on their success. As chairman of the board of trustees he said he had intimate knowledge of the good work being carried on in the town schools in general, and particularly at the High School, and he felt that he could not be too warm in his praise of the energetic and painstaking work of the town's teaching staff.

In the reading of the prize essay, class history and class prophecy, much pleasure was given the audience by the authors Lee Seely, Celia Marie Sullivan and Thelma Gladys Stairs, while the valedictory of Douglas Hume Balmain was a very clever composition, delivered in a clear voice, every word being heard by the spectators.

REV. R. W. WEDDALL

In addressing the graduating class, Rev. R. W. Weddall said it was a pleasure to be present this evening. The high standing of the entertainment was a guarantee of the fact that the graduates were not idlers. It is well to remember that there is no royal road to success. The newspapers to day told of a man in Fredericton who is celebrating his 102nd birthday, and when asked what was the reason for his long life, he said, early rising and hard work. If these qualities were incorporated into your future, no doubt the class prophecy will be to a great extent realized. You are builders. You see the new building rising all around you by slow degrees until they are completed. You and all of us are builders of characters; let us cultivate the body, mind, and spirit, so that the whole being will be a credit to humanity and an honor to God. Remember your motto: "Who merits the palm, let him receive it." He congratulated the class and told the members that they would be followed through life with the best wishes and highest hopes of the entire audience.

PRESENTATION OF PRIZES.

Medal donated by chairman W. B. Belyea for highest standing in XI. English, presented by donor, won by Lee Seely.

Medal donated by W. M. Connell, as an English Essay prize, presented by T. C. L. Ketchum, won by Lee Seely.

T. C. L. Ketchum said he had been one of the examiners of the high school essays for nearly 20 years. The subject of the present essay was a delicate one and it was handled with tact by Mr. Seely, but if he ever went to London he should avoid Mrs. Pankhurst, who would not forgive him for the sentiments contained in the essay. All the essays, however, did not have the same views, and all of them were remarkably good. Everyone could not win, the important part is to complete. Strangers coming to Woodstock were astonished that a small town like this, has such a magnificent building; everything, the building the attendance, appearance of pupils etc., excels anything ever seen in Woodstock.
