

Cooke Lamb

A wedding of wide-spread interest took place Tuesday afternoon at half past three o'clock in St Luke's church, when the Rev A S Hazel, rector, solemnized the marriage of Miss Marguerite Lamb, daughter of the late Claude M Lamb, to Mr Jeffrey Russell Newman Cooke of Camrose, Alta.

The decorations of the church were unusually beautiful, the rich autumn tints of the flowers blending with the palms and greenery being most effective, bunches of white sweet peas tied with white satin ribbon denoted the seats reserved for the family and their guests. Captain E Raban Vince and Arthur M Fisher were the ushers.

The bride looked very lovely in a gown of rich ivory champagne, made with long pointed train, the front of the skirt caught in graceful folds to form a draped effect. The bodice had for trimming some rose point lace, which on a similar occasion adorned her mother's wedding gown, a wedding veil of tulle fastened to the coiffure with a wreath of orange blossoms fell almost to the hem of the beautiful costume where it was caught by a spray of orange blossoms, an exquisite shower bouquet of cream roses was carried by the bride. When the bride entered the church to the strains of "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden" accompanied by her uncle, J Arthur F Garden, she was preceded by the surplice choir, after which came the ushers, and then the bridesmaid, Miss Kathleen Taylor of Fredericton, who was gowned in light blue accordin pleated chiffon over blue silk with coatee of blue brocade, paris hat of blue and black with large tulle bows and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Miss Mary Wright was gowned in pink accordin pleated chiffon over pink silk with coatee of pink brocade with paris hat of pink and black with large tulle bows and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Next followed the maid of honor, Miss Margaret Dibblee, who was gowned in yellow mion over white brocaded silk made entrain with small bonnet shaped hat of white beaver trimmed with yellow roses and black velvet bow and ends and carried a bouquet of crimson roses. Mrs J Arthur F Garden was gowned in yellow silk with white lace coat and yellow beaver hat trimmed with black tulle butterfly and jet. Mrs George Mitchell wore a gown of pale blue silk with small black beaver hat with plumes. Mrs Vern M Whitman wore pink chiffon over pink silk with pink rosebud trimming and pink velvet hat with pink roses. Mrs Willard L Carr was gowned in blue silk with black sequin tunic and blue and black hat. Mrs Wilmot R Baloch wore a handsome gown of black satin with violet hat.

While the register was being signed a solo was exquisitely rendered by Mrs Vern M Whitman of Laconia, N. H.

The bride's going away dress was light grey cloth with grey French hat. Mr and Mrs Cooke left on the evening express and will visit Montreal, New York and Toronto, before returning to their home in Camrose, Alta., where Mr Cooke is manager of Molson's bank.

Stone Balmain

The Methodist church was the scene of a fashionable wedding on Wednesday afternoon at half past three o'clock, when the Rev William Penna, pastor of the church, joined in the holy bonds of wedlock, Miss Georgina Lister Balmain and Walter Edward Stone, manager of the New Brunswick Telephone Company, here. While the guests were arriving Miss London of Canterbury, played Lohengrin Music on the violin accompanied by the organist, Mrs N Foster Thorne, on the pipe organ. The church was beautifully decorated, the bride and groom standing under a large white floral bell. The bride entered the church accompanied by her father to the strains of "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden," and looked very winsome in a gown of rich ivory satin, the bodice being of baby Irish lace with panels of the same on the skirt. The wedding veil was caught to the coiffure with a wreath of orange blossoms. The bride carried a lovely shower bouquet of cream roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Mildred Balmain, sister of the bride, was gowned in pink satin with coatee of shadow lace, and wore a large black hat trimmed with pink roses and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses. Mrs William Balmain wore a gown of blue shot silk trimmed with lace with black hat trimmed with marine bows and aigrette. Mrs George Balmain was gowned in grey silk veil over nell rose silk with touches of the rose silk on the skirt and bodice with black velvet hat. Mrs John Clark of Fredericton, wore amethyst silk with large black plumes. Mrs Magill wore a handsome black silk gown with black hat. Miss Mary Balmain wore a very dainty gown of white marquette with large white hat.

During the marriage service beautiful soft music was played by Miss London on the violin with pipe organ accompaniment.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, which was most artistically decorated for the occasion. The bride's going away dress was a tailor made suit of blue cloth with blue beaver hat with pheasant mount. Mr and Mrs Stone left on the evening train and will visit Boston and New York. On their return they will reside on Connell street. Many handsome and costly gifts were received, the groom's gift to his bride being a beautiful pearl necklace.
