HOUSEHOLD.
A delicious sweet sandwich is made of thin slices of white bread spread with jam, topped with cream cheese.
It is best to give linens a long soaking before washing. If this method is followed, stains will wash out easily.

The washing should be brought in as soon as dry, as clothes whip to pieces or rot in the sun.

MANUFACTURED JEWELS Henri Moissan, one of the greatest of French chemists, manufactured diamonds by dissolving sugar in boiling iron, but the crystals had to be found with a microscope.
M. Verneuil has for some time made commercially successful the manufacture of rubies, while the "Oriental emerald" which comes from his factories is superior in color and product and commands higher prices. The amethyst, sapphire and topaz have all been artificially reproduced, and so closely do they simulate the real thing that even experts are puzzled.

King George Almost a Teetotaller.

A certain noble sportsman had recently the honor of entertaining the King. In the smoking room he set forth an array of spirits of the most varied character and cheerfully asked his royal guest which he preferred.

The King examined the selection with interest and then remarked:
"I suppose this is your family medicine chest; but I do not think I need trouble it, thank you."

As a matter of fact the King has a great dislike to spirits of any kind. In every day life he is almost a teetotaler, and a single glass of light wine is as much as he ever cares to take. Mineral water is the King's favorite table beverage, and now and then he takes a glass of light beer.

Home Rule Bill To Pass As It Stands.

Belfast, Ireland, Nov. 26.—Premier A. J. B. MacDonnell intends the Home Rule for Ireland Bill to pass into law as it now stands, he told a delegation of Ulster Liberals who had protested to him against the exclusion of the Irish Province of Ulster from the provisions of the measure, according to the Belfast news letter.

LAST OFFICER OF THE LIGHT BRIGADE

Sir George Wombwell, the last surviving officer who took part in The Charge of The Light Brigade died recently in England. Sir George was born on November 25, 1832, was educated at Eton, and in 1855 succeeded to his father's title. This was after his return from the Crimea, whither he had gone straight from Eton as a cornet in the 17th. Lancers. Immediately he landed in the Crimea—he was only 22 years of age at the time—he was attached to Lord Cardigan's staff as an extra aide-de-camp.

In the charge down the "Valley of Death" he had two horses shot under him and was taken prisoner by the Russian gunners. He escaped by catching a riderless horse and riding back with the broken squadron to the British lines. The London Chronicle says that only eleven of those who took part in the charge are now alive.

Another Present For Miss Jessie Wilson.

New York, Nov. 24 — A delegation, representing 500 girl employees of a white goods factory, left to-day for Washington to present to Miss Jessie Wilson a hand-embroidered linen peticoat, as a wedding gift. The bride-to-be, it was understood, had made an appointment to receive the committee this evening.

All of the 500 girls played some part in the making of the fine petitcoat, which is embroidered with a garland of roses and an American eagle and flag bearing the initials J. W. S., Jessie Wilson Sayer. The idea was prompted by appreciation of work that Miss Wilson had done as a social worker among the New York factory girls.

MENT.

A retired clergyman tells a good joke at his own expense: He was accustomed to officiate frequently as a vacation supply in a suburban church. One Sunday after service, says the Newark Star, an old lady, the housekeeper in the home of a friend, spoke to him.

"I want to tell you sir," she said,
"how much I enjoy going to church on the days that you preach."

The clergyman said that he was very much gratified.

"Oh sir," she added, with appalling candor, "I get such a good seat then!"
