For Hair Health

If Rexall "93" Hair Tonic does not improve the health of your scalp and hair, we will pay for what you use during the trial.

We could not so strongly endorse Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and continue to sell it to the same people if it did not do all we claim. Should it not prove entirely satisfactory our customers would lose faith in us, we would lose their patronage, and our business would suffer.

If your hair is falling out or you suffer any scalp trouble, we believe Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will do more to eradicate the cause, give health to the scalp, stimulate new hair growth and prevent premature baldness than any other human agency.

We want you to make us prove this. We ask you to risk no money whatever. Buy a bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, use it according to directions for thirty days; then if you are not entirely satisfied, come and tell us and we will promptly hand back the money you paid us for it.

We won't ask you to sign anything, nor even to bring the bottle back. We won't obligate you in any way. We will take your mere word. Could anything be more fair? Could we do anything more to prove our belief in Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, and our honesty of purpose in recommending it to you?

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is as pleasant to use as spring water and has but a faint, pleasing odor. It comes in two sizes of bottles, 50c and $1.00.

You can buy Rexall "93" Hair Tonic in this community only at our store:

Mary J. Hayden,

Mary J. daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hayden, who has been ill for eight months, died on Thursday morning, aged 45 years. She was for many years a popular clerk in Manzer's store and was highly esteemed. She is survived by her parents, two brothers, William in the West, and John in Heron Mont., and one sister Annie the wife of to 1903 he was professor of chemistry at the University of New Brunswick and was then appointed professor of nature study at Macdonald College. Some time ago he retired on a pension from the Carnegie fund.

Dr. Brittain's books included, Manual of Nature Lessons and Outlines of Nature Lessons. Some years ago the New Brunswick University Monthly said of him: "His contribution towards the elevation of the educational standard of New Brunswick has been very great."

Dr. Brittain was of a modest and retiring disposition, and the public did not always appreciate his real worth. He married in 1871, Miss Charlotte T. Bonney.

Agricultural Meeting.

Debec, N. B.
March 20, 1913

In spite of the windy weather and the bad roads, upwards of forty members of the Agricultural Society and others gathered at the hall Saturday evening March 15th to hear Mr. H. B. Durost discuss soil, fertilization, drainage etc.

Mr. M. Green, President of the Society occupied the chair and called the meeting to order.

Mr. Durost developed his subject carefully, showing first, a list of the chemical elements necessary to plant growth, then pointing out that these were found in ordinary farm soils, in large quantities. This was followed by a discussion of the best methods of cultivation to set free these plant food elements and make them available to growing plants.

The subject of Artificial fertilizers was then taken up. The various materials used as sources of the plant's food in these fertilizers, were then discussed. It was shown how these materials might be used in compounding a fertilizer.

The address was followed by a lively discussion which brought out many points of interest.

The Agricultural Society is very much pleased with the policy of the Department of Agriculture in assisting in the providing of machinery for threshing clover seed. The Society will doubtless, in the very near future, take steps to co-operate with the Department, in buying such a machine for the use of the farmers in this community.

Dr. John Brittain,

Dr. John Brittain died at St. Anne de Bellevue, Quebec, at 2.30 o'clock Monday afternoon, March 17th.

It was in this province that Dr. Brittain spent the best part of his life and here he had hundreds of warm personal friends including many of the older school teachers, whom he taught when he was an instructor at the Provincial Normal School, and several former students who studied under him when he was a professor at the University of New Brunswick. He leaves several children, among whom is Professor Horace L. Brittain, at one time principal of Horton Academy, Wolfville (N. S.) and later superintendent of schools at Hyde Park (Mass.).

Dr. Brittain was an educationist of high standing, and he was an author of several articles and books on nature lessons. He was the eldest son of Thomas B. and Elizabeth Carson Brittain, and was born near Sussex on Nov. 22, 1849. His early education was privately conducted and he later attended the Provincial Normal School at Fredericton and took short courses at Cornell, Chicago and Columbia Universities. He was given the degree of Doctor of science by the University of New Brunswick in 1905.

For ten years Dr. Brittain was principal of the Superior school at Pettitcodine and for fourteen years he was instructor in natural science at the Provincial Normal School. From 1903

Hundreds killed By Tornado That Wrecked the City of Omaha, Nebraska

OMAHA, Neb., March 24—A tornado swept through Omaha shortly after six o'clock yesterday afternoon, cutting a path four to six blocks wide and eight miles long, causing an appalling loss of life and immense destruction of property. Hundreds of buildings were destroyed, and up to ten o'clock last night it appeared that at least a hundred had been killed and thrice that number injured.

The State troops have been ordered out by the Governor to preserve order and prevent looting. The Chicago, Burlington, and Quincy and the Rock Island lines are preparing special trains at Chicago to be sent to Omaha, bringing physicians and nurses.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 24—One hundred are dead, twice as many more were injured, some fatally, by a death-dealing tornado which devastated Omaha and its environs early night. It demoralized telegraph and telephone services, and cut Omaha off from communication with the outside world. Property damage will mount up into the hundred of thousands.

The tornado swept in from the southwest and zigzagged to the northeast over the residence portion of the city, leaving in its wake destruction and carnage from two to four blocks wide. Fire sprung up all over this area, and added to the horror of the twisted.

GREEN CASTLE, Ind., March 24—Perth a mining town ten miles west of here, was practically wiped out by a tornado last night. Many persons were injured. The property loss is estimated at $50,000.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 24—With a known death list of sixteen, reports brought by messengers on horseback from the south part of the Vigo county, early to-day, indicated that the toll of a tornado, which struck here last night would be increased to fifty. It may be several days before the exact number of dead will be known, as many are believed to be buried in the ruins of their homes. The property loss probably will exceed $500,000. In addition to destroying about 300 homes in the south portion of Terre Haute, Prairieon, a small town six miles south was destroyed and the intervening territory devastated.

The injured will number at least three hundred, many of these are in a serious condition. The hospitals are filled to their capacity.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 24—One person was killed and several are missing, many houses were unroofed, fires broke out in many parts of the city and hundreds of windows were smashed by the storm in Chicago, the worst part of which was felt in the city shortly after mid-night. At 2.30 a.m. every available fire apparatus in the north and west sides of the city had been called out to extinguish fires which broke out in the business blocks and dwellings partly wrecked by the storm. Reports of missing people who had either fled from fires, or were believed to have perished in the ruins, continued to pour into the police stations until late to-day.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 24—Ten persons are known to be dead, and it is believed that the limit will reach fifteen. The villages of Benson, Dundee and Florence, suburbs of Omaha, were practically wiped out. Only the fact that a heavy rain fell for half an hour after the tornado saved the mass of wreckage and many dead bodies from being burned. The Webster street telephone station containing a score or more girls, was one of the buildings struck by the storm. Several of the girls were killed and many others were injured. Mayor Dadman of Omaha, wired Governor Moorhead, shortly after mid-night, for several military companies to prevent the residence from being looted. The governor left on a special train for the scene of the disaster shortly after 3 o'clock.

Ralston, southwest of Omaha was razed and a half score or more are dead. East Omaha, which felt the tail of the twister, reported houses demolished but no lives lost.

At Yutou, about 35 miles northeast of here, the tornado which later did such havoc at Omaha, first began its destructive work.

George Driscoll

George Driscoll passed away Friday after a lingering illness. He was five years old and a bright young lad beloved by all who knew him. He was the son of Thomas Driscoll, who has the sympathy of the community in his bereavement.

The funeral took place Sunday from St. Gertrude's church.

Damage In Many Places By Floods.

March, 25—Up river reports to-day say it is raining heavily, but that the river is still falling. The ice is expected to go out before the end of the week. At Marysville between 70 and 75 feet of the Parington Company's dam has been washed away.

A Woodstock despatch says: It is raining to-day and the river and creek are rising. A party of men were at work yesterday trying to save the property and stock owned by Charles Faulkner and John Martin at Red Bridge, where the new bridge was injured by the fresh et. It is now resting on the ice, and it is thought that it can be propped up, the ice dynamited and the bridge partly saved.

It is thought the Andover bridge can be saved although one span went out last night. There is no heavy jam of ice on the river except at Hartland.

The C. P. R. have learned of the loss of a truss which was being placed in position for them at Perth Junction. The truss, which is in connection with the bridge there, toppled off into the river. As far as can be learned it was not damaged, and it is not anticipated that any difficulty will be experienced in raising it, and again placing it in position.

The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Damage By Flood

About 4 o'clock on Saturday mourning the flood swept down on the barn of Joseph Faulkner at Red Bridge and drowned two horses four cows hogs and a large number of hens. One horse, still alive, was hoisted up in safety to the loft. Mrs. Faulkner was absent at the time visiting in Houou.

The creek bridge at that point was considerably damaged, having been carried some distance and left on the ice.

Two Shocking Deaths.

The inquest on the remains of Angelo Spagnoli, aged 22 years, of Palombano Rome, and Romolo Rainaldi, aged 20 of Sabino, Rome, who were killed on the Scott & Kelly contract, Wednesday afternoon, was held on Thursday evening in the Council Chamber before Coroner J. A. Lindsay.

These young men, whose parents are alive in Italy, have been in this county some three years, but have only been working in this country a few months. Some 50 Italians attended the funeral which was held Thursday afternoon. After services in St. Gertrude's church by Rev. F. J. McMurray. The burial was in the Catholic cemetery.

The inquest was commenced at 8 o'clock p. m. before Coroner Lindsay and the following jury: John Atherton, Wallace Gibson, Wm. Balmain, Arthur Burpee, H. D. Stevens, James Carr and J. M. Woodforde. H. D. Stevens was elected foreman and after hearing the evidence of George Hillman the jury retired and later brought in a verdict of accidental death.
