The Military Ball

The Armoury was the scene of a brilliant assemblage on Friday evening when Lieut Col John R Tompkins, the officers and ex-officers of the Brighton Engineers, entertained their friends at an "At Home". Dancing and cards formed the amusement of the evening. The decorations of the Armoury were most artistic and presented a beautiful appearance, coloured lights added greatly to the effect. The four walls were banked with greenery. Flags and bunting were also used. The band stand was a bower of vines and flowers. The space set apart for the reception of guests was beautifully carpeted, and with pretty furniture, cut flowers and palms, proved a most desirable sitting out place later on in the evening. Mrs John R Tompkins was chaperone, and was gowned in black hand embroidered India silk over white silk, with corsage bouquet of crimson roses. Many beautiful gowns were worn by the ladies, and the officers of the different corps attended in uniform. Dainty refreshments were served at intermission. The music by the Woodstock Orchestra was very favorably commented upon and added very much to the enjoyment of the evening. Mrs Tompkins and the officers in charge are to be highly congratulated on the success of this function.

A number of the friends of Miss Georgie Balmain met at her home on Wednesday and gave her a tin and linen shower. Miss Balmain was taken completely by surprise, the arrangements for the evening having been made during her absence from home. When she arrived home she was taken into the drawing room and asked to sit down, when a small decorated express wagon was wheeled into the room loaded with parcels of all sizes. Much merriment was caused by the inscriptions on the cards attached to some of the parcels. Very dainty refreshments were served and a most enjoyable evening spent. The guests were: Mrs B Harry Smith, Mrs Geo E Balmain, Mrs Magill, Mrs JS Creighton, Mrs Arch Connell, Mrs NF Thorne, Mrs Donald Nicholson, Mrs Roy McLaughlan, Mrs Geo Gibson, Mrs E B Manzer, Mrs Loggie Ross, Mrs H W Lowney, Mrs Raymond Gabel, Misses Marguerite Lamb, Hattie Gabel, Lucy Phillips, Martha Phillips, Faye Camber, Jean Sprague, Alice Sprague, Mary Sprague, Grace Jones, Alice Neill, Caroline Munro, Cassie Hay, Helen Hand, Kathleen Hand, Marion Winslow, Tot Demming, Miss Dean, Abbie Montgomery, Bessie Bailey, Florence Dickinson, Mabel Lister, Viva McAfee, Beatrice Payson.
