How to Tell If Your Hair is Diseased

Even if you have a luxuriant head of hair, you may want to know whether it is in a healthy condition or not. 98 per cent of the people need a hair tonic.

Pull a hair out of your head, if the bulb at the end of the root is white and shrunken, it proves that the hair is diseased and requires prompt attention if its loss would be avoided. If the bulb is pink and full, the hair is healthy.

We want everyone whose hair requires treatment to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. We promise that it shall not cost anything if it does not give satisfactory results. It is designed to overcome dandruff, relieve scalp irritation, to stimulate the hair roots, tighten the hair already in the head, grow hair and overcome baldness.

It is because of what Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has done and our sincere faith in its goodness that we want you to try it at our risk. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store.—E. W. Mair.

Mrs. James E. Lynott

St. George N. B., Feb. 4—The death occurred at her home here yesterday of Mrs. Lynott, relict of Hor. James E. Lynott. Her death was very sudden, occurring after only two hours illness of paralysis. Mrs. Lynott is survived by three sons, Sylvester, of Woodstock, editor of the Carleton County Sentinel, Charles in the customs here and now hastening home from Winnipeg, and Wallace, at home. The funeral arrangements have not been completed and will depend on the arrival of Charles from the West.

A Mother's Praise of Baby's Own Tablets.

Mrs. Pierre Lambert, Papuetteville, Que., says: "I read in the papers of what Baby's Own Tablets were doing for other children so decided to try them for my baby who was suffering from constipation and stomach trouble. They worked like a charm and now I always keep them in the house and recommend them to all my friends." Baby's Own Tablets cure constipation and indigestion; they expel worms, break up colds and allay simple fever and make teething easy. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

T. W. Caldwell, Lower Greenfield, Agent for the Essex Fertilizer Co. of Boston" was in town this week on business.

Arch Connell has been confined to his home for a week with a severe cold

County Council

Coun. Montgomery asked as to the payment of poor masters.

Sec.—In some parishes they deduct so much and in others they are paid lump sums.

Coun. Bell—Who are the bondsmen for the Sec-treas?

The Secy. said he thought B. F. Smith was one and he did not recollect the other, but if the bond was on file in the record office, and if it was not satisfactory, it would be made so.

Coun. Lamont brought up the question of working the prisoners in the gaol. He thought some arrangement might be made with the town in this regard.

Sec.—In St. John they have some regulation about working the prisoners, but exactly the method I do not know.

Coun. Lamont moved that a committee be appointed to look up this matter, conferring with the town council, and report at the June session.

Coun. Phillips seconded the motion.

Coun. Brittain—I think the matter came up some time ago, and it was then the opinion that we ought to get special legislation. Motion carried.

The Warden appointed Coun. Lamont, Phillips and Stevens a committee for the above purpose.

Coun. Shaw moved, seconded by Coun. Williams, that the Scott Act Inspector's salary be fixed the same as last year. Carried.

Coun. Brittain moved that the recommendation of the committee be carried out.

Coun. Thompson seconded the motion.

Coun. Shaw—If we do away with the services of an attorney we squish the whole thing. The people with which we have to deal are not fools. They want to carry on that business. They would not conduct a defence without legal advice. We have to have legal advice. He could not support the resolution. Talk about deficit—the first thing, we would have litigation and we would not know where we are at.

Coun. Melville—The idea is not to be dispense with a lawyer's advice. We only refer to cases undefended. If defended, let a lawyer be employed, but only employ counsel when needed. We must get an inspector who could conduct some cases himself.

Coun. Thompson—I think that they could be carried on cheaper. There are constables up river, and magistrates up river, who could try cases.

Coun. Gallagher (Kent)—I agree with Coun. Shaw. I think the Inspector is getting little enough and the lawyer's fees are not at all excessive.

Coun. Phillips—I am not in favour of the resolution at all. The Scott Act violators employ the best attorneys, and the Inspector should have the same chance.

Coun. Brittain—I understood by the recommendation that the solicitor was not employed for every case, but the Inspector should have legal advice whenever needed. We only cut out the legal expense for undefended cases.

Coun. Shaw—Is there a trade between the Inspector and the attorney?

Secy.—The lawyer gets $5 for every information laid.

Coun. Shaw—In one case the attorney may have nothing to do but in other cases he might have a great deal to do.

Coun. Melville—As I understand it a defendant, may settle a case or cases and never go near court and the attorney gets $5 just the same.

Coun. King thought the bill of the attorney would be quite as large under any other arrangement as the present.

Coun. Estey—Under the present recommendation we would cut out the legal expenses altogether.

The Inspector was heard on the matter:

The Inspector—If you could stop defendants so they would not have lawyers, we might. It is pretty difficult under the law where it is illegal to send liquor into the country. I would sooner ten guilty men would get clear than one innocent man be found. I have a much better opinion of lawyers than I had twenty years ago. They seem to touch the merits of a case and prosecute and defend it that way. Also at present the railway is building and we need to be on the alert.

With regard to the Express Companies carrying liquor, Mr. Eranscombe said orders had been given not to ship but they thought that hard and they said they would leave the question with him, (the Inspector.) He replied he could do nothing but carry on the law. If I go talking much, or trying to make arrangements, I get into trouble. I make no promise or no threat.

Coun. Stevens—Could you make an arrangement with some lawyer to prosecute cases where they are defended but not cases undefended.

Inspector—A lawyer might feel where he did extra work that his services would be a good fee. It would be very difficult to say. There is more need for active work now than years ago.

Coun. Tompkins—In making out that report we did not mean to do without lawyer's services except in undefended cases. We consider this act has been in force for many years. The services of counsel was more needed years ago than now, where many cases go by default.

Coun. Williams—As one of the committee, we brought in that report to bring the matter before the Council. In our part of the county there is a great deal of dissatisfaction with the way the Act is worked. The fee of the lawyer, the magistrate, and Mr. Wolvorton, are enough almost to account for the deficit. The people say there is a ring that scoops in all the money from the rum-sellers. In the County of York it is found necessary to employ a lawyer in very few cases. The Inspector prosecutes most cases himself.

Coun. Melville—This trade with the solicitor was made 20 years ago, where about every case was fought now, very few cases are defended. There is no dissatisfaction with Mr. Jones—I believe he is conducting the cases in good shape. As to the argument that the lawyer's fees would be larger under the proposed change, the Inspector could be expected to see to it that the county got good service.

Coun. Phillips—I am not hard on the amendment altogether, I don't believe it will make any difference in the cost. I don't think there is much in the argument about York County, for the Act is very weakly enforced there as compared with this County.

Coun. Stevens—The conditions today and twenty years ago must be different. Now the Inspector has a great deal of experience and surely in many cases he can do without the expenses of a lawyer. In an ordinary case, where a number of charges are entered and the lawyer's get $5 for case, it seems very large. In Albert County the Inspector enforces the law without a lawyer and the Act is well carried out there.

Coun. Tracey—I did not understand where we made the recommendation we were to do away with a lawyer's service. We felt we were paying too much money to the lawyer and that this expense might be curtailed, a lawyer to be retained when necessary. The expense of the lawyer, the magistrate and the constable were excessive. We should have a lawyer when required but not when not required. The people are not satisfied. They are satisfied with the way the liquor is kept down but they think the work could be done for less money. I am in favor of trying some new plan even if it does not work out better than the old arrangement.

The amendment carried.

The report of the Scott Act committee was received and placed on file.

Council adjourned sine die.

Williamson Fisher

Mr. Williamson Fisher, after a week's illness from paralysis, died on Thursday a't noon, aged 65 years. He is survived by the widow, one sister Mrs. Robert Porter of Woodstock, and three sons Frank of Arazona Arthur medical student at McGill and Carleton at home

In the early days in Woodstock his father came from England and settled on a farm at Upper Woodstock. The deceased, when a young man entered the foundry of Small & Fisher, the latter being his brother. He studied law graduating in 1880, but did not practice his profession, going into partnership with his brother in the foundry business. He sat at the town council board for a few years and was clerk of the circuits for several years. Some five years ago he was appointed collector of customs in Woodstock on the retirement of Colonel F. H. J. Dibblee. He was a Methodist in religion, liberal in politics, and held official positions in the Masonic Lodge for many years. Mr. Fisher was held in high esteem for his kind and generous nature, for his more than ordinary intelligence, and for his personal worth and he will be much missed in the community in which he lived.

His funeral Monday afternoon was very largely attended. Services were conducted at the home by Rev. R. W. Weddall, at 2.30 p. m. and the burial took place under Masonic auspices, the following being the pall bearers; F. B. Carvell, W. P. Jones, J. A. Hayden, A. G. Bailey, W. E. Stone and W. S. Skillen.

Mrs. Thomas L. McCaffery

Very many friends in town and county will grieve to learn that Mrs. Thomas L. McCaffery departed from this life at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, after about a year's illness, aged 37 years and 4 months. She was born in Newburg, a daughter of the late Edward McDade, and resided there and in Woodstock all her life. She is survived by her sorrowing husband and four young children, Margerite, Agnes, Gertrude, and John, her mother Mrs. Edward McDade, now of Lowell, Mass., and two sisters Misses Jennie and Agnes McDade. The deceased was a most noble woman, prominent in charitable work and was a member of the Ladies' Auxiliary, A. O. H. The funeral took place Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Gertrude's church to the Catholic cemetery.

H. W. Scovill

H. W. Scovill of the firm of Scovill & Belyea, which dissolved partnership last week, died at 3 o'clock on Sunday morning, after some months illness of paralysis, aged 70 years. He is survived by a widow, one daughter Mrs. Robt. Briggs jr. of Lindsay, this county, and one son Fred W. Scovill in the Canadia West. He was a man highly respected, a Conservative in politics, and a native of Smith Town, Kings County, N. B., where he was born July 23, 1844. He came to Woodstock on May 15th., 1890, and worked as a carpenter in the summer, going to the lumber woods in the winter. In the fall of 1893 he went into the meat business with Charles Lee, later the firm known as Nevers, Lee & Scovill; then it was conducted under his own name, and finally H. M. Belyea was taken into partnership, and only last week Mr. Belyea purchased the business. On May 10th. 1912, Mr. Scovill was stricken with paralysis; he rallied somewhat and was able to be about, although speechless, until a week before his death.

Deceased has one brother John at Smith Town, and three sisters Mrs. Stackhouse of Bloomfield, Kings Co., and Margaret and Phoebe, living at the old homestead. The funeral was held Tuesday from his late residence, Connell street.

Miss Lou Smith, of Hartland, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Willard Carr.

Miss M. A. Jewett, who has been spending the winter with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hartt, of Houlton, Me., is the guest of Mrs. S. B. Appleby.

H. G. Noble, representing the Geo. E. Barbour Co., St. John, spent Sunday with his family.
