Bulgaria's Cabinet Inclined

To Be Bellicose

LONDON, June 5—Instead of making for peace, the new cabinet of Bulgaria may be more bellicose than the previous one, for late reports indicate Premier Guechoff resigned because of the irritation shown in military and political circles over his concessions to Greece and Serbia. Another disturbing feature is the growing indication that Roumania is backing Bulgaria and diplomats believe that Roumania has already offered to join with Bulgaria in case of war.

Greece and Bulgaria have agreed in principle to submit their conflicting claims to arbitration. Bulgaria desires to submit her claim to Saloniki to the six great powers, but Greece wants the triple entente, Great Britain, France and Russia, to settle the dispute.

A despatch to the Daily Telegraph from Bucharest says that the cabinets of all the Balkan states are preparing to resign, leaving the tangled affairs of the alliance in the hands of the new government.

PARIS, June 5—England and Germany are said to oppose the payment of a war indemnity by Turkey.

Sure Signs

Of Kidney Trouble

If your back is constantly aching and if you experience dull shooting pains, your kidneys are out of order. If your urine is thick and cloudy or your passages frequent scanty and painful, your kidneys and bladder are out of order. Neglect quickly brings on rheumatism, diabetes, lumbago sciatica and etc.

Mrs. John Wagner of 110 Hollis St., Halifax, N. S., says: "Dull shooting pains would catch me across the small part of my back and extend into my shoulders and neck, often causing me to suffer with severe headaches and spells of dizziness. Spots would dazzle before my eyes, and everything would turn black. I would fall to the floor and be unable to get up again without assistance. A friend told me of Booth's Kidney Pills and I began their use. The first box gave me relief and I am now well and strong."

Fight In England For Land Reform.

LONDON, June 2—Sir John Simon, at Oxford on Saturday, speaking on behalf of the Liberal party, formerly sounded the first clarion note in the battle for the land reform and rural. England is rejoicing at the uncompromising attitude which he announced for the Government on this question.

This, as Sir John said, will be the first time in the history of England that any real attempt has been made to satisfy the aspirations of the land-hungry poor.

That the fight for land reform will not be an easy one is evident. The landed interests are already drawing up their army for the fray, but the Liberals will enter the contest full of certain faith in the righteousness of their cause.

The organization of a great Trade Union for rural England, decided upon a few days ago, is to day supported by the Daily News, which says that without the power such an organization will be instrumental in giving the rural laborer cannot hope to succeed.

Cobden and Bright, the great apostles of free trade, always had in view, it says, such a crusade as the present one for breaking down the arbitrary restrictions on the land.

SARTOV, Russia, June 3—Two hundred houses were burned and thousands of families were made homeless by a landslide on the slopes of Mount Sokul today.

Cancer is Contagious, Says Dr. Otto Schmidt

Cologne, Germany, June 4.—Cancer has been proved to be a contagious disease, caused by a parasite, and it can be healed, according to Dr. Otto Schmidt, the cancer expert, who reported at yesterday's meeting of the medical society here, the results of his investigations into the origin of and the possibility of curing cancer.

Dr. Schmidt declared that he had proved through experiments and had confirmed his findings by means of repeated tests, that the disease was a contagious one brought about by the presence of a parasite, which he had discovered in cancerous growths. He said he had produced a vaccine with which he had healed numerous most serious cases of cancer. His treatment he says, brings about immunization against further attacks. The immunization is accomplished by a serum obtained from animals in the usual manner.

Dr. Schmidt requested the medical society to appoint a commission to test his processes and promised to place everything at the disposal of the commissioners.

The Welcome Apple.

The most common way of cooking apples is for sauce. Although there are several ways of preparing this, some people always make it the same way, with the consequence that the family soon tires of it.

One way is to pare, quarter, core and wash the apples, drop them into sufficient boiling water to about half cover them, cover closely and let boil rapidly till tender, watch carefully so they do not get too soft, move to back of stove, remove cover, add sugar to taste and let simmer slowly till transparent. Serve either warm or cold. For variety, a bit of lemon juice, nutmeg or cinnamon may be used at different times, or some quince or pineapple may be cooked with the apples or they may be cooked in some strawberry, raspberry or grape juice.

Baked Apples.

Baked apples are always relished. Core and place in a deep pan with some water and sugar; bake in a moderate oven, turning and basting often; the juice should become jelly-like. For variety sprinkle with cinnamon or nutmeg, add lemon juice or fill the cavities with chopped quince, pineapple or nuts, or for a change try this: Pour over the apples a little weak vinegar in which has been steeped cloves, allspice and cinnamon; add sugar to taste; cover closely and bake slowly a long time.

APPLE PIE.

Two large apples chopped fine, one cup of sugar, one egg, juice of one lemon; mix all together and bake with two crusts.

Scalloped apples are delicious when served with sugar and cream. Melt a heaping tablespoon of butter and add a cup of dry bread crumbs; let brown slightly, stirring frequently. Cover the bottom of a buttered pudding dish with some of the crumbs; add a layer of thinly sliced apples, sugar and spice to taste; add more crumbs and apples; last layer should be crumbs. Bake 30 or more minutes in a moderate oven; cover at first to keep crumbs from burning or browning too quickly.

"CUT YOUR WORK DOWN ONE THIRD"

A decrease of labour with no diminution of income, but with general improvement of results, is a combination which appeals to any one. Labour-saving machinery and thoroughly efficient machines might just as well be used by dairy farmers as by any manufacturer. So the questions come: Have we efficient cows? Do they save or make work? Are they so good that they decrease both comparatively and actually the necessary amount of labour in keeping cows, and at the same time increase the income? Every dairy farmer needs to answer such questions as applied to his herd, and he can answer them satisfactorily when he keeps dairy records.

A statement made by the Dairy Division, Ottawa, regarding Ontario cows last year, was that dairymen are keeping sixteen cows to do the work of ten. So it is quite possible to cut down work one-third, and rejoice because possessing more efficient cows. To the scrap-heap with the old junk!

A Quebec dairyman after one year of cow testing writes the Dairy Division that he now gets as much milk from his 32 selected cows as he used to get from his larger herd of 42 cows. Ten inefficient cows were beefed. Dairy farmers have not time to waste working for poor cows, so make sure that each one pays.

Practical Hints in Care of Horses

For the treatment of horses while in the stable the following regulations are suggested:—

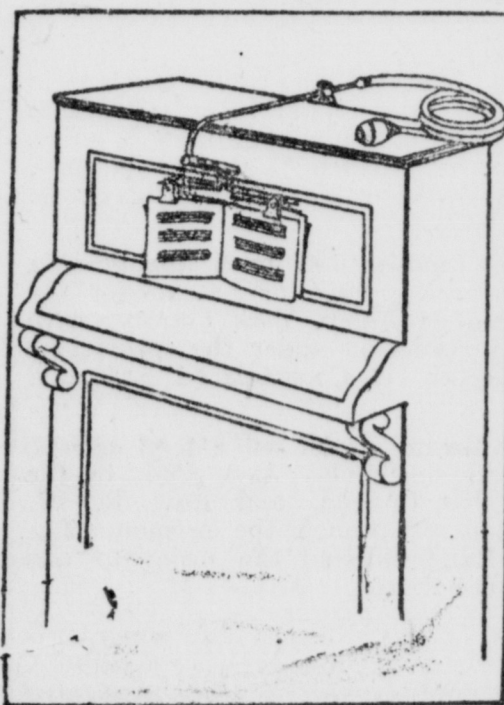

1. The best order of feeding is: Water, hay, water again, grain.
2. Never give grain to a tired horse. Let him rest and nibble hay for an hour or two first.
3. Water the horses as often as possible; but let the horse that comes in hot drink a few swallows only.
4. Always water the horse after he has eaten his hay at night. This is important not only for his comfort, but for his health.
5. Do not forget to salt the horse once a week; or, better yet, keep salt always before him.
6. Give a bran mash Saturday night or Sunday noon; and on Wednesday night also, if work is slack. After a long day in very cold or wet weather, a hot bran mash, half bran and half oats, with a tablespoonful of ginger, will do the horse good.
7. Keep a good, deep, dry bed under the horse while he is in the stable, day or night, on Sundays especially. The more he lies down, the longer his legs and feet will last.
8. In order to do well the horse must be kept warm. Give him a blanket on cool nights in late summer or early fall, and an extra blanket on an extra cold night in winter.
9. In cold rains do not tie up the horse's tail. The long tail prevents the water from running down the inside of his legs.
10. Take off the harness, collar and all, when the horse comes in to feed. He will rest better without it.
11. Never put a horse up dirty or muddy for the night. At least brush his legs and belly, and straighten his hair.
12. In hot weather, and in all weathers if the horse is hot, sponge his eyes, nose, dock, the harness marks, and the inside of his hind-quarters when he first come in.
13. When the horse comes in wet with rain, first scrape him, then blanket him, and rub his head, neck, loins and legs. If the weather is cold put on an extra blanket in 20 minutes. Change the wet blanket when the horse dries. Do not wash the legs. Rub them dry, or bandage loosely with thick bandages. It is far more important to have the legs warm and dry than clean.
14. Examine the horse's feet when he comes in, and wash them if he does not wear pads. If a horse in the city is not shod in front with pads, tar and oakum, which is the best way, it is absolutely necessary to keep his feet soft by packing them or by wrapping a wet piece of old blanket or carpet around the foot, or by applying some hoof dressing, inside and out, at least three times a week.
15. Speak gently to the horse, and do not yell at him. He is a gentleman by instinct, and should be treated as such. The stable is the horse's home, and it is your privilege to make it a happy one.

While city and country conditions are widely different, the proper care of a good horse is practically the same either in the city or on the farm, this being especially true of draft horses. These suggestions are, therefore, of great value to those farmers who love good horses and are anxious to give them the care they deserve.

SHEET MUSIC TURNER

Squeeze Bulb With Hand or Foot and Leaves of Book Turn

Any piano player will testify to the annoyance of having to turn a page of music in the midst of a difficult passage. In concerts it is necessary to have some one else do it—that is, it was necessary before a pianist devised the apparatus shown here. The music rack has a series of horizontal arms at the top, each arm with a clip on it, and each clip is made fast to the top of a page of the score. These arms are swung from right to left through the agency of a pneumatic cylinder, and the pressure in the cylinder is caused by squeezing the bulb at the end of a line of hose. This bulb can be placed on the floor near the player's foot, and he or she can press it without taking hands from the keyboard. Or it can be held by some one standing near and squeezed at the performer's nod. The page will be turned instantly, with no fumbling.

Church Union The Principal Topic.

TORONTO, June 6—The report of the committee on church union was introduced at the Presbyterian General Assembly early in this morning's session and promised to be the principal topic of debate during the day.

"The onus of proceeding to the consummation of organic union with these other churches or of preventing that act lies principally on our Presbyterian church inasmuch as the vote and action of the other two bodies plainly indicate their readiness to go forward to organize union," declared the report. An interesting feature was a minority report from the committee signed by eleven members recommending that the question of union remain in abeyance, "without prejudice to either side of the question."

Further consideration was also given this morning to the home mission reports, which were presented last night, and the report of the committee on aged and infirm ministers was also presented.

Following last night's great mass meeting on home missions, the question of foreign missions will be similarly dealt with this evening.

That Indian Plot Proved Very Serious.

CALCUTTA, June 6—The seditious plot, which was recently discovered at Paris, proves to have been more serious than at first supposed. Forty-four prominent Bengalese have been arrested. Much ammunition and important documents were found in a search by the police. The latter indicated that there was a plot for the Schemesedues, Gurkha, Mohratta and Purjabi troops to promote wholesale massacre of Europeans.

The minister of Marine and Fisheries has arranged to have an exhibit of fish products at the Toronto Fair this year. It is felt the fresh fish trade to Upper Canada is capable of more expansion and this means is being taken with the hope of accomplishing that result.
