W. B. HOWARD, D. P. A., C. P. R., ST. JOHN, N. B.

Mrs. Wm Pugsley

Mrs. Fannie J. Pugsley, wife of Hon. William Pugsley, former Minister of Public Works, died Monday morning at her residence, St. John, after an illness of several months duration. Mrs. Pugsley was a daughter of the late Mr. Thomas Parks of St. John, who died in 1875. Her marriage took place on January 6th., 1876. Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons, W. G. Pugsley of Montreal, and J. A. Pugsley of St. John; four sisters, Mrs. George Burpee of Vancouver; Mrs. Herbert Hall of Lloydminster; Mrs. D. A. Pugsley and Mrs. Henry Gilbert of Rothesay. Mrs. Pugsley was a woman of very estimable character and was greatly esteemed by all who knew her. The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon from her late residence, 17 Chipman Hill, at a quarter to three, to St. John's (Stone) Church, where services were held at three o'clock.

Held Back By Deadly Anaemia.

Thousands of Growing Girls Yearly Fall Into a Hopeless Decline

Anaemia — the doctor's name for bloodlessness—holds back many girls from the path to bright, healthy womanhood. At that all-important time when their veins should be full of rich, red blood, anaemia, creeping on them stealthily, robs them of sparkling eyes and a clear skin. They become languid and exhausted at the least exertion, their backs ache, their hearts palpitate violently, appetite fails, and their complexion changes to a pasty yellow, or they become deathly white. No medicine ever offered the public has bestowed such important benefits upon anaemic girls as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They build up the body anew by making the rich, red blood that gives splendid health, bright eyes, a clear complexion and womanly brightness. Here is an instance out of many recorded thousands. Miss Delina Arsenault, Urbainville, P. E. I., says: "I suffered from an attack of anaemia which my friends feared at one time would prove fatal. I grew thinner every day, had dark circles around my eyes, could not sleep well at night and got up in the morning feeling tired and depressed. I suffered severely from headaches and pains in the back and limbs. I had to leave school, and was unable to do any work around the house. I had no appetite and frequently vomited what I did eat. I was under a doctor's care for eight months, but was growing worse and worse, and was almost in despair, when a friend advised me to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. Anxious to get well, I decided to do so. After taking a few boxes I found a good improvement, and I continued taking the Pills until I had used nine boxes, when I was again enjoying perfect health, and I found, on weighing myself, that I had gained seventeen pounds. I have since enjoyed perfect health, for which I have to thank Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and strongly advise all ailing girls to give this medicine a fair trial."

Every girl afflicted with anamia, every woman who suffers from back aches and sideaches, and the other miseries that afflict her sex, can secure new health and strength through a fair use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

pathetic, service, believing that in losing he shall find it unto life eternal; he must sow his seed beside all waters. Like the ancient emperor of Rome whatever interests humanity must interest him. He must love with a soul consuming love; he must love his way into the heart of humanity, for only as he enters by this avenue will he find welcome and opportunity, to play the part of Elisha as a light and joy and life bringer.

As part of your equipment for service in God's world, to a pure heart add a heart of sympathy and love.

In the sphere of the Intellect, it may be taken for granted that there is much necessity for equipment here. "For lack of knowledge," said the prophet of long ago, "my people perish." Therefore to the equipment of a purified and broadened heart, there must be added an informed and educated head.

In this sphere, as in the others already noted, Elisha was well equipped. He was of the sons of the prophets: for years he had been a patient learner, an humble enquirer in the temple of Truth. A sound man and as strong physically as his occupation of plowman in his youth implies; a sound man morally and spiritually; of broad and kindly sympathies, as already set forth, he adds to this the crown of education and of the culture of the time. Without this we cannot be sure that he would have been the force in the life of his day that he proved to be. The servant of the Lord for our day must follow more or less closely in the footsteps of Elisha. There must be at the outset, as in his case, the recognition of the Divine; there must be equipment of the heart with respect to purifying and broadening the same; there must also be diligent, sedulous, patient and resolute cultivation of the highest of all human faculties—the mind. The broad and ever broadening field of science which to-day, more than ever, is being bent toward the healing, the comfort and the uplift of humanity; the conserving of national resources; the staying of plagues which have their genesis in ignorance of sanitary laws and practices; the healing of the world's wounds—the whole field of knowledge must be laid under tribute, and made to yield its part to the equipment of humanity for its God-imposed tasks. If knowledge be power, the converse is true, and ignorance is impotence. The Greeks taught that ignorance was vice; to this we must add that it is also criminal.

Therefore let us have our searchers of the skies; our seekers after the wonders locked up in the spec of earth; our master workers with pen and brush in high towers, on the dusty tomes of a distant age and bring forth from their retreats things new and old—let us have the student and the man of culture at the plow, delving in the mine, tunneling the mountains, spanning the rivers; yea, everywhere let the flaming torch of learning be passed—let there be light; the light of science for men's healing, the light of history for men's information, the light of art for men's delectation, the light of religion and the gospel of the Son of God for men's salvation. The man of true wisdom, of genuine learning, is an asset of enormous value to any land or country. Linked, as in the case of the hero prophet of our text to religion, the man of information is a veritable giant on the earth. Now, as in the days of Elisha, when all others fail, he comes and in the joint name of God and learning he purifies the contaminated waters of life, substitutes life for death, gives men beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness. God speed the schoolmaster of whom in the great words of Lord Brougham it is said:

"In his peaceful vacation he meditates and prepares in secret the plans which are to bless mankind. He slowly gathers around him those who are to further their execution. He quietly though firmly advances in his humble path, laboring steadily, but calmly, till he has opened to the light all the recesses of ignorance, and torn up by the roots the weeds of vice. Such men I have found laboring conscientiously, though perhaps obscurely, in their blessed vocation wherever I have gone. Their calling is high and holy, their fame is the property of the nations, their renown will fill the earth in after ages, even as it sounds not far off in our own times."

Again may we cry let there be light. Let there be no degrading of learning, no attempts at shaping it so as to render it always convertible into coin of the realm; let learning be left on her lofty throne, let the men and women of culture hold up their heads, recognize their value to society, their worth to civilization, and for its own sake, as well as for its inestimable value to humanity as illustrated in the case of Elisha, as an important and a vital part of equipment for life and service as well as a means to internal happiness and delight, in the language of Scripture, "Take fast hold of instruction; let her not go; keep her, for she is thy life.

Let the schoolmaster, in God's name, ON! Let there be light! Let those who would be the prophets and the prophetesses of today, having found the source of true power to be the eternal God, add to their power a pure and a sympathetic heart and to this an informed and an illuminated mind; or, in the terminology of Scripture, add to your faith virtue, and to virtue, knowledge.

And now, passing from the source of the Prophets power and from his twofold equipment of heart and of head, a further and a final consideration, namely,

THE PROPHET'S OBLIGATION

In connection with this phase of our subject we learn something by imagining for a moment, what would have befallen the stricken city of Jericho, had not Elisha appeared at the time of crisis. Think of the consequences to the entire land if this prophet of the Lord, with his power and equipment, had refused to play his part, had repudiated his God imposed, and sacred obligation to stay the plague. Locked up in a single man was the solution of the entire problem. To him in a marvellous and mysterious way had been committed the keys of life and of death. He, and he alone knew the city was at the mercy of the death-dealing, contaminated stream. All other arms were powerless. God had spoken to none other. He alone has the secret. Will he act, or fail to act? Will he recognize or repudiate the obligation imposed by his power, his superior advantages, his learning, and knowledge?

Elisha does not fail. He acts; and not as the men who discovered radium acted. He thinks not of riches, of making a deal with the distressed city; no, like many other modern college men, Elisha had not learned to turn all things to their financial advantage. The discoverers of radium, the new reputed cancer cure, are already millionaires many times over; Elisha was homeless until a single roomed abode was provided for him by a charitably disposed lady of Shunem. Verily the children of this world are wiser in their generation than the children of light!

But no on second thought we see Elisha to be the wise and rich man also. He makes no deal with the city fathers, but he makes a deal with all generations, he acts nobly, unselfishly, in recognizing and assuming the obligation on his culture and his position imposed. He takes his place among the shining immortals, he joins the ever invisible of those immortal dead who live again in lives made better by their presence.

CLOSING WORDS OF ADVICE.

We have not attained, but we are attaining. We still have far to advance. Into all the world, you, as the sons and daughters of the prophets, as members of the great and growing aristocracy of learning, must go, casting salt into the corrupted fountains of our civilization—may, flinging yourselves as the salt of the earth, as indeed the true prophet and servant of God and the race must invariably do; into the life of the world. In doing acceptably the great work to which you are called, you will need all of the prophet's faith; you will find it incumbent upon you—and I venture to predict that as the years push your college days back into "the dark backward and abyss of time," you will find it increasingly incumbent upon you to give a large place to the divine, to prayer, to dependence on the things which, though unseen, are alone eternal. You will find as the years discover to you some of the deeper things of life, and some of the more beautiful also, that closely bound up with the question of effectiveness for service in the world is a pure heart, an undulled conscience and unswerving name, and a fearless and unflinching faith, first in God, secondly in humanity, and lastly in yourself. Going in this spirit, which was and ever must be the spirit of the prophet, it is safe to predict that the Lord, turning your captivity like streams in the south, will pour out His spiritlike floods upon the dry ground; will through you, as in the past, work many mighty miracles, and thus continue to advance that coming age of gold for which good men pray and long, when, in the fullness of time, we shall in the language of St. Paul, "all come, in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man; unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ."

"And now unto Him who is able to keep you from falling, to present you faultless before the presence of His glory with exceeding joy, to the only wise God our Saviour, be glory and majesty, dominion and power, both now and ever."—Amen.

Charlotte Foster.

The death of Mrs. Charlotte Foster, wife of the late Joseph Foster, occurred at the home of her son, Delance, at Lansdowne, on Thursday, May 7th. Mrs. Foster was 90 years, one month and eight days ago. She lived in Lansdowne for over 60 years and was one of the early pioneers of that settlement.

Mrs. Foster, formerly Charlotte Tompkins, was born in Pee, N. B., March 27th., 1824. She lived in this vicinity until her 21st. year when she was united in marriage to Joseph Foster, of Fredericton. They lived in Fredericton two years when their eldest son, Delance, was born, after that they moved to East Florenceville, where four children were born, namely Charles, Almeade, John and Henrietta. Sixty years ago they moved to Lansdowne where their youngest son Lorenzo was born; there she lived until her death. About 30 years ago Mr. Foster left for the brighter world and since then she has lived with her eldest son, Delance on the homestead.

Fifty five years ago, Mrs. Foster professed religion under the services of Rev. Charles McMullin, who administered to her the rite of baptism. She afterwards became a member of the Baptist Church at Lansdowne and lived ever after an earnest, honest hearted, humble christian.

The funeral services took place at the United Baptist Church at Mount Pleasant, Sunday morning, Rev. P. J. Quigg was the officiating minister, as assisted by Rev. G. A. Giberson. The text was Prov. 14-13, Heb. 4-9. The pall bearers were her four sons. The undertaker was Mr. Adams, of Hartland. All the children were present at the funeral but one, Charles and Delance, of Lansdowne; John, of Mars Hill, Maine; Lorenzo, of Dowville; Mrs. Henrietta Flannigan, of Connell; Mrs. Almeade Clark, of Fort Fairfield, not being present. Interment was at the Mount Pleasant cemetery.
