BATH

April 13th 1914.

The crossing on the ice at this point of the St. John River has been discontinued, as the ice is breaking up, but the cold weather is causing it to hold from a general breaking and opening.

The Special services in the Primitive Baptist Church which have been going on for a few days past have been closed. The engaged clergy, Rev. C. H. Orser and Rev. Mr. Quigg have returned to their respective homes.

Rev. Mr. Amos preached both at morning and evening in the Baptist Church here, the usual services for Easter Season to large congregations at both services.

The community was very much shocked to hear of the death of one of Bath's oldest residents, which took place on Saturday evening—the death of John Kilfoil. Mr. Kilfoil took up his residence here about ten years ago, removing from Johnville to this Town, and having been one of the original settlers at the last named place. He was very highly respected and esteemed by all, who knew him and his family have the sympathy of the town, and too in the consideration of the accident and death of his son-in-law Thomas Sullivan whose tragic death also took place at the Kilfoil residence here a few hours previous to Mr. Kilfoil's. Mr. Sullivan fell in his barn at Johnville on Saturday morning last and from the injuries of such fall died at his father-in-law's residence here, where he was on his way to the Hospital in Woodstock. Seldom has there been a home so saddened in so short a time. Mr. Sullivan was well known and much respected here and in Johnville where his family resides who too have the entire sympathy of the Communities.

The young people and others met at the residence of H. E. Gray on Thursday last and presented them with suitable gifts and expressions of regret at their removal from Bath. Mr. and Mrs. Gray have resided in Bath for a number of years, and recently have sold the Hotel known as "The Tracy Hotel" to Dudley Day, who formerly conducted an Hotel at East Florenceville and who has been in business during the last year in Woodstock.

Bertram Campbell of the Provincial Normal School spent his holidays here, and also his sister, Augusta Campbell who teaches the Lower Windsor School.

Miss Ethel Simms also spent her holidays at her home here, and Miss Lella Giberson her's at Woodstock.

Miss Margaret Keenan teacher here, spent her holidays at her home in Johnville.

Mr. Frank McLardy of C. P. Ry Station at Hartland spent part of the holidays here—the guest of Mr. Wilbur Gray.

Mr. Dudley Day was the guest of S. W. Tompkins and family over Sabbath.

Easter Concert at Jacksville.

One of the most enjoyable church concerts was given in the United Baptist Church on Friday evening last. The program was interspersed with recitations choruses, exercises and tabulex, also solos and duets and was carried out in splendid order. A dialogue relating the consecration of Adoniram Judson and his brave wife was well acted and must leave a deep impression upon those who were present. The singing of Miss Hayward, Miss Watson Mrs. Riley, Messrs Estey and Margieson was well rendered. Miss Watson rendered a solo "Life Eternal" in her usual style and Miss Hayward's sweet voice was heard to good advantage in a ladies' chorus, where she took an obligato part with true, clear tones.

Miss Grace Everett played a familiar air with precision and expression upon the violin accompanied by her sister Miss Mary who played the autoharp.

Much credit is due the ladies who prepared such an interesting program and timely praise was given them by Rev. Mr. Seely. Rev. Mr. Ayers made a few remarks congratulating them upon their success. A good collection was taken.

J Harold Crawford

It was with feelings of sincere regret and sorrow that the relatives and friends of J. Harold Crawford learned of his death of typhoid fever, at his home on Broadway, Woodstock on Thursday, March 26, aged 28.

He had been ill for several weeks, but his condition was so far improved that, up to within a few days of his death, his friends had looked forward to a speedy recovery; but complications of the disease became manifest, and despite all that skill and loving care could accomplish, he succumbed to the renewed attack.

He leaves to mourn her sad loss, his wife, who was Miss Etta Kirkpatrick of Elmwood, and two young children. He is also survived by a widowed mother, two brothers Charlie and Archie, and two sisters, Misses Jessie and Mildred, all of Debec.

Generous to a fault, of a bright and genial disposition, deceased was a general favorite among a large circle of friends and acquaintances, among whom he will be greatly missed, and who now deeply sympathize with the bereaved family.

The burial took place on Saturday, March 28th., at the Methodist cemetery McKenzie Corner. Rev. Mr. Gould, assisted by Rev. Mr. Miller, conducted the funeral services. The pall bearers were Messrs. Burns Hemphill, Wm. Kennedy, Edwin Flemming and Thomas Patrick.
