Health For Baby.

To keep the baby healthy and strong his little stomach must be kept sweet and his bowels working regularly—that is the secret of health in little ones. The mother who keeps a supply of Baby's Own Tablets in the house can feel reasonably sure that her little ones are going to escape the results of childhood ailments, for the Tablets instantly relieve and cure such troubles as constipation, indigestion, colds, colic and worms by regulating the stomach and bowels. Concerning them Mrs. Jas. Deroche, Cache Bay, Ont., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for three years and have always found them the best remedy for little ones." They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville Ont.,

In the United Baptist Church, on Sunday, Jan. 4th., at the close of the Bible School, Mr. F. L. Atherton was presented with a handsome Mission Chair. The presentation was made by Mr. C. R. Watson. A banquet at the Carlisle Hotel was an important feature of the occasion and was a most enjoyable function. Landlord Thompson had complete arrangements made and every detail of the affair was carried out without a hitch. The table decorations were very striking—roses lilacs and carnations predominating. Wilson's orchestra furnished delightful music—the service was good, the waiters prompt and a spirit of fellowship and good-will prevailed the atmosphere.

Worshipful Master John A. Lindsay presided at the postprandial exercises. Speeches were made by F. G. Krowlton, G. M.; H. Crockett, G. D. C.; Brothers A. Rowan, G. E. Day, W. B. Wallace and Donald Munro. Harry Dunbar sang two songs that were received with great favor.

The report of the police magistrate was referred to the finance and audit committee.

The report in reference to Scott Act enforcement was referred to the police committee, to report Friday night.

In the matter of the gates at the King street crossing, a bill was presented for $27.00 due for April.

Coun. Jones asked if anything had been done in the way of finding out if the town had any redress from paying the amount stipulated by the railway commission. It was a heavy tax and had to be carried by the town for all time.

It was moved and carried that the Mayor and Council wait upon the County Council at their next session and ask that the county bear a share of the expense in keeping the gates at King street crossing.

A motion to give the Valley Railway Company a deed of the right-of-way across the poor farm was carried.

The following were appointed returning officers at the town election. District No. 1—Town Clerk Hartley, Substitute, S. L. Lynott.

Coun. Lindsay reported for the Scott Act committee. During the year 71 informations were laid; 24 convictions; 47 cases dismissed. The book-keeping in connection with Scott Act matters was explained by Mayor Jones. The total collected during the year was $950. The expenditure during the year was considerably more than that amount, probably about $250. more.

Voted that the salaries falling due be ordered paid.

Moved by Couns. Jones and Burden and passed that T. C. L. Ketchum be paid $150 for 100 copies of the revised by-laws. Coun. Gallagher voted nay.

Mayor Jones said that he must express his pleasure at the relations that have existed between the councillors and himself during the past year and hoped that they would all be back again in 1914, for himself he felt that he would like to represent the town again as mayor if the people could see their way clear to re-elect him. He would go into the matter more fully at the public meeting to be held this (Monday) evening.

Moved by Couns. Jones and Burden and passed that Coun. Gallagher call upon the secretary of the school board and ask for the payment of $225 owed the street department by the school board.

Before adjourning the mayor invited the councillors, officials and reporters to a banquet at the Royal Cafe.

Voted to adjourn sine die.

BANQUET BY MAYOR JONES.

The mayor's banquet on Friday night, at the Royal Cafe, was one of the most enjoyable functions of the year.

After the many good things had been disposed of, cigars were lighted and a round of speeches followed.

The chairman was Coun. J. T. A. Dibblee. Besides representing the people of his native county in the Local Legislature for several years, he has been mayor of the town at different times and councillor at intervals on many occasions since his first election to the board at the age of 25 years. He is now retiring, feeling that the people have sufficiently honored him by repeatedly electing him at the head of the poll, but he said he would always take a warm interest in the town in which he was born, where he expected to live all his life and where he expected to be buried. In proposing a toast to the mayor, he spoke of the rare abilities possessed by that gentleman that make him an ideal mayor and prophesied his re-election by acclamation.

Mayor Jones, in reply, thanked the chairman for the kind remarks and the councillors for the uniform kindness showed him during the past year. He was so pleased with his term of office that he was again allowing his name to go before the rate-payers for re-election. He felt it an honor to represent the town as mayor, a town where poverty cannot be said to exist. He complimented the councillors and the town officials for the splendid work accomplished during the past year and was sure that a bright future was in store for Woodstock.

J. C. Hartley, in replying to the toast of "the clerk," proposed by the chairman, said that next September he would hold the position for 25 years, and although the remuneration was not as large as towns of the same population were paying, he would feel lost if he ceased to be the clerk. He gave reminiscences of the early council boards when the sessions ended only by the lamps going out through the want of kerosene, and contrasted those times with the business like administration of recent council boards.

The next toast was to the council board, proposed by the mayor, and which contained three ex-mayors, Couns Dibblee, Lindsay and Jones, who did not feel that their dignity was hurt by sitting under the present mayor.

Coun J. T. A. Dibblee told of the early days of the board, some 30 years ago, and announced that he would not again be a candidate. He had given the best in him for many years and owing to his health he did not come up town in the evenings as frequently as formerly.

Coun Burden, as the younger member of the board, expressed his pleasure at his relations with the members of the board, and had hoped that all the present councillors would allow their names to go before the people for re-election.

Coun Lindsay had been honored frequently by the electors as their representative at the council and in the chair and he was willing to again be a candidate and if elected he would give his best talents for the benefit of his native town.

Coun Gallagher had given his best efforts to the town during the past year, and if there is or is not a contest he would be again a candidate for the last time. He had not quite completed his work on permanent streets and he would like to be allowed to finish the road from the C. P. R. station to Dickirson's tannery, as well as Connell street.

Coun Jones had been the choice of the people for mayor and at the council board on several occasions. He would again be a candidate but he would rather not contest an election. He enjoyed the meetings at the board and was glad that Mayor Jones would be a candidate for re-election.

Coun. Balmain said he had been at the board for two years and would not again seek re-election. He had been a member of the County Council for some years, and on the whole, the electors had used him kindly. As chairman of the finance committee he had done the best he could to collect taxes and the town in that line had made a fairly good showing during the past year. He complimented the officials of the town, particularly the clerk, and was sorry to announce his withdrawal from town politics for the present.

The toasts to "The Town Officials," brought a speech from the chief of police, Owen Kelly, the proposer stating that it would be almost impossible to get a better man, while the newspaper
