$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

New Anesthetic Won't Cause Heart Failure

LONDON, March 24.—A new anesthetic, called urethane, is being experimented with in the Cambridge Laboratory, which, it is asserted, never causes heart failure.

It is made by combining urea with alcohol and it is administered hypodermically. In the case of dogs it has been found that the animal becomes drowsy and passes into a state of very deep unconsciousness. Insensibility to pain is complete, enabling any operation to be carried out with perfect security, the animal remaining insensible some hours, then gradually regaining consciousness.

The majority of deaths under chloroform result from heart failure, but urethane, properly administered, is said to never cause it. Even if an overdose should be given, the result would be death, not from heart trouble but from failure of breathing. The fact that the breathing becomes affected before the heart does is additional security.

There is no choking sensation with urethane and its use is not followed by sickness, which is a very important consideration in surgical cases.

The period of insensibility, which has not yet been reduced below six hours, is a disadvantage which may outweigh the advantages of urethane.

Frank Tannenbaum, who recently led between two and three hundred homeless men into New York churches, was placed on trial on Tuesday, charged with participating in an unlawful assemblage, a misdemeanor.

An organized campaign to wipe out illicit traffic in habit forming drugs was launched at Chicago under the supervision of Frederick H. Robinson, president of the sociological fund of a New York medical journal. Mr. Robinson announced the campaign is being financed by Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt sr., Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont and others who are conducting a similar campaign in New York.

Catarrh Cured By Breathing

You breathe in Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) and inhale the antiseptic vaporized life of the pine and eucalyptol forests. As you breathe in this delightful air it passes over the inflamed and germ-ridden membrane, allays inflammation, kills the germs and drives out the disease.

Druggist E. W. Mair sells Hyomei and guarantees it for catarrh, coughs, bronchitis, asthma and croup. A complete outfit includes hard rubber inhaler, and costs you $1.00. Extra bottles of Hyomei costs but 50c. By mail post-paid 50c. and $1.00 from The Booth Co. Limited, Fort Erie, Ont. Remember Hyomei is guaranteed or the money back if it fails you.

British Liberals Indignant Over Army Officers' Episode.

LONDON, March 24.—The dissolution of the British Parliament has been hastened by the event of the last few days and by the surrender of the government to the officers of the army, who declined to serve against the Ulster men, according to the opinion generally expressed to-day in political circles.

The Irish Nationalists, it is pointed out, will not accept home rule with Ulster permanently excluded, while the government has found it impossible to compel Ulster to come under a Dublin parliament. It is argued that the only way out of the difficulty is to hold a general election, and none would be surprised if the government, during the second reading of the Home Rule Bill, next week, should offer to dissolve Parliament on condition that the Home Rule and the Welsh Disestablishment and Plural Voting Bills be passed.

The dissatisfaction of the rank and file of the Liberals with the government's treatment of the army officers is another factor which is likely to hasten a general election. Many radicals would like to join forces with the Labor members and made an appeal to the country on the refusal of officers to act against the Ulstermen, compared with their readiness to act against striking workmen.

The provincial Liberal papers, as usual, are even more outspoken on the subject of the government's surrender to the officers than are their London contemporaries. The Manchester Guardian says it is with the deepest regret and some shame it has heard of Premier Asquith's even partial acceptance of the doctrine that officers have the right to lay down for themselves the condition under which they will continue to serve the King. It continues:—

"They are so treated because they are rich men and because they had the prejudices of their class. Not only, then, is there one law for the rich man in the army and one for the poor, but there is one standard for the Tory officer's loyalty to his oath and another standard for the private soldier with sympathies for the laboringman."

Similar comments appear in the Liverpool Post, also a strong Liberal paper. The Times confirm the announcement that General Gough has resumed his post and declares that it can vouch for the absolute accuracy of Bonar Law's version of General Paget's statements to the officers adding:—

"The truth seems to be that the frank soldier artlessly blurted out the whole project to his brigadiers, instead of deftly disguising the government's real intentions."

BELFAST, March 24.—Sir Edward Carson, commenting on the parliamentary debate, said last night:—"Hour by hour I am becoming more impressed with the government's message of peace to Ulster."

Sir Edward received a suffragette deputation, and informed the women that he was unable to ask for any special treatment for the women of Ulster, as he had never approved of the suffragist movement.

LONDON, March 24.—A virtual suspension of the military preparations in and on the borders of Ulster Province, by both the crown and the anti-home rule forces to-day, acted as a reflex to concentrate the national attention upon the next move of the Government in the Irish crisis.

According to the believe prevalent in many quarters, King George has assumed a role of activity and authority in the present situation unknown in the limited monarchy for many decades. From this same source, it was reported that the King has placed the following programme before the cabinet for the conciliation of all the factions in Ireland;

1.—That Ulster country be given additional six years, making twelve in all, during which they might be excluded from the operations of the Home Rule Bill.

2.—That all the army officers who resigned when civil war in Ulster seemed inevitable, be taken back without loss of merit.

Unionist newspaper boasted to-day that the present outcome of the clash over home rule has resulted in a victory for the British army.

There was a conference of the cabinet ministers in Downing Street at noon, when the Irish situation was canvassed at length. It was subsequently reported that the troops which were rushed to the borders of Ulster, will soon be ordered back to their original stations.

GLASGOW, March, 23.—In an interview, on Saturday, Mr. Devlin said: "The Unionists are playing a game of bluff, and the whole thing is a gigantic piece of theatrical make-believe. There has never been a greater masquerade, sham or fraud than the talk about civil war. The whole propaganda is engineered with money sent by the Tories in Britain."

BELFAST, March 24.—"We believe we have won a great victory and it is evident that the Liberal Government has lost prestige with the people because of the admission of Premier Asquith that a blunder has been made."

This brief statement was made here to-day by Sir Edward Carson, who held a number of conferences with his followers at Craigavon and at Ulster Hall. He was also in telegraphic communication with A. Bonar Law.

Sir Edward and his followers will now mark time, until the Government makes another move. They believe Mr. Asquith will announce further concessions to the Protestants of the North of Ireland and there is every likelihood that they will be accepted.

LONDON, March 24.—"What about the strikers?" was the shout with which the Labor members in the Commons to-day tried to down Mr. Bonar Law's defence of the rights of the officers to refuse to obey orders against their consciences.

Conferences of high officers with the King continued on Monday.

At the Carleton Club, which is a Conservative stronghold, it was asserted that the First Lord of the Admiralty on Friday ordered the third-battalion squadron to Belfast with the object of landing marines, and that Admiral Bailey replied that the squadron was not fit to go to sea.

LONDON, March 21.—George N. Barnes, M. P., one of the best known labor leaders in this country, says: "The country has made up its mind that there must be a definite decision on Home Rule, and Home Rule must come. The opinion of London is not the opinion of the county. From what you hear in London you might suppose the people do not want Home Rule, but this is not so. In the country the people are prepared to give Ireland Home rule. I see no great significance in the resignations."

"Phillip Snowden, M. P., said: "If the statement in the papers about the resignations of officers with the assurance from the Unionists that they will be reinstated if the Unionists return to power, are true, then we have a revolution to defeat the democratic government. The leader party will certainly support any action which treats these men as rebels."

LONDON, March 24.—"There certainly will be no dissolution of Parliament until the Home Rule Bill for Ireland has been passed."

This statement was made to the Associated Press to-day by John E. Redmond. Mr. Redmond added that the second reading of the bill would be taken up by the House of Commons on March 30, and that the bill would be proceeded with until it became law.

Col. John Seeley to-day promised in the House of Commons that he would to-morrow lay on the table all the material and written documents which he said would clear up the whole mystery of the recent crisis among the officers of the army in Ireland. He gave his promise when he was asked by a member to confirm or deny the statement that a written assurance had been given to Brigadier General Hubert Gough that the troops would not be used to force home rule upon Ulster.

The inquiry into the death of the Scotsman, Benton, five weeks ago in Juarez, directed by the British Foreign Office, has been concluded. The testimony makes it appear that Benton was unarmed when he entered Juarez and sought Villa's headquarters, that he entered Villa's office, that there was a tremendous scuffle, followed by perfect quiet. No witness could be found who heard the sound of a shot. Benton did not emerge from that office alive, but where and when his body was removed the report does not disclose.

Cornea Of A Pig's Eye Taken Off

Baltimore, Md., March 24.—What is believed to be the first operation of its kind in this country was performed yesterday at a local hospital, when the cornea of a pig's eye was taken off and grafted on the sightless eye of a three months' old boy. In the operation the pig was chloroformed, the eyeball taken out and the cornea cut from it. An extraordinarily fine needle and fine silk thread were used in putting the cornea in place, until it has grown to the child's eyeball. The eye will remain bandaged for about a week.

A Pottsville, Pa., Friday the earth opened and swallowed two miners and a work shanty on the mountain-side at the Kepley Run Colliery at Shenandoah to day, and although large forces of men have been put to work both inside the mines and at the surface, no trace of the men or building can be found. They may have been dropped a distance of 500 feet or any portion of it, and it may require weeks to learn their fate. A third man working near the shanty at the time saved himself by grasping a steam pipe and hanging on until help arrived.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS IN UNITED STATES.

At the end of December ten and a half per cent. of the workers in Massachusetts were classed in "unemployed." The percentage of unemployed the year before was less, only 9.1, but in 1908, following the panic of 1907, it was 13.9 per cent. The present position does not, therefore, indicate any serious danger in the American business situation.
