KILBURN

On Aug. 13th, about fifty of the relatives and friends of Mrs. George Morehouse were enjoyably entertained at a party to celebrate her eighty-sixth birthday. The invitations were issued by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Morehouse and the party which was held at their house was a complete surprise to Mrs. Morehouse. A willow-rocker and other gifts were presented to Mrs. Morehouse. After the presentation a bountiful supper was served.

Miss Clara Griffiths, trained nurse, came from Cambridge, Mass., last week and is visiting her parents.

The Methodists and United Baptists are to hold a union picnic here on Thursday next which will be in the interest of their respective Sunday Schools.

KEEP CHILDREN WELL DURING HOT WEATHER

Every mother knows how fatal the hot summer months are to small children. Cholera infantum, diarrhoea, dysentery and stomach troubles are rife at this time and often a precious little life is lost after only a few hours illness. The mother who keeps Baby's Own Tablets in the house feels safe. The occasional use of the Tablets prevent stomach and bowel troubles or if the trouble comes suddenly—as it generally does—the Tablets will bring baby safely through. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Grand Lodge Of Oddfellows

The fifty-seventh annual session of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of the Maritime Provinces of Canada, which includes Newfoundland, was opened Wednesday in usual form by Grand Master Charles E. Cruikshank of New Glasgow, Nova Scotia. After Grand Chaplain Field invoked the divine blessing the Deputy Grand Master was ordered to declare the Grand Lodge open for all lawful business that may be brought before it. A very large number of delegates were instructed into the Grand Lodge degree. The Grand Master in his address said:

As members of the Triple Links, we have gathered together for the purpose of transacting the business of the fifty-seventh annual session of this Grand Lodge. On this important occasion, opportunity presents itself to indulge in brotherly greeting, fraternal handshakes with each other, renewing old friendships, and creating new ones. Many of the members of this Grand Lodge, have taken an active part each year, for over a quarter of a century, some of them are with us today. Others their familiar faces are missed, detained no doubt by various reasons, but though absent in the flesh, I feel assured they are with us in spirit and will follow our deliberations with interest. To the representatives, meeting with us for the first time, I extend to all a hearty and fraternal welcome, and trust that your initial experience in this Grand Lodge will prove beneficial and interesting and that you will look forward to our next annual session with the same intense interest that infects all the active members of this Grand Lodge.

For the second time in the history of this Grand Lodge, we are meeting in this beautiful town. I have every reason to believe that all our deliberations will be harmoniously conducted, that every representative will do his part toward making this meeting a banner one in the history of this Grand Lodge. And when we depart for our respective homes may we carry away many fond recollections of our sojourn here.

In speaking of the state of the order, the Grand Master said, while the growth of new lodges during the year was lower than the previous year, we have had a very good one, and more especially in the Rebekah branch. Many of the subordinate lodges have made substantial gains. He felt confident that two more new lodges would be instituted in Newfoundland this fall; he felt safe in reporting the order increasing in strength throughout this jurisdiction, all the lodges in healthy condition with one or two exceptions and these will come to their own in time, from reports of the District Deputy Grand Masters, to hand, our year's work looks good and will bear comparison with the efforts of previous years.

The Grand Master spoke of the visits he made to the different lodges in the Maritime Provinces and spoke especially of the order in Newfoundland where he was presented with an address and entertained by a banquet. Every place he visited he found much interest in the order.

In closing, the Grand Master said: "Brothers, in surrendering my collar and relinquishing the duties of this important office, I can only thank you for the honor you have conferred on me, and during the year that has gone, have endeavored to the best of my ability to carry out your instructions honestly. I have given the best that I possessed to perform the duties allotted to me to the best interests of our beloved order. In closing I take this opportunity to thank the District Deputies and other members of this Grand Lodge for assistance rendered, and especially to our Grand Secretary. I am deeply indebted to Brother McKinnon for very many favors, as they were given in true fraternal spirit, I can only repay him with thanks."

J. J. McKinnon, Grand Secretary, in his report to June 30, 1914, stated that 118 lodges in the jurisdiction, with a total membership of 11,373, a net increase for the year of 421. During the year 132 withdrew by card, and 96 died. The total benefits paid were $18,722.68.

Beekeeping.

Hartland Aug. 15

H. B. Durost of the Department of Agriculture, Instructor in Beekeeping, was in this place today, having just completed a visit to the Beekeepers of this section. He reports finding upwards of five hundred colonies of bees within a radius of ten miles of this place—enough bees, he says, if they were in up-to-date hives and up-to-date methods applied, to produce ten or twelve tons of honey.

Next week he goes to St. John to complete arrangements for the convention of the N. B. Beekeepers Association. This Association will hold its annual convention in the Government rooms on Prince William Street on September 10th. It is to be hoped that every member of this Association, which now numbers 36, will feel it his duty to attend these meetings.

The Boys For The Front.

The promptitude with which the ladies of the Town completed arrangements for a suitable send-off for the soldiers, is altogether commendable. There was only from Friday evening last week to last night to talk over and carry out the programme, and everything was done thoroughly and unanimously plainly showing how much willing workers can do in a short time, when occasion requires.

There is no reason to be ashamed of the contribution of soldiers from this county. In the numbers and in the personnel the contingent is satisfactory. It must be remembered that it is only two weeks since this war was started. In some other centres there has been a good deal of loud talk and a considerable flourish of trumpets, but good silent work has been done by the military in this county.

All honor is due to the men who have enlisted. The militia is not a force for foreign service, and those who decide to go to the battle fields of Europe go as volunteers. And is not one volunteer worth many conscription men?

It is the firm intention of the people of Canada that the relatives of those who go to the front, will not suffer, in material support during their absence. This is made plain by the Dominion Government and by the intentions of citizens who are everywhere forming themselves into relief committees. Carleton County will not be in the background. It is a wealthy county largely made up of well-to-do farmers. Unless the unforeseen occurs and something disastrous should happen to the allied fleets, the scene of war is hardly likely to extend to Canadian soil. Unless this happens the farmers will not suffer by the war. Indeed they stand to gain, for farm produce will undoubtedly raise in price. Then it is only fitting that a county made up of such constituent should be only too willing to tax itself, well, if need be for the support of those who are representing it at the places of fighting.

It will be a very small sacrifice, but deemed, and should be cheerfully undertaken.

Parliament.

Parliament may be expected to do the right thing, and for once the bitterness of partyism may not be to the forefront.

What will be done in the way of legislation in view of the extraordinary circumstances, will be done, we may be assured, without a dissenting voice.

It is not time to talk of what might have been. Where two parties differ on a certain policy, one is bound to be nearer right than the other.

A lesson we may well take to heart, and trusting that this fearful war may result in the triumph of right, we may do well to look into the question whether partyism in the past has not gone beyond all bounds. An agreement should be reached between the parties as to a policy connected with the defence of the country. The British constitution has been built on compromise, and where the two parties differ some compromise arrangement should be arrived at. Even from this war, good may then arise.

Our political parties must henceforth remember that they will be judged far more severely in the future than in the past. Canada has never passed through a crisis such as she faces today.

When she emerges from this crisis safely—as we pray God she may—the politicians will be held close to the mark, and "country first" will be the motto that must be rigidly adhered to.

We were almost threatened with "kaiserism" so hide bound had partyism become.

We trust the kaiser will soon be a power of the past, and party "kaiserism" must also be put down.

Hartley-King.

A nuptial event of interest to many friends was solemnized on Wednesday afternoon Aug 12 in St. Stephen, N. B., when Miss Elsie Blanche King of London, Ont., became the bride of Ralph Perley Hartley, of Woodstock, N. B. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. B. Wylie, of St. Stephen's Presbyterian church, at the home of the bride's aunt, Miss Emma Robinson, which was prettily decorated with flowers and potted plants.

The bride was becomingly attired in ivory satin with seed pearls, oriental lace, and rose point. She wore an embroidered French imported veil, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. She was given in marriage by her father. The bridesmaid was Miss Edna Patterson, cousin of the bride, who wore a pretty yellow satin creation with shadow lace, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. Wm. W. Titus of St. John, was best man. Miss Elva Nicholson presided at the organ, and played at the commencement of the ceremony, Lohengrin's wedding march and at the close Mendelssohn's. A large number of invited guests were present and enjoyed a reception and luncheon after the ceremony.

Costly and valuable wedding remembrances were received. The groom's gift to his bride was a purse of gold, to the bridesmaid, a cameo ring, to the groomsmen a gold signet ring, and to the organist a sterling silver case, with monogram. Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Hartley left in the private car "Rosemere," placed at their disposal by H. C. Groat, Atlantic superintendent of the C. P. R. St. John, attached to the evening express, for a camping out trip on Skiff Lake. The bride wore an attractive travelling costume of brown with white coat and white hat. After their return Mr. and Mrs. Hartley will reside in Woodstock, where the groom is a promising young barrister. The best wishes of a large number of friends will be offered for their future happiness.

Both young people are well known about New Brunswick. Miss King, who is a daughter of Robert King, divisional superintendent of the C. P. R. in London, Ont. is a graduate of Mount Allison University, while Mr. Hartley is a son of J. C. Hartley, K. C. of Woodstock, and is also a Mount Allison graduate. He is also a graduate of the St. John Law School.

Mrs. Herbert Lindsay and son, returned on Saturday from a week's visit with relatives in Rockland.
