Biggar-Lingley

"Hillside Home," the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Leander Lingley, Westfield Beach, N. B., was the scene of a very interesting event at 6.30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, July 8th, when their youngest daughter, Grace, was united in marriage to Herbert Harris Biggar, B. A., of Montreal. Rev. Craig W. Nichols, rector of the St. James Episcopal Church performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate relatives of both parties. The wedding was of a quiet nature owing to the recent bereavement in the bride's family.

The bride looked charming in a gown of white ninon, with tunic of shadow lace and carried a bouquet of cream roses. She wore a necklace of peridots and pearls, the gift of the groom.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Biggar motored to St. John and left on the Halifax train for a trip through Nova Scotia. After spending the summer in New Brunswick, they will go to Montreal to reside.

Mrs. Biggar has been a valued member of the choir of St. James Episcopal Church and will be much missed in the community, particularly in church work and philanthropic duties in which she was always an enthusiastic worker. Mr. Biggar, who is a graduate of Mt. Allison, is principal of the Earl Grey School, Montreal. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Biggar, of Mt. Heron.

Many friends at home and abroad will join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Biggar every happiness.—King's County Record.

KIRKLAND

The weather is quite cool at present and quite a hail and thunderstorm passed over here July 22nd., doing considerable damage to the crops.

The men have started haying in this section.

Quite a number attended the circus in Woodstock July 23rd.

Miss Evelyn Friel from Boston and her niece and nephew Dorothy Hughes and Arthur Greeley, are visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Friel, of Monument Settlement.

Miss Ida Mushroo, who has been stopping at Easton, Maine, and has been visiting relatives in Monument Settlement has returned to Easton, again.

Miss Julia Mack, District nurse from Lowell, has been visiting her father Cornelius Mack, of Maxwell.

Quite a number of ripe raspberries have been found in this section.

Lewis Mushroo, of Monument Settlement is building a fine new black smith shop near his residence and expects to do first class work.

George McNerlin and family, of the Mills, have bought and moved to a farm near the Temperance Hall, Maxwell.

Gideon Demerchant and family have bought the house formerly occupied by William Mallman, Black Smith and moved in it.

The potato bugs are quite plentiful but the people are spraying for them.

Warehouses Burnt.

About 1.30 o'clock on Wednesday morning a serious fire broke out which destroyed two warehouses.

One of the buildings was owned by H Drysdale in which was a large quantity of hay. The other was owned by W. F. Dibblee & Son and contained a carload of cement, iron pipes, steel shafting, bricks, powder, dynamite, etc., all of which was destroyed. There was little wind blowing and the firemen were able to save the adjoining buildings. Hundreds of tramps are in the neighborhood of the town owing to the holding up of railway work north of Centreville and it is thought that the fire was accidentally set by them.

Some hay stored in the Drysdale building was burned but the most serious loss was sustained by W. F. Dibblee & Son who had their warehouse full of heavy hardware, which was almost totally destroyed. The loss to this firm will amount to about nine thousand dollars. There is insurance of $4000.

The Fifth George.

King George, by the Grace of God, seemed, at first to have got himself into a peck of trouble, not long since, and all because he tried to get the Irish question settled peaceably. He made some reference to the danger of civil war, and the newspapers, which have been having scare lines about the self same danger, for the past years, rebuke His Majesty for saying such a nasty word. Well, it is a good thing to have a king who will call a spade a spade. And why should the king be so severely handled, because he wants to get his subjects to settle their differences and live in peace one with another. Like the Hebrew psalmist of old, he may say, "when I spake of peace they make themselves ready for battle."

The king shouldn't interfere, say the critics. It is his business to sit tight on the job and say nothing—just smile and look pleasant, but surely in great crises, he should be permitted to exercise his influence for peace. Else do away with king-ship at once, and become a glorious republic where all men are free and equal—in theory.

However they say the king, while he has not pleased the fighting gentlemen and the politicians has made himself popular with the mass of the sober minded people, and that is probably all that he cares for.

One journal compared the fifth George with the third George? What a fool comparison? Had the third George laboured for peace when there was the trouble with the New England colonies over a century and a quarter ago, the British Empire might have been even mightier than it is, and statues of his might have been in the chief cities of the United States.

People should read the history of the four Georges by Thackeray, and they would appreciate the present king by contrast.

It is hardly fair to ask him to be a dummy.

Arthur W. Penna Took His Own Life

St. Stephen, July 20.—The shocking death of Arthur W. Penna, a young man who was widely known and generally liked, has saddened the people of the border towns. He had returned from his vacation apparently in good health and spirits, and was expected at his place or business in the employ of the J. W. Scovil Company this morning. Not appearing, a search was made for him and he was found in bed with a bullet wound in his head and the empty pistol beside him.

When last seen alive, about midnight, there was nothing unusual in his manner, but it is thought that he had never fully recovered from the effect of a serious injury in the head some years ago, by which he was confined to the hospital for a long time.

Penna was about thirty years of age, the only son of Rev. Wm. Penna, who recently retired from the Methodist ministry of this province. His only sister, Mrs. Duston, of Moncton, is visiting friends here.

He was a genial companion and had hosts of friends who will sympathize with his parents in their grief. A coroner's inquest will be held.

The funeral of the late W. Arthur Penna was held July 21, at St. Stephen, N. B. and was very largely attended by young and old from St. Stephen, Milltown and Calais.

Service was held at the undertaking parlors of J. K. Sederquest and was conducted by Rev. Geo. F. Dawson, assisted by Rev. D. R. Chowen. Victoria Lodge F. and A. M. of Milltown, and the Thistle Athletic Association marched in the procession and the service at the grave was conducted by the Masons, Frontier Lodge K. of P. of which he was also a member was largely represented.

The verdict of the jury enquiring into the cause of death was as follows:

"In our opinion the cause of death was the shot from the revolver found in his hand, and from the evidence we are unable to determine whether by accident or while temporarily insane."

Miss Perry of Grand Falls, is the guest of Miss Faye Camber.

Miss Ruth Dibblee is the guest of her sister, Mrs. R. Hugh Bruce, St. John.

Woodstock as an Educational Centre.

Between sixty and seventy teachers are in town attending the School of Science in the Vocational School Building. The course is practical and is to better enable the teacher to give practical instruction to the pupil, along the lines of science applied to nature. This is an age of scientific research, and there is continually a development along this line. Woodstock is in the way of being a centre of the province for this kind of study, and the beginning is already. Technical school were something of which the late Mr. Fisher was seldom weary of advocating. Today their popularity (for lack of a better expression) is world-wide. They have largely made Germany that foremost European country, which leads the world in many things.

In winter time we will have the agricultural course for some five or six weeks at the Vocational School. So that in the future, both in summer and winter, Woodstock will be an educational centre. It is by nature an agricultural centre, and may in time become quite a manufacturing centre.

The establishment of the library comes in also as a most useful adjunct to the educational plant.

Summer School Of Science.

C. W. McDougall, Dairy Superintendent Agricultural Department, Sussex, will be here until Wednesday afternoon. He is giving demonstrations and practical work on milk testing and sanitary milk production. He is taking Mr. H. H. Hagerman's place during his absence in Fredericton on the matriculation board of examiners.

Mr. F. A. Good gave an interesting and instructive lecture on Monday evening on Astronomy, relating his remarks chiefly to the Nature Study Course prescribed by the Board of Education for use in the schools. The first part of the lecture was in doors and the last part out of doors to view and name the various constellations.

A reception was held in the Assembly Hall of the Fisher Memorial School on Friday evening. Beside the instructors and teachers attending the school, the other guests invited were the members of the school board and their wives; the trustees of the Fisher Estate and their wives; Mayor W. P. Jones and Mrs. Jones.

This afternoon the automobile owners will meet at the Fisher Memorial School and entertain the teachers to an auto drive through the country. They will go through Centreville and Florenceville. At Florenceville they will visit the Consolidated School.

On Friday and Saturday the examinations will be held before the closing of the School. On Tuesday evening August 4th, at 8.00 o'clock will be held the closing of the First Summer Session of the Rural Science School. This meeting will be open to the public.

Miss Amy McCready, of Houlton, is visiting her aunt Mrs. D. McQueen.

Mrs. J. Watt, and grand daughter, Miss Louise Manzer, are visiting friends in St. John.

J. A. McDonald, President and General Manager of the Amherst Pianos Ltd., Mrs. McDonald and daughter, Halifax, N. S., Mr. Elliott, President of the Nova Scotia Trust Co. and one of the directors of The Amherst Pianos Ltd. and Mrs. Elliott; A. E. McDonald, manager of the J. A. McDonald Piano and Music Co., St. John, and J. F. Reid wholesale representative of the Amherst Pianos Ltd., were in town on Friday and Saturday guests at the Carlisle. They motored to Fredericton on Saturday afternoon.

The residence of C. E. Sharp, on St. John Street, was destroyed by fire at an early hour on Monday morning. The fire caught in the ell and was probably of incendiary origin. Mr. Sharp was awakened by the smell of smoke and the flames had then made headway into the main building so that he was able to save very little of the furniture. There was $1000 insurance on the house in the Commercial Union and $500 on the furniture in the Nova Scotia.

DIED
