

Bombarding Outer Turkish Forts.

London, March 31.—A Reuter dispatch received from Constantinople by way of Berlin, said the allied fleet has resumed its bombardment of villages near the outer forts of the Dardanelles. Turkish aviators are daily reconnoitering. Geneva, via Paris, March 31.—A Constantinople despatch received here by way of Bucharest states that while ammunition is not lacking for the Turkish army it is of poor quality. The supply of cartridges provided by Germany in March, 1914, has been exhausted and Turkey now is forced to rely upon those of her own manufacture, which are inferior to those of Germany.

Disorders and insubordination among the Turkish soldiers are of frequent occurrence, the despatch says, during the transport of troops. Many Turkish officers are reported to have been arrested for their hostile attitude toward the Germans.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Steel Submarine Traps Effective.

Toronto, March 30.—A London cable to the Toronto Mail and Empire says: The effectiveness of the steel submarine traps which have been put down to guard British rivers and harbors has been shown by the fact that two German submarines have been caught in the Firth of Forth. In addition, a third has been sunk off the coast of Haddingtonshire and a fourth was rammed last Wednesday, disabled, captured and towed into Leith, where the crew was taken prisoners. No description of these nets can be given, and no information of their effectiveness has been allowed to go forth by cable, but at this date, since King George himself has inspected one of the captured submarines, and it is talked about freely, no harm can come from letting the world know of it. The first of the submarines, one of the very large type, was caught in the net of the Firth of Forth, which held it at the bottom until it was found by inspectors. Engineers and divers with great dredges went to work and succeeded in lifting the machine, and towing it to a dock. When the hatches were finally opened, an investigation showed that 29 dead German sailors and their officers. In addition there were four Scotch fishermen. Today the names of these men stand very high in their native land. It was apparent that the submarine, bound on a voyage of destruction up the Firth, came upon the men fishing. She took them prisoners, and ordered them to steer their craft safely up to a point where they could accomplish their mission. It has been asked: "Did the fishermen, knowing of the traps, the huge steel nets stretched here and there, deliberately steer the submarine into one of them?" They were caught and they died.

To Destroy British Ships Without Warning

Amsterdam, March 30.—It is understood the German Admiralty shortly will issue orders to submarines to sink all British merchantmen without warning. The reason to be assigned is that merchantmen are being armed and are firing on German submarines.

Austrian Troops Are Demoralized

Geneva, via Paris, March 31.—Austrian losses in Lyttla Valley and the Province of Bereg (North-east Hungary) on the day of March 28th are estimated at 18,000, according to despatches received by Swiss newspapers. These advices state that a column of 4,000 Austrians was annihilated in less than an hour during a desperate action in Bereg Province, six miles north of Vereczke.

Austrian troops in this territory are reported to be demoralized as a result of their enormous losses.

AUSTRIANS SAY THEY ARE

London, March 31.—A special to the Daily Telegraph from Petrograd says: It is stated in well-informed quarters that the operations of the Germans against the important fortress of Ossowetz, northeast of Warsaw, may now be considered at an end. Having failed to obtain any results, they have abandoned the undertaking. In this way the whole purpose of their dash into Russian territory from East Prussia has been frustrated, as everywhere between the Niemen and the Bobr rivers they have failed to obtain substantial successes.

England Crying For Vengeance

LONDON, March 30.—Wrath swept over England today, because of the sinking of the liner Falaba and the steamer Aguila, by a German submarine and demands were made on all sides that the submarine crews now held prisoners be immediately tried as pirates. The storm of anger is greater than that aroused by the bombardment of Scarborough, Whitby and Hartlepool. The stories of the passengers of the Falaba, that the German sailors on the submarine which sank the liner, jered at men and women struggling for their lives in the water, while unconfirmed by the Admiralty, were accepted as true by the English public, and press. The new papers denounce the Germans as infamous savages and murderers.

"Asserting that it is necessary to try submarine prisoners now held in England as pirates," in order to teach Germany that her flagrant disregard of the rules of civilization cannot go unpunished. According to the best estimates, obtainable, the sinking of the Falaba and Aguila, resulted in the loss of 138 lives, 112 from the Falaba and 26 from Aguila.

New York, March 30.—Under the title "Kultur at Its Meridian," the Herald this morning, after quoting one of the survivors of the British steamer Falaba, as saying: "I saw part of the submarine crew actually laughing at us. The submarine finally dived and disappeared," has comments editorially.

"Great joy in the halls of Kultur. One hundred and eighteen non-combatants, some of them women, ruthlessly murdered on the high sea. It is the day. The World declares it is not war, but murder, adding.

"It uses the pity of the neutral world, for the helpless victims, and abhorrence for men in high command who order murder done. The higher policy of the war as waged in Berlin, began with a gigantic blunder in the invasion of neutral Belgium. It is continuing it with another in decreasing the deliberate slaughter at sea of defenceless men, women and children.

Thrilling Air and Sea Fight

Amsterdam, March 31. A thrilling air and sea fight took place at the German sea base at Zeebrugge on Monday in which two German airmen were killed. At the same time British warships fired upon German submarines which were trying to make their way from the naval base to the open sea. Armed German trawlers which were planting mines were chased into Zeebrugge harbor by British men of war. News of the operations was received today from Suis.

Paris, March 31.—After seven months of continuous effort, the Germans have finally got near enough to Verdun to bombard the fort, defending the city. Fort Douaumont, five miles northeast of the city proper, has been violently shelled by heavy German howitzers, a dozen projectiles striking the works. This was officially admitted today by the War Office. Fort Douaumont is one of a group of six forts and redoubts north of the Confians road defending Verdun on the northeast.

A SOAP ECONOMY.

Save small pieces of toilet soap until you have a sufficient quantity to bother with, then melt in just enough water to make a thick jelly. This is fine for whitening and softening the hands.

TO DISPOSE OF BROKEN GLASS.

Always put broken glass in a hot fire before throwing it out, which will melt it, leaving no sharp points or edges. Then even if children do manage to get hold of it there will be no danger of cut and bleeding fingers.

GASOLINE SOAP.

Cut three bars of white laundry soap into a ten-pound pail filled with cold water. Set on stove until it is dissolved. Remove and when cool add one large cupful of gasoline and stir well.

In a new note-book for stenographers the back can be fastened together to form a book to hold it in the most convenient position for reading.

Boxes Securely Held

In an English box making machine the nails, driven at an angle through two boards at once, are turned back to form a hook in the second board.

Safety For Ladder Users

To prevent ladders slipping on smooth surfaces there has been invented a hinged foot that is a combination of a rubber pad and sharp spikes.

A Steel-hard Alloy

An Australian has invented an aluminum alloy that is said to be as hard as steel, that is non-corrosive and that can be brazed and colored.
