Miquelon Archipelago Annex
ed to Newfoundland

St John's, Nfld., May 7.—The possibility that the Miquelon Archipelago, the last North American possession of France, may be annexed to Newfoundland at the close of the European war is being given serious consideration in this colony. The little islands of St. Pierre, Miquelon, and Langlade, a short distance off the south coast of Newfoundland, have formed for two centuries the advance base for the French cod fishery on the Grand Banks.

In recent years the prosperity of the tiny colony has steadily diminished and all possibility of industrial progress for some time to come was destroyed when the French government, in February last, summoned all the able-bodied men in the islands to the colors.

The town of St. Pierre, where most of the colonists live, is now inhabited only by aged men, women and children. It is considered probable that such of the conscripts as survive the war will be reluctant to return to a struggling existence in the colony and will seek wider opportunities in France. Since bait fishing by the French has been largely supplanted by steam trawlers, the usefulness of the fisheries outpost has become slight. It is the opinion of many Newfoundlanders, therefore, that France will find it to her advantage to turn the islands over to Newfoundland, in return for fishing facilities in these waters.

Shooting 20 miles

The German achievement in bombarding Dunkirk from a distance of at least 20 miles is causing much discussion in artillery circles. The French say that the shells which fell in the little coast city traveled 23 1-2 miles. Nothing like such a range has ever been accomplished before, but American experts say that it will now be possible to shoot heavy projectiles 30 miles. Thus, says The New York World, Constantinople might be bombarded from the Black Sea, Trieste from Italian soil, Ceuta from Gibraltar and Dover from Calais.

A number of the world's most important straits are bridged in theory. A little more and Toronto could be shelled from Niagara-on-the-Lake. Happily the greater the distance the more difficult it is to find a small target.

It is moreover, a fact that a few shot from a great gun such as that used by the Germans against Dunkirk put it out of business by destroying its rifling. Lastly the mobile aeroplane is most effective in locating and destroying such giant engines of war before great havoc is wrought. For one reason or the other we hear no more of the cannon which last week did such long range work against Dunkirk.—Toronto Daily News.

Gilbert W. Stockford.

On Wednesday morning, April 28, 1915, there departed this life one of the most highly respected and well known residents of Main Street, in the person of Mr. Gilbert W. Stockford, aged 64 years and 9 months. Although in failing health for some time it was hoped by his family and friends that he would recover from his illness, but it was not to be; during the last week of his illness he failed rapidly and in spite of a kind friends and physicians could do, he passed peacefully away on Wednesday morning, April 28th.

Mr. Stockford came to this place 33 years ago this June and was one of the old pioneers of the settlement. His wife, who was Miss Jane Fitzpatrick, predeceased him four years ago last February, and since her death he has failed rapidly. He was a man of sterling integrity and Christian honesty, a true friend to the poor and ever ready and willing to render assistance to all with whom he came in contact. He has left to mourn the loss of a kind and loving father, three daughters, the eldest, Mrs. J. M. White, with whom he lived, and who most tenderly cared for him during his last illness; Mrs. J. T. Trainor of St. Stephen, N. B., and Mrs. T. B. McNutt of Victoria, B. C., and three sons, Thos. W. of Highgate, Car. Co., Robert and Harold of Mercer, Me., also two half sisters, Mrs. Albert MacLeane and Mrs. Frank Woodman, and sixteen grandchildren. His funeral was held on Friday, from his late residence to the Baptist church at Rockland; the sermon was preached by Rev. George Kincaid of Hartland, assisted by Rev. Thos. Vanwart of Rockland; A. J. Orser of Main Street, conducted the funeral, the pallbearers being H. V. Clarke, Cushi Shaw, Samuel Cook and Winfield Shaw, all lifelong friends of the deceased.

Appropriate music was rendered by Miss Hilda Boyer, our school teacher. The remains were laid to rest beside those of his wife, in the Belrea burying ground, at Rockland, followed by a large concourse of relatives and friends, who were thus desirous of showing a last tribute of respect and esteem to the deceased brother.

TOWN COUNCIL

A motion to make the grant du the Hospital was defeated, as it was stated that the Hospital was in no financial difficulty at present.

What was considered a rather strong motion moved by Coun. Leighton seconded by Coun. Fewer.

What was considered a rather strong motion, moved by Coun. Leighton seconded by Coun. Fewer, referring to the failure of the Imperial Packing Company to keep their insurance made payable to the town, was defeated.

Moved by Coun. Young, seconded by Coun. Fleming, that the Town Clerk be requested to write to the Imperial Packing Co., stating that insurance for $5000 must be placed on the plant, in favor of the town, according to the act granting a bonus to the company by the town.

Moved by Coun. Young, seconded by Coun. Fleming, that the clerk acknowledge a resolution from the Board of Trade, and at the same time notify that body that any information they may have as to the violation of the Scott Act, if furnished the proper officials, will be acted upon.

This motion followed an almost identical motion made by Coun. Leighton which was not seconded.

The clerk was instructed to take the matter up with Supt. Wass to have the proper railway authorities put the roadway near the Valley Railway station in the same condition the company found it when they commenced work.

Other matters of importance were discussed and finally the Council adjourned at 11 o'clock.

FIELD FAMILY PEWS
FOR OVER A CENTURY

Interesting Fact About St. James Cathedral, the Fourth Edition on the Same Site

A hundred years is a long space of time in the life of a modern city. Nevertheless, there are plenty of families in Toronto which have continuously held pews in St. James' Cathedral for more than a century. The magnificent pile to-day, is not, of course, the original building, nor was the latter called a cathedral. The first Anglican church, built between the years 1803 and 1907, was constructed of wood, and was, in fact, little more than a "meeting house." But it stood on almost the same site as the present St. James' Cathedral, though, unlike that edifice, which faces north and south, it faced east and west—a location more conformable with Anglican traditions as to the building of churches. This primitive church was opened for public worship in the year 1807, and in March of that year the pews were sold by public auction, subject to the ground rents of four dollars a year for a double, and two dollars a year for a single, pew. The sum received in pew rents for the first year appears to have amounted to about a hundred and forty-five dollars. Among the earliest pew-holders—none of whom, of course, survive—are many names held in high honor and esteem in Toronto. Some of these good old families are extinct. The members of some of them worship at other churches. But, in spite of all vicissitudes—the first church, after reconstruction, was replaced by a stone building (the first cathedral), which was destroyed by fire, as was also in its turn, its successor the second cathedral—there are still to-day plenty of Torontonians worshipping in the present fourth church and third cathedral, called St. James, whose ancestors were among the original pew-holders in the original wooden church, and in whose families the pews have remained ever since.

Where Liquorice Comes From
Most of the familiar liquorice-root comes from Syria. It is gathered and piled into great stacks, where it remains until it is thoroughly dry. It is then taken to the factory to undergo certain processes. The finished product is used for flavoring confectionery and beer, as well as entering into the make-up of many brands of tobacco. Some idea of the extent of the industry may be gathered when it is stated that, on an average, 8,000 tons of dry liquorice-root is shipped from Aleppo annually while Bagdad yields another 6,000 tons, Antioch 4,000 and Damascus 500 tons.

The boys of the 55th Battalion, who have been stationed in Woodstock for the past three months, left Monday morning for Sussex, where they will spend some time in training before leaving for the front. A very large number of the citizens turned out to see them away. Headed by the 67th band, they left the armoury shortly before seven o'clock, and to the strains of 'The British Grenadiers,' marched to the station. They were followed in the procession by the Home Guards and the Boy Scouts.

As the train pulled out of the station the band played 'God Save the King,' and three hearty cheers were given.

The contingent was in charge of Lieut. Balmain and Campbell. Major Ball, the recruiting officer, left with the boys but will return again to continue recruiting. Following is a list of the officers and men.

Women's Weakness
And Health Perils

Anaemia Comes so Gratefully That the Victim Scarcely Realizes the Trouble has Upon Her Until Aimed at in a Decade

Women's work is more wearing than man's because it lasts almost every waking hour. There is no eight or nine-hour day for the breadwinner's wife, and often she toils under the greatest difficulty because her strength is below what it should be. The woman who is indoors all day is very often careless about what she eats and does not keep her blood up to the mark. It becomes thin and poor, which makes her weak, headachy, tired, breathless and liable to pains in the back and sides, the scourge of her sex. New blood will do wonders for the woman who is tired out, who aches all over when she rises in the morning and feels unaccountably depressed. She can gain new blood now, and drive away the pains and aches and tiredness if she will take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They have worked marvels for other women and will do the same for you if you are weak, tired, depressed or suffering from backaches or sideaches. Mrs. Elmer C. Taylor, Calgary, Alta., says: "I was so run down with anaemia that I could scarcely walk without aid. I was not able to leave the house. I had no color, no appetite, and was constantly troubled with headaches, dizzy spells and a general disinclination to move about or do anything. My friends did not think I would get better, and even the doctor was apprehensive. I was constantly taking medicine, but it did not do me a particle of good. One day a friend asked if I had tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I decided to do so almost as a forlorn hope. After I had used a few boxes there was a decided change for the better and people began to ask what I was taking, the change was so noticeable. As I continued the Pills my color came back, I could eat my meals regularly, the headaches and dizzy spells ceased, I gained in weight and took a new interest in life, my cure being complete. I have told many sickly women and girls what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me and urged them to take them and shall continue to do so, knowing what a splendid medicine they are."

TRAPPING ON FARMS

Chances For an Observant Country Boy to Earn Money

Over one hundred thousand dollars is paid to the farmer boys of Canada each year for raw furs," said Mr. John Hallam, a large Toronto fur dealer, "and many of these boys earn their first real money by setting out a line of traps and capturing the valuable fur-bearing animals."

Contrary to the popular impression, it is not necessary to go into the wilds in order to trap, as muskrats, mink, skunk, raccoon, ermine or white weasel and other valuable fur-bearing animals abound throughout the farming communities of the Dominion, and it only remains for the observant, active trapper to capture the same and turn their pelts into the big money that they bring on the market to-day.

Not only does the following of the trap line well repay the boy for the time and energy expended, but it leads him to enjoy the healthful life in the open, and to become a lover of nature. It causes him to become observant and sharpens his wits, when he attempts to match his skill against the natural instinct and wariness of the wild animals, and offers an innocent safety valve to the natural exuberance inherent in every boy having good red blood coursing through his veins.
