YOUNG'S COVE ROAD

Aug. 24 1915

A great many farmers are not nearly through with their hay harvest as yet owing to so much rain, and the land has been so soft that it is with difficulty that it can be cut and raked with horses. In this section the hay is a little above the average, but generally just a fair crop.

There is only about 25 per cent of an apple crop, but some of the old plum trees that have lain idle for years are well laden with fruit.

Rev. Thomas Parker, who has been our rector of St. Lukes church Youngs Cove, has much to the regret of his Parishioners handed in his resignation to take effect in a few weeks. He goes to Norton, Kings County.

Rev. E. H. Gillin, who was with us for some seven years and has 3 or 4 Parishes to attend, I believe is to return in the near future.

Rev. P. J. and Mrs. Stackhouse, son and daughter, paid a visit to her uncle, F. M. Wiggins and family, at Lakeside and left via steamer May Queen, for Princess Park to visit her aunt, Mrs. S. W. Bice.

The many summer visitors, are returning to their several places of abode. Dr. T. J. O. Earle called at Lakeside on Saturday and his friends were pleased to see him looking so well, as the doctor is a great favorite.

Dr. Kennedy is still busy attending to the sick and making them well.

Charles Smith launched a fine motor boat a few days ago, and is ready to cater to the people who wish to travel his way.

Some of the farmers have gone to the low lands to gather hay.
