How Long?

(Joseph Halloran, in the New York Tribune.)

We gave short shift to Dernburg.

On Dumbas shut the door.

And thought, forsooth, that foreign guile

Would vex our peace no more.

Alas for Yankee artlessness,

To Prussian schemes how blind!

Ten thousand lesser Dernburgs

And Dumbas stayed behind!

They came with rancor in their hearts.

With pleasant, glit spur lie—

The Uhlans of diplomacy.

The far-flung line of spies,

They sought our shores, a locust-swarm

Destruction in their train.

To weave athwart a friendly soil

Sedition's hideous chain.

With poisoned pen, with subtle speech,

With spursmen's venal aid,

With every devious turn and trick

They plied their dastard trade.

Till, growing bold, they doffed the smile

And bared the sneer beneath—

They flaunted treason in our face

And mocked us to our teeth.

And are we then so impotent

We dare not say them nay—

So strong that we can watch supine

While traitors blaze their way?

How long ere we arise in wrath

To end such shameful wrong.

To crush this alien viper brood—

Say, Uncle Sam, how long?

Enoch Lovely, Pioneer
Citizen, Passes Away

In Enoch Lovely, who passed peacefully away at the family residence, after a lingering illness, Perth loses one of its earliest and most respected citizens, a man whose word was as good as his bond, and to whom the community owes much. Mr. Lovely, as noted in these columns some weeks ago, had been suffering from cancer, and although with characteristic fortitude he never complained, the nature of his malady was such that it was seen, that he had not long to live. About a month ago he took to his bed, and gradually sank until the end came on Wednesday evening.

The late Mr. Lovely had lived all his life in this neighborhood, being born sixty-four years ago in Lower Perth. Forty-four years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Alfretha Hansen, who proved an ideal helpmate, and with whom he has spent the years of a busy and useful life in this town.

The surviving children are: Walter, Daniel and Bruce, the last named serving his king and country in France; a daughter Mrs. Norton, and three brothers, George and William, of Tonque Narrows, and Sanford, of Wapke, as well as three grandchildren. Mr. Lovely was known far and wide as a kind neighbor, charitable in word and deed, a loving husband, and indulgent father.

The funeral took place on Saturday afternoon at Larlee Creek church.—Victoria County News.

Gifts That Girls
Will Enjoy

Collar and Cuff Set for Christmas

Quaker collar and cuff sets of organdie are easily made and among the most fashionable of dress accessories. They make charming Christmas gifts and may be made at small cost.

Sheer materials, in cotton or lace, are used to make them, with hemstitching, narrow lingerie laces or embroidery in small sprays forming the decorative features. A quaker set edged with cluny lace is shown in the picture.

Gauze Bag Holding Puff Balls

Gauze bags, made to hold individual powder puff balls, are among the popular new fads that make lovely Christmas gifts. They are made of chiffon, silk muslin or gauze, gathered over a silk-covered embroidery hoop. Hangers of light satin ribbon are fastened at each side of the hoop with a rose.

The balls, of absorbent cotton, are finished with tiny bows of baby ribbon matching the hangers in color. As soon as used they are thrown away.

Flowered silk muslin makes pretty bags, with ribbon hangers matching the flowers in color. The little bows are sewed to the balls. The bags hang at the side of the dressing case for the convenience of guests.

Calendar and Hatpin Holder

The calendar consists of a circular piece having two small feet on one edge, cut from a sheet of celluloid.

Two small oblong openings, one longer than the other, are cut opposite the feet.

The face of the calendar is decorated with a painted holly wreath and gilt lettering within it.

Two smaller circles swing on a pivot back of the calendar's face, with the names of the months on one and numerals from 1 to 31 on the other. The May pivot is concealed by the lettering.

The calendar is supported like an easel by a strip fastened on at the back.

FISH SCALES

In Days Gone by Were Most Valuable Part of Fish

Among unconsidered trifles may be included the scales of fish. Of value and utility to the owner during its sojourn in the vasty deep, the scales are ignored after capture as good for the manure heap. But it was not ever thus. In days gone by fish scales possessed a real value, notably those of roach, bleak, dace, and whitebait. Older writers tell us how the scales of these fishes were collected and used in the manufacture of necklaces, earrings, and such-like ornaments. London fishermen used to catch the fish, take off the scales, and throw the body back into the river.

A pigment was obtained by treating the scales in a certain fashion, whitebait being the most popular fish used for the purpose. So great, formerly, was the demand at times that the price of a quart of fish-scales varied from one to five guineas. This treatment of fish-scales for making small personal adornments is attributed to the French. A Parisian artist one winter, it is said, used thirty hamperfuls of bleak scales in the course of manufacture. To-day, however, the industry is practically extinct.

GAY MONTMARTRE

The Brightest Spot in Paris Giving Way to Modern Improvements

The windmills of Montmartre, the oldest, most artistic and characteristic monuments of the district, have, some of them, already succumbed to the modernizing of Paris, or to the action of the elements; the others are threatened with destruction unless the friends of old Paris can get them moved from their present sites. The "Moulin de la Poivrière" was demolished two years ago to give way to the new Avenue Junot. The Moulin Rouge became a prey to the flames in 1914 and now the old "Moulin de la Galette" which dates from the middle of the thirteenth century is doomed to extinction or removal. A modern apartment house with steam heat and baths is going up there now, and the mill, the girls and their dancing partner, must go elsewhere. The "Old Paris" municipal council committee has decided that something must be done to perpetually commemorate the Bohemian days of Montmartre and to preserve some of its artistic features. It proposes to transfer the "Radet" or "Moulin de la Galette" to the Place Jean Baptiste Clement where it will continue to overlook Paris. Cherry trees are to be planted around it to commemorate the godfather of the place, the popular song writer and author of the "Chanson des Cerises." Since the beginning of the war the Moulin de la Galette has been occupied by the society women of Montmartre as a sewing room, and has produced thousands of soldiers' garments.

Weavers of Cashmere shawls take two or three years to finish a pair of the very finest. These shawls bring upwards of $500.
