HOUSEHOLD

CREAMED PEACH PIE.

Peel, stone and halve ripe peaches. Line a deep pie plate with puff paste, and lay the peaches in this. Sprinkle thickly with sugar, and fit on the upper crust. Have ready and cold, a cream sauce. To make this, scald half a pint of milk and thicken it with a tablespoonful of corn starch rubbed smooth in a little cold milk. Add two tablespoonfuls of sugar and the frothed white of one egg. Boil together for five minutes and set aside to cool. When the pie is done carefully lift the top crust and fill the pie to overflowing with the cream sauce. Replace the crust and set in a cool place. Sprinkle with powdered and eat cold

PEACH SCALLOP.

Peel and chop enough peaches to make two cupfuls. Put a layer of them in the bottom of a greased pudding dish, sprinkle thickly with sugar, add a layer of sponge cake crumbs, then more sugared peaches, and so on until the dish is full. Sprinkle with sugar and crumbs, and bake for three-quarters of an hour. Eat hot with a hard sauce.

PICALILLI

Chop two fine, large cabbages and a pint of onions, and mix. Pack down in a stone crock and stir in a handful of salt. Leave this for twenty-four hours. Bring to a boil a quart of vinegar into which has been stirred a pound of sugar and a tablespoonful each of the following ground spices—mustard, pepper, mace, allspice, celery seed, cinnamon and tumeric. Pour over the cabbage and onion, turn all into a preserving kettle and boil for ten minutes. When cold, pack in pint jars.

GRAPE CATSUP

Wash tart grapes, remove the stems and put the fruit into a kettle with just enough water to prevent scorching. Stir often with a wooden spoon and cook until tender. Rub, a little at a time, through a fine colander. Reject the seeds and skins, and measure the pulp. To each quart and a pint of this add a pound of brown sugar, a cupful of white vinegar, a heaping teaspoonful each of ground cinnamon, allspice, mace, salt and white pepper, and half a teaspoonful of ground cloves. Boil long and steadily until the catsup is reduced to less than half the original quantity, and very thick. When cold, bottle, cork tightly and cover the corks with sealing wax.

PEACH MARMALADE.

For making peach marmalade, weigh the peaches and allow three-quarters of a pound of sugar to each pound of fruit. The fruit must be quite ripe, but not decayed; wipe off the outside with a damp cloth, or peel, as you prefer, but some claim that the peel imparts an improving flavor. Cut into small pieces, taking out the pits; put into the preserving kettle alternate layers of sugar and fruit, the fruit being the first layer; cook over a slow fire, watching that it does not scorch. When done, which should be with much stirring, it will begin to jell, and then fill it into small tumblers and let get cold; then cover with a quarter of an inch of paraffine wax, melted. This will prevent molding.

Dust Explosion In Comb Factory

Berne, Switzerland, Oct. 2. (Via Paris)—Investigation has disclosed that between 30 and 50 workmen were killed in a fire which destroyed a large comb factory at Muemliswil, following a dust explosion, yesterday. Four hundred persons were at work in the factory at the time of the explosion and the majority of them were more or less injured.

Queen Elena of Italy.

A few years ago, when I was in Italy and an Italian lady was complaining of Queen Elena's inability to cope with her new position, and especially of her failure to spend money on her clothes as a queen should, my mind travelled back to the little churen in the monastery of Cetinje, where Queen Elena, then the young princess of Montenegro, with her sisters and her parents had come to worship; and I remembered the poor people who worshipped with her. My Italian friend said:

"What do you think she did the other day? She refused to buy a pretty hat because it cost 100 francs! 'What makes it so expensive?' she asked. 'It is piece of lace is real, your majesty,' the milliner explained. 'Then take it off and put on something less expensive. I cannot wear a costly bibelot on my head when people are starving.' Imagine a queen refusing to wear a 100 franc hat because people were starving!"

The contemptuous indignation of my Italian friend was great; but I realized that she could not see the world through the eyes of Queen Elena. She had not been to Montenegro; she had not seen the huts, the gaunt women, the rocks with meager cultivated crevices between, and above all she had not seen the frontier posts studded with graves. But I had been to Cserna Gora; I had seen it all, I had partaken of their frugal fare, and I understood the queen of Italy. There are some things that become printed on one's soul, and not even the crown of a queen can efface them.—From the Delin-eator.
