New Move Of The Allies?

New York, Oct. 2.—The Paris correspondent of the Herald cabled Sunday as follows:
"A mighty drive on Constantinople may bring the decision in the war before the end of the present year.
"The knowledge that this drive is coming is regarded as the explanation of the alarm felt in Germany, as shown by the refusal of the private bankers and moneyed classes to subscribe to the new loan and by the speech delivered on Thursday last in the Reichstag by the Chancellor of the Empire, with its appeal for new sacrifices.
"The preparations for the march on the Turkish capital have long been under way, and as there is now no longer any motive for concealment the subject is being alluded to in rather frank manner in the press of the Allies.
"The Prussian great general staff realized the trend of the Allies' campaign only when it was too late. A desperate effort was made to retrieve the situation when Field Marshal von Hindenburg was appointed to the supreme command, Field Marshal von Mackensen being sent to bar the road southward through Bulgaria to the Russians, and for a moment there was concern in the camps of the Allies lest he should succeed in creating a situation which would halt for an appreciable time the projected operations of the Russians and Roumanians.
"All previous information given out regarding the intentions of the Allies in the southeastern field was designed to furnish the impression that Nish or Sofia was the objective of the projected Russian movement southward through Roumania. The conquest of either of these cities would be of great importance to the Allies, but would be trivial in comparison with that of Constantinople.
"The Grand Duke's army, using the conquered port of Trebizond as a base, is expected to have a vitally important part in the conquest of Constantinople. Although the plans of the Allies are, of course, kept secret, it is regarded as established that the attack against the well guarded capital of the Ottoman empire will this time be made simultaneously from the Bosphorus side of the Straits and from the land side by armies operating through Bulgaria."

FARMING IN THE NORTH

The Upper Mackenzie Valley Can Probably be Tilled
No. 1 hard wheat, grown 300 miles north of Edmonton, prize vegetables raised on the Arctic Circle, and spruce trees six feet in diameter, are some of the wonders of the Northern Territories which Mr. Henry A. Conroy, Inspector of Indian Agencies, saw on a northern inspection tour.
Known officially as "Treaty No. 8," the territory over which Mr. Conroy exercises supervision is inhabited by about 8,000 Indians. Once a year Inspector Conroy visits the 18 agencies located in Treaty 8, and distributes to the Indians about $35,000 in money and several thousand dollars' worth of food, ammunition, fishing nets, and other necessaries of aboriginal life.
"Our agent there experimented with three varieties of wheat, the yields from which were taken down to Edmonton and graded No. 1 hard," said Mr. Conroy. "He grew also 300 bushels of oats. They weighed 33 pounds to the bushel. Rye and barley were also successfully grown.
"The very best gardens I saw on the whole route are at Fort Good Hope, still further north. In the upper Mackenzie Valley there is a country as large as Manitoba and every bit of it fit for settlement."

TREE FENCES IN WEST

Methods of Culture Found Successful by Railway
The Superintendent of the Forestry Branch of the Department of Natural Resources, C.P.R., has given the following information: "The work was started in 1913 and it took two years to get the ground ready for planting. The prairie sod had to be broken the first year, then backset and summer fallowed in order to accumulate sufficient moisture for tree growth. The conditions affecting tree growth east and west of Moose Jaw were found to be absolutely dissimilar. East of Moose Jaw trees planted three years can be left without any further maintenance; west of Moose Jaw it is necessary to cultivate each year in order to keep the trees free from weeds, which would deprive them of needed moisture. The district west of Moose Jaw is what is known as "The Dry Belt." In territory similar to this in the United States one of the railways tried watering the trees, but that is a mistake; cultivation is all that is needed.
"The cost of the portable panel snow fence anywhere in Western Canada, Minnesota, Dakota, or other western states is from $2.39 to $2.51 per 16 foot panel. The depreciation and annual maintenance per 16-foot panel is 47 cents. The cost of 16 feet of tree fence, including three years maintenance, is $1.95. The three years' cost of maintenance is necessary before the fence may be said to be established; west of Moose Jaw it may take five years.
"The tree snow fence has been remarked upon by hundreds of tourists, and has helped very considerably in demonstrating to intending settlers the possibilities of proper cultivation in the dry areas. The tree snow fence also is just as good, if not better, than the panel fencing."

WHY A DOG'S TAIL WAGS

When a dog's tail whips to and fro frantically he is not carrying on an aimless muscular exercise. He is signalling the thoughts and feelings which he cannot put into words. It is his own code, and varies according to the message he wishes to flash on his rearward semaphore. He has a short twitching motion that expresses anxiety and interest, a violent lashing that makes known his enthusiasm and affection, a steady whipping from side to side that spells hunger, and a motionless droop that signals defeat and discouragement. Canine experts have always been able to read these wigwaggings, but it took science to explain why the dog used them.
This is the explanation. When a dog is pleased and delighted he must have some outlet for his feelings. Just as a bashful boy in the presence of ladies twirls his cap or twists about wildly in his chair, or as a person tickled beyond measure by some humorous sally rolls on the floor and holds his sides, the dog wags his tail. The human beings in the situations described above are striving through physical action to relieve the strain on their nerves. Embarrassment must be relieved through some outward convulsion of muscles. The dog becomes like a child with joy, and his tail like a safety valve, takes the pressure off his nervous system. His emotions must be translated into some physical manifestation.

EXIT THE MONOCLE MAN

Various Glimpses of Kitchener Given in Anecdotes
Stories of Kitchener's semi-humorous bluntness are legion. "Sorry to report the loss of five men through explosion of dynamite," was the gist of a telegram he received one day during the Boer war from a captain at the front. "Do you want any more dynamite?" was the immediate answer. On one occasion to the War Office authorities were pressing a certain weapon upon him. "Keep the gun," he wrung. "I can throw stones myself."
"Twelve hours in which to carry this despatch?" he remarked to an officer on one occasion. "You must do it in six." And the officer did it in five.
At Pretoria one day Lord Kitchener saw a young lieutenant sporting a monocle.
"Does your eyesight require you to wear that?" he asked.
"It does," replied the lieutenant.
"Then report to-morrow morning to the line of communication," ordered the General. "I do not require men with poor eyesight at headquarters."
"A soldier was digging a ditch near Pretoria," said Mrs. Erskine, "and the General observed him for a long while. Finally he sent for him. He asked him if he wasn't ill. The soldier replied that he was; that he felt quite badly. Then why don't you report sick?" demanded the General. "I did," replied the soldier, "but the doctor said I was fit for duty." Lord Kitchener sent for the young surgeon, ordered him to make an examination, found the soldier was suffering from typhoid fever and sent him to the hospital. Then he said to the doctor, "You can apply for your leave home. I have no use here for the sort of a doctor you are."

CLASSIFYING LANDS

Some of Canada's Greatest Tragedies Could be Prevented
The opening up of non-agricultural lands to settlement has produced some of the most far-reaching and pitiful tragedies in the Dominion's history. Every province has communities which have been permitted to make the fatal error of a bad location. Their subsequent history is an unbroken line of bad crops, poverty, suffering and human demoralization. Too poor to move away, the farmer and his family resign themselves to a pitiful standard of living, giving their time and efforts for practically no return. Every province and the Federal authorities have made such blunders in times past, nor is there satisfactory evidence that a general and complete reform has been brought about. Farmers still are allowed on Federal and Provincial "homesteads," which are impossible for field crops.
The policy was, of course, more the result of laxity in classification and not a deliberate effort to send settlers to useless lands. The laxness, however, is growing in public disfavor and the tendency of all governments now is to protect the settler and to conserve rocky, sandy areas for their natural purpose of growing trees. Several survey parties are at last on soil examinations and such work is bound to achieve higher importance in the eyes of governments. One party, composed of Messrs. F. C. Nunnick of the Commission of Conservation and Walter Graham of the Experimental Farm, Ottawa, went to New Brunswick, co-operating with the provincial government in a scheme of land classification.

FRESH AIR EVERYWHERE

Pure, Sweet Supply Pays Even in Factories
One of the chief essentials to good health is a constant supply of pure and wholesome air. This is as necessary in the home as in the office or factory. The open window, the outside sleeping balcony and living in the open air, all tend to strengthen the constitution and build up the nervous system. For this reason too much attention cannot be paid to the ventilation of buildings. A supply of pure, fresh air pays, from a monetary standpoint. Roughly speaking, an increase in production of ten per cent. is not unusual in the average office, shop or warehouse, following the installation of a ventilating system. Fresh air, therefore, properly circulated, is an essential factor even in successful factory management.

GinPills FOR THE KIDNEYS PAIN IN SMALL OF BACK

From time to time we learn of cases where the free sample of Gin Pills is sufficient to relieve the distressing pains in the back. Here is such a case coming from the British West Indies.
Britton Hill, St. Michael's, B.W.I.
May 24th, 1915.
"I received your sample of Gin Pills and would say that I was suffering from a very intense pain in the small of my back for some days. After I had taken the sample, the pain was gone."
Sanford Weeks.
All druggists sell Gin Pills at 50c. a box, or 6 boxes for $2.50. Sample free if you write to NATIONAL DRUG & CHEMICAL CO. OF CANADA, LIMITED Toronto, Ont. 73
