Some Cauliflower RecipesCAULIFLOWER BAKED WITH CRUMBS.

This dish is prepared by pouring a little melted butter over the top of boiled cauliflower, which is then sprinkled with fine, dry bread crumbs which have been buttered. Bake the cauliflower in a hot oven just long enough to brown the crumbs, which gives a pleasant flavor.

In this and the other dishes referred to, salt and pepper can be added as desired.

CREAM SAUCE.

This kind of sauce (so often served with vegetables) should be made rather thick for cauliflower, as follows: One cup milk two tablespoonfuls butter, two tablespoonfuls flour, one-half teaspoonful salt, and one-fourth teaspoonful pepper. Heat the milk over boiling water; beat the butter and flour to a cream and stir into the hot milk. Cook five minutes, then add salt and pepper.

CAULIFLOWER BAKED WITH CHEESE.

Break into pieces a well-drained head of plain boiled cauliflower and fill a dish with layers (two or at most three) of cauliflower lightly sprinkled with grated cheese. Pour over all a cup of cream sauce; sprinkle the top with buttered bread crumbs, and, if a decided cheese flavor is liked, with a little grated cheese also. Bake in a moderately hot oven until the top is a delicate brown.

CREAM OF CAULIFLOWER SOUP.

Cream soups can be made by adding the pulp of a vegetable (enough to insure good flavor) to a thin cream sauce. A good proportion is one cup of vegetable pulp (in this case cauliflower broken into very small pieces or put through a rather coarse sieve) to a quart of sauce.

CREAM SAUCE FOR SOUP.

In making the sauce [which should be rather thin] allow three or four tablespoonfuls of flour to a quart of liquid, which may be milk or a mixture of milk, the liquid in which the vegetable is cooked, and three or four tablespoonfuls of butter. Add the cauliflower and heat for a few minutes. Some persons who prefer a more highly seasoned soup add such seasoning as onion juice or a stalk of celery (which is removed before serving) and paprika when making the cream sauce.

A cream of cauliflower soup may also be made with a cup of cooked cauliflower, some of the water in which it was cooked, an equal amount of milk, and a slight thickening of butter and flour.

CAULIFLOWER SALAD.

An attractive and palatable salad can be made from cauliflower.

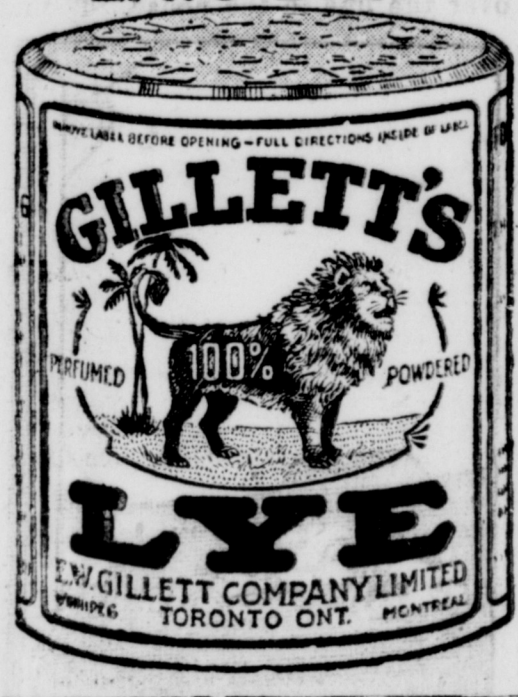

Break the cold boiled vegetable into pieces of suitable size, arrange them on lettuce leaves, and serve with either French or mayonnaise dressing. The salad may be garnished with small strips of pimento (fresh or canned), or green peppers, or thin slices of kumquat orange.

CAULIFLOWER FOR PICKLES.

Cauliflower broken into small pieces is often used with other vegetables in mustard pickles and other mixed pickles. It is attractive in appearance and contributes to the flavor. This is worth bearing in mind when the pickle-making season comes round.

Kaiser's Second Son Missed Death by Fleet

Paris, Sept. 12.—Prince Eitel Fritz, the Kaiser's second son, came within a few feet of death in the Somme battle, according to Le Journal. The French upon learning that he was quartered in the chateau in the village of Temple la Rosse, 12 miles from the French lines, trained a 16-inch naval gun upon the chateau and blew it to pieces with 65 shells. Prisoners taken yesterday stated that the first shell struck the side wing of the chateau a few feet from the map-room, where the Kaiser's son was working with his staff.

The War

(St. John Globe Sept. 15)

For weeks after the British and French had commenced to make methodical thrusts at the German lines on the Somme, the enemy affected to believe, or at least asserted, that the attacks had little or no result except to cause sanguinary losses to those who made them. Since then the German leaders have been given ample reason to change their minds, for the attacks have been persisted in with invariable success, and while the German line has not been broken the Germans have been compelled to withdraw from valuable fortified positions, and make new defenses—far in the rear. A significant circumstance is that German counter-attacks have been failures. On the section where the French are operating, the Germans have been driven back six miles. On Thursday night again they made another advance, and captured German trenches. The British, for several days had been doing little except hammering away with their artillery and consolidating positions they had captured, now they are attacking again, after due preparation had been made, and are reported today as making progress. Slowly but surely the British are approaching Baupenne, while the French are clearing the way for the capture of Peronne. When the Allied armies have these important points, as they expect in a short time, the situation will be well nigh intolerable for the German armies, as the means of communication will be cut, and it will be difficult, if not impossible, to send forward reinforcements and transport ammunition and food. Heavy fighting and large losses of life may be looked for before the Allies accomplish their object, but there is no doubt of their ability to do so. There is cheering news also from the Balkans. The Bulgarians in Macedonia have been defeated. The Serbians are credited with a brilliant victory. Of the fighting on the Russian or Austrian front little is disclosed, but all the recent reports indicate that the Czar's forces are winning at some points and firmly withstanding attacks at other places.

Doious Abuse of Power By Germans

Havre, Sept. 16.—The Belgian Minister of Finance, Alois von De Vyver, has issued the following note:

"According to news from authorized sources, the German authorities of occupation are pursuing against the Belgian population a policy of spoliation even graver than that already denounced by the Belgian Minister of Finance after the first reports in the Dutch press. The Belgian national bank is not the only national bank which they desire to reach.

"The German commissary at Brussels demands that a loan be made to him not of 750,000,000 francs, as first announced, but of 1,000,000,000 francs, of which three fifths is to be furnished by the Belgian National Bank and two fifths by other banks.

All the directors of the Belgian National bank are threatened with arrest. M. Carliere, one of the directors, already has been arrested and taken to Aix-Le-Chapelle, and is being treated with the greatest brutality. He has been forced to wear the prison garb. Such are the barbarous methods of intimidation to which the German government has taken recourse in attempting to insure the success of its forced loan.

"The Belgian Minister of Finance denounces this odious abuse of power by the authorities of occupation. The act is all the more abominable in that it aims at extorting from Belgium, already so maltreated, her own financial resources to use in making war upon her."
