The remains of Richard L. Baker, who died in Fort Fairfield on Friday, were brought to Houlton Monday, and interred beside those of his wife.

Moving to Fort Fairfield from Houlton he took a prominent part in that town's growth, and among other things which he did was to present the Universalist society with a church edifice.

George, empowering him to set up a special court martial "to try certain allegations which have been made against a high official."

The morning papers discuss the subject guardedly. The Daily News says: "The affair is causing a great stir in political and military circles. Among the allegations against the official is that his action in certain army matters has not always been influenced by national considerations alone."

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The London correspondent of the Tribune cables that Sir Henry Dalzel told him yesterday that he intended to follow up his campaign for the confiscation of all German funds in Great Britain, in retaliation for German barbarism. He would carry on the campaign not only in parliament, but also throughout the country if necessary.

"It is the only way of dealing with the Germans," said Sir Henry, "we can't stoop to retaliation by shooting some of our prisoners in return for the murder of Captain Fryatt. The only way is to seize their money, an enormous quantity of which is held in Great Britain. I believe this course will command itself to the whole country, as well as impress the Huns as nothing else can."

Munition Supplies Blown Up, Sunday

New York, July 30.—Property loss estimated at $25,000,000, was caused today by terrific explosions of ammunition, awaiting shipment to the Entente Allies and stored on Black Tom Island, a small strip of land jutting into New York bay off Jersey City. The loss of life still was problematical to night. Two are known to be dead, and at least two more are missing. Scores of persons were injured, some of them probably fatally. All Manhattan Island was shaken by the terrific explosion at 2 o'clock this morning. Windows of buildings all over the lower end of the island were shattered and streets for many blocks in the down town section were literally strewn with broken glass. Thousands of persons swarmed into the streets from all part of the city, from buildings subway exists and railway stations, running about in a panic. Many women became hysterical.

Sixty nine carloads of ammunition are said to have been stored on the rail road tracks on the island. All of them are believed to have been blown up.

The first terrific explosion which shook all of New York City and nearby New Jersey cities, was followed in half an hour by one slightly less severe. There was a continuous series of smaller explosions which resembled the roar of big guns.

The detonations which were felt in five States, began with a continuous rapid fire on small shells, then the blowing of the great quantities of dynamite and other explosives, followed by the bursting of shrapnel shells, which literally showered the surrounding country and waters for many miles around.
