Found Von Igel's German Code Book

New York, April 25.—The documents seized by Federal agents, when they raided the office of Wolfe von Igel, gained new importance to-day through an announcement that among them was a German code book. This code, it is said, unlocked valuable information, since many of the von Igel papers are in cipher. The documents are now in the keeping of the Department of Justice in Washington.

Evidence received by the Federal grand jury investigating the alleged plot to destroy the Welland Canal, convinced the United States district attorney to-day that the government can legally deny the demand of the German ambassador for the return of these papers. Arthur A. Hassell, a real estate agent, who was a witness yesterday, declared that when von Igel leased his office on June 24, 1915, he made affidavit that the rooms were to be used by him "as an advertising agent and for no other purpose."

This evidence, the Federal attorney holds, refutes the claim of Ambassador von Bernstorff that when Federal agents raided the rooms and arrested von Igel, they violated an office of the German embassy.

The attack was centred on Avocourt Woods, and the first line trenches north of Hill 304. In the Woivre, there was a big gun bombardment. The official French statement of this afternoon, in which these developments are reported, says also that a number of German prisoners were taken in the course of yesterday's attack north of the Aisne.

They instantly banish constipation and teething troubles and unlike any other medicine I have used they are pleasant to take and do not gripe the baby." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Will Not Carry Mail To Holland

New York, April 24.—Six hundred bags of parcel post matter, comprising probably more than 50,000 separate packages, mailed for distribution in Holland, are to be returned to the sender in America, because the steamship companies will not carry this mail, owing to the British seizures of parcel post consignments. The British authorities contend that the parcels might reach and benefit the Central Powers.

Furious Struggle On Carso's Hills

LONDON, April 26.—The Morning Post correspondent on the Italian front writes:

"The hills of Carso might well be called hills of death. In no theatre of the war has there been so sombre and tragic a battlefield as the Carso. The main characteristic of this army, whose achievement is sometimes wrongly considered slow or too careful, is that it has never given up an inch of ground conquered on a front of more than 600 kilometres.

"Each shell as it bursts scatters the rocks in a thousand splinters, deadly as bullets. This is one reason why the Italian losses are so heavy. Many corps have been living for months under these terrible conditions. It made me shudder to see many soldiers, exhausted by fatigue, asleep leaning against a trench parapet, with mangled arms, unspeakably horrible, sticking out in many places.

"The Carso is the centre of a furious struggle between the two armies, each endeavoring to wear the other down. The Austrians have concentrated about 1,000,000 men in front of the sector of Gorizia and on the Carso. The next offensive will be one of the greatest of the war. The Italians are waiting, impatiently, sure of victory."

Child Labor Permitted In Making of Lace

Nottingham, Eng., April 18.—The lace trade here has suffered so from a shortage of threaders who have joined the army and the transfer of women to munition works that the government has complied with the request of the manufacturers for a relaxation of the rules prohibiting the employment of females of under sixteen years of age and males of fourteen in branches known as threading the brass boggin, winding, jacking-off and stripping.

William S Saunders

William S. Saunders, district manager in Calgary of the London Life Insurance company, died suddenly at his home, 725 First Avenue, Sunnyside, early Tuesday morning. Mr. Saunders was confined to his house on Monday through illness and on his son Fred going to his father's bedside on Tuesday morning to see how he was it was found that he had passed away.

The late Mr. Saunders came here 11 years ago from Woodstock, N. B., where he had been mayor of the town, warden of the county and prominent in business and political affairs. In addition to his insurance business he was interested in ranching in the vicinity of Cochrane.

He was a man of kindly and genial disposition, charitable and honorable in all his dealings. The late Mr. Saunders was connected with several fraternal organizations, including the Masonic, Odd Fellows and Orange lodges, and was past master of the Masonic lodge in his old home town of Woodstock. He was a life long Liberal and was prominently identified with the Hillhurst Baptist church. Mrs. Saunders, wife of the deceased, died about two months ago. The late Mr. Saunders is survived by five sons and two daughters.

The sons are: Dr. W. E. Saunders of Blackie; H. P., barrister; Murray, of the postal service; Fred the well known commercial man, and Grant, who as a member of the Black Watch regiment, is now ill at the base hospital in France. Two daughters reside in Calgary. They are Mrs. Baker and Mrs. A. G. Niemann.

Dr. E. A. Saunders of Vancouver, and Guy Saunders of Bozeman, Montana, are brothers, and two sisters, Mrs. McElroy and Mrs. McAdam live in Vancouver. Guy Saunders came from Bozeman to attend the funeral, which took place on Friday afternoon from the late home of the deceased and a large number of citizens including many old friends from New Brunswick, now residing in Calgary, turned out to pay their last tribute of respect to the memory of the deceased. Service was conducted at the house by Rev. J. A. Huntley, assisted by Rev. F. W. Datoe, Rev. Canon Montgomery, who has for years been a close friend of the late Mr. Saunders, also paid an eloquent tribute to the deceased gentleman on behalf of himself and old friends. The choir of the Hillhurst Baptist church rendered appropriate hymns. Many floral tributes were sent by sympathizing friends. The Masonic lodge, of which he was a member, was represented at the funeral by a delegation, and the Masonic burial service was conducted at the grave. The mourners included Dr. W. E. Saunders and Messrs. Harry, Fred and Murray Saunders, sons of the deceased, and Guy Saunders, of Bozeman, Mont., a brother, and A. R. Hale.—Calgary Western Standard.

In the death of W. S. Saunders, who has been prominent in business circles here for 14 years, Calgary loses a good citizen. He was a fine type of an honest business man, a generous friend, and a good neighbor. His friends include all who knew him, and his enemies have yet to be discovered. Calgary can ill afford to lose a citizen of the stamp of the late William Saunders.—Editorial in Western Standard.

Real Cause Of The Break.
(New York "Tribune.")
If we are to break off relations with Germany let us at least break them off on the case which stands out boldest in the record, on which our shame has been most flagrant and our national feeling has been most aroused.

To quarrel over the "Sussex" or some similar case while still condoning the "Lusitania," would be unthinkable under any administration imbued with true Americanism. It would cap the humiliation of a diplomacy which has left us without honor beyond our own borders, with not a friend in all the rest of the world.

Tricks That Spies Use Against Enemy

BY HENRI FERRER.
[Toronto Sunday World.]

The ingenious tricks that spies of all armies have devised in this war would fill a volume. A favorite trick has been for the spy to establish himself inside the belfry of a clock-tower, and from there signal to the enemy by means of the clock hands. Of course, a pre-arranged set of signals is agreed upon, and the enemy artillery observing officer knows at a glance just where his shells are falling.

A good story is told of a supposed French infantryman, who came along driving a flock of geese. Unconsciously, it appeared, he came to a standstill just in front of a concealed battery of guns. For some seconds he remained there, and then passed on his way, presumably to drive the geese to a field kitchen. But when, shortly after he had gone on his way, the German guns opened fire on that very spot, killing many French gunners, and putting some of the guns out of action, suspicion was aroused. The infantryman was followed and caught; later he proved to be a spy in the enemy's pay, and he had arranged to stop just in front of that concealed battery. His end was swift and just.
