CANNING STRING BEANS.

Inquiries are asking for a recipe for canning string beans with cream of tartar. We have printed this several times, and readers who have tried it always say that it is particularly good: Wash and cut the beans in inch pieces. Add water enough to cover, and to each quart of beans add one teaspoonful of cream of tartar. Boil 20 minutes and put in fruit cans. When using them pour off the water; rinse well in cold water, and cook in the usual way, adding one teaspoonful baking soda to each quart of beans.—Rural New Yorker.

TO COOK PEAS WITH LEAST TROUBLE

Save the time it takes to shell green peas by cooking them the following way: Carefully wash the unshelled peas, discarding all the bad ones. Put the unshelled peas into the kettle with sufficient hot water to boil them, says American Agriculturist.
When they are cooked the pods will break and rise to the surface and can easily be skimmed off, while the peas stay at the bottom. Peas cooked this way have a much better flavor.

NEW ENGLISH METHOD OF PRESERVING

Pears, apples and other fruits are reduced to a paste by jamming, which is then pressed into cakes, and gently dried. When required for use it is only necessary to pour four times their weight of boiling water over them and allow them to soak for twenty minutes and then add sugar to suit the taste. The fine flavor of the fruit is said to be retained to perfection. The keeping qualities are excellent.
No paring of coring is required so there is no waste.

CHEESE AND RICE BATTER

Make a batter of one cupful of flour, one egg well beaten and one half cupful of milk. Beat it thoroughly and set it aside for at least half an hour. Then add one half cupful of boiled rice, one half cupful of milk, one half teaspoonful of baking powder, four tablespoonfuls of grated cheese, one half teaspoonful of salt and a dash of Cayenne pepper. Mix well, put into a buttered baking dish and bake in a hot oven twenty to thirty minutes. This must not stand after it is taken from the oven.

CHOCOLATE RICE PUD-DING

Two-cupfuls of rice, four eggs, two-thirds cupful sugar, one teaspoonful vanilla, three cupfuls milk, one-half teaspoonful salt, one square chocolate.
Grate the chocolate and melt in a double boiler; add to the milk, salt, and sugar; then stir in the cooked rice. Add the beaten yolks and half of the beaten whites. Flavor with vanilla, pour into a pudding-dish and bake in a slow oven until the custard is set. Make a mer-ingue with the remaining whites of eggs and a little sugar, and spread over the top of the pudding; then return to the oven until a delicate brown on top.

The War News

(St. John Globe.)
Although the Kaiser last week proclaimed confidence in Bethmann-Hollweg and his war policy, Bethmann.
Hollweg is no longer Chancellor of Germany. He has been driven from office by a force of popular opinion against which the Kaiser himself found it prudent to bend. The overthrow of the Chancellor by the voice of the Reich stag is the evidence that the German crisis is more than a flesh in the pan.
The people have won a signal victory.
They have made their voice heard, and if the new ruler is not satisfactory they will make it heard again. They have taught Germany's rulers something—how much, remains to be seen. Germany is probably yet a long way from that measure of parliamentary reform which will establish the rule of the people, but Germany, under the influence of Russia's example, has taken a real step and it will not be the last, for events military as well as events civil are spurring the people to action.

A further powerful incentive is found in the openly-expressed Hungarian dissatisfaction with the Teutonic alliance, and in the increasing Bavarian bitterness toward Prussia. The Kaiser has other than military worries these days.
His troops are striking powerful blows against the hated British in an effort to win successes that will allay the popular fear and stem the rising tide of revolt. These blows are really aids to the Allies, as they weaken German strength.
Failure to secure a victory in the West while Russia is striking telling blows in the East increase Austro-Hungarian anxiety for peace and German dissatisfaction.

The longest wagon bridge in the world—10,392 feet in length—nearly two miles—crosses an arm of beautiful Lake Pend d'Oreille at Standpoint, Ida. It required 1,864,109 feet of lumber to construct this bridge, which included 2,748 cedar, fir and tamarack piling, the combined weight of which was approximately 7,478,000 pounds.

Left Swiss Hospitals
Today

Paris, July 17.—German officers and men, aggregating 825, who are suffering from incurable maia-dies, left Swiss hospitals to-day for Germany. The transfer was arranged by the German and French governments, Germany agreeing to the transfer to France of an equal number of incapacitated French soldiers interned in Switzerland.

Cheaper Poultry Feed

On account of the scarcity and high price of feed the Poultry Industry of this country is threatened by the prospect of the wholesale slaughter of laying stock and a serious falling off in the number of pullets to be matured.
The necessity for retaining for milling every possible bushel of wheat suitable for that purpose need not be emphasized. To provide poultrymen with feed for rearing their young stock without unnecessarily lowering the supplies of milling wheat, the federal Department of Agriculture has requested millers throughout Canada to put on the market the cracked and shrunken wheat removed from grain before it is milled.

In addition to small and broken wheat these cleanings consist chiefly of the seeds of wild buckwheat, a near relative of the cultivated buckwheat. The Poultry Division of the Central Experimental Farm has used wild buckwheat in feeding experiments and reports it to be a highly satisfactory poultry feed and has ordered two cars of buckwheat screening for the Central and Branch Experimental Farms from the Canadian Government Elevators at Fort William.
Fowls used to good grain do not take to it at first but when they become accustomed to it they eat it readily and do well on it.

The mill cleanings from local flour mills also contain traces of many other weed seeds, including several kinds of mustards. These, however, would not as a rule amount to more than two or three per cent of the cleanings in the case of the standard grades of Western wheat. This material is specially recommended for backyard, suburban and professional poultrymen. On farms the cleanings from yards and poultry-houses where it had been fed would have to be disposed of so as not to disseminate noxious weeds in grain fields.
Those interested in obtaining this class of feed should immediately arrange with local mills or feed dealers for a supply. The mills cannot be expected to keep this material for poultry unless it is demanded for that purpose and that rests with that poultrymen themselves.
