THE DISPATCH OFFICE

THOSE QUEER OBJECTORS

Many Are the Pleas of the Unfitting Recruits

Dundee Munitions Tribunal refused to grant a clearance certificate to a bitter who alleged that he was not engaged on direct Government work, but in the making of looms. It came out that the looms were for the Government of one of the allies, and the tribunal took the view that the words of a schedule issued "intended or adapted for use in war" covered the employment in which the applicant was engaged.

A Sutherlandshire applicant, on being refused complete exemption, explained that he just put in the application for total exemption in the hope of getting time to settle his croft up. "Give me time to put down my croft," he said, "and I'll fight the d—ser-man any day. I'm not afraid of them; no, no, not me." Temporary exemption was granted.

The Appeal Tribunal for the Lothians, Edinburgh, and Peebles refused the appeal of the Rev. Dr. Drummond, Edinburgh, on behalf of his assistant. At Inverness two brothers were asked to decide which of them should go, when the younger, amidst applause, promptly volunteered. At Lovan a Royal Scots private ineffectively pleaded for exemption from foreign service on the ground that he was too frightened to go.

IRISH LEADERS FIGHT

Nationalist M.P.'s and Sons Don the Khaki

The following is a list of the Nationalist members of Parliament now serving in the army: Captain Gwynn, M.P., Captain Redmond, M.P., Captain Sheehan, M.P., Captain J. L. Esmonde, M.P., Lieut. W. A. Redmond, M.P. In addition the following members have been serving in the army: John Madmond, M.P., Hugh Law, M.P., Joseph Nolan, M.P., David Sheehy, M.P., T. M. Healy, M.P., M. Healy, M.P., J. Walsh, M.P., Mr. Thomas Landon, M.P., has a brother at the front, and Lieut. T. M. Jettie, late member for East Tyrone, is serving with the forces, while the son of Sir Thomas Esmonde, M.P., is a midshipman on the Invincible. Capt. John Esmonde, late member for North Flipperry, has been killed, and Mr. John Fitzgibbon, M.P., has lost a son.

Scotch Nobility Fight

Lord Mar and Kellie's elder son, Lord Erskine, who is in his father's 21st regiment, the Scots Guards, attained his majority in 1916. It is difficult to realize that the graceful and youthful looking Lady Mar and Kellie has a grown-up son. The Countess is the fourth of Lord Shaftesbury's handsome sisters, and was Lady Violet Ashley. The Earls of Mar are predatory tutors of the Royal children of Scotland.

BLAME BERRY PICKERS

For Forest Fires in Settled Parts of Canada

Many causes are responsible for Canada's heavy forest fire losses. Some of the erstwhile greatest offenders have come to realize the destruction which their negligence was causing, and have developed systematic measures to overcome the loss. Several causes of forest fires have, however, received sufficient attention. Dr. C. D. Howe states that in the settled areas, one of the chief classes of persons responsible for fires are berry-pickers. Smouldering camp fires, or sparks caused by smoking, fall into dry grass or brush, starting small fires; fanned by a high wind the fires rapidly become uncontrollable, spreading from the berry patches to the larger timber.

It should surely be necessary only to draw the attention of berry-pickers to the destruction which their carelessness or indifference is causing.

Flying with a strong wind, the carrier pigeon covers 1,000 yards a minute.

The farther the water of the ocean is from the equator the less salt they contain.

Simple Burglar Alarm

Making a burglar alarm with a piece of clothes pin and an electric bell would not occur to the average person, but the feat can be accomplished and a most effective and disturbing alarm it makes. The sketch shows how the thing is done better than an explanation in words. The tip of the clothes pin should be wound with insulating tape before the bare wires are wrapped around them. A switch should be provided else the alarm will ring every time the door is opened whether in daytime or at night.

Attack on Roulers was Terrible

(Montreal Gazette.)

Amsterdam, Oct. 17.—The Telegraph says the air attack on Roulers arsenal was one of the most dramatic and terrible episodes of the Flanders struggle. The arsenal is a new building in the Place d'Armes. The Germans had quartered troops within the arsenal, which is spacious and of several stories. They only arrived at four in the afternoon. A squadron of British airmen appeared at half-past nine and suddenly pelted the building with incendiary bombs. These penetrated the roof, causing great columns of flames to ascend high above the arsenal. The Germans fled screaming and gesticulating, but those in upper stories saw the exit threatened. Flames licked round the staircase, where wounded and dying lay groaning; desperate men jumped out of windows demented. Germans ran to the Place d'Armes, trampling over each other in their haste. Then the airmen descended and shot them with machine guns. The noise of the guns and bombs awakened those sleeping as far as Isegem; people looked towards Roulers, above which the glow was great, as if the whole town was ablaze. The correspondent does not know how many were killed in the arsenal, but heard figures, which he does not mention for fear of exaggeration. The place was strictly shut off until all traces of the dead had been removed. Charred bodies hung out of the burnt windows.

At 50 years of age THE KIDNEYS NEED HELP

There is no reason why, when a man or woman reaches the fifty mark, he or she should not feel full of energy and happiness. It is true, greater care must now be taken to drive away the lesser ailments, which, if neglected, may develop. Proper attention to the Kidneys suggests

Where Could They Fight?

Two yokels were discussing the probabilities of the Germans invading England. The older of the two was most emphatic in his contention that the Germans would never get there. "And if they do," he went on, "where be they going to fight? Gaffer wouldn't let 'em on 'is meadow, and I be main certain 'e old squire wouldn't lend 'em his park."

Two hundred and fifty lives were lost when the French steamer, Medie, was torpedoed Sept. 23 in the western Mediterranean. The explosion of the torpedo detonated the munitions in the ship's cargo. There were more than 500 passengers on board the steamer including soldiers and prisoners of war.

THIS SHAVING BRUSH IS USED BUT ONCE

A sanitary shaving brush which is designed to be used but once and then thrown away has been patented recently. To a handle of wood or other inexpensive material, is fastened a meshed bag, or gauze container, in which are pieces of sponge and a small amount of powdered soap. By immersing the brush in water and then applying it to the face a lather can be worked up readily. The device is designed for use in barber shops particularly so that each patron may have his face lathered with a brush used on no one else. Since inexpensive materials can be employed in making these brushes, they can be discarded after being used once.—Popular Mechanics.

Care Well For Hens

To know what a hen is doing is a requisite to the improvement. When it is known that a hen produces from 25 to 30 pounds of eggs in a year it means that she must be fed so as to assist her in doing so. She should have the kind of feed that contains the elements of the egg in their most available form. Well cared for hens should give at least a 50 per cent. supply of eggs. Hudson says laying hens should never be so fat as to prevent the gizzard being felt. If food is given in excess of what is required to support life, it is disposed of mostly in three ways; some hens put on flesh, some fat, and some lay eggs. The flesh can be found in the breast, wings and thighs, the fat in the stern and abdomen, and the eggs in the nest.

Picking Good Layers

A writer in an Australian paper, in writing about picking out the best layers, said they cannot be infallibly detected by their appearance, but a first class layer is never a drowsy, lazy-looking bird. On the other hand it is bright looking and active, is early in the forage in the morning, and late in going to roost at night. Her eye is usually bold and bright, and her comb very firm and blood red. But the Australian writer says he has had some extraordinary layers which had very little in outward appearance to distinguish them from birds of ordinary laying capacity.

Soap and Automobile

Soaps of any kind will not harm the running gear of an automobile. Of course, some discretion is used in washing the parts free of any of the cleaning agent after the dirt is removed. Wheels will stand a moderate use of soap, but require much care to see that they are not scratched by indiscriminate use of the sponges.

The Generous West

An immigration man persuaded F. Lamborn, a native of Denver, to visit Saskatchewan some three years ago. He did so and bought a 2,300 acre farm near Herschell, Sask., and he now has sufficient money to allow him to live in comfort for the rest of his life.

He bought 2,300 acres for $12 an acre and sold the farm for $65 an acre, getting $126,500 for the land he bought for $27,600. He had 1,340 acres in flax his last year on the farm. His crop netted him $37,800; he got 41,000 bushels of flax for which he obtained $1.40 per bushel. Mr. Lamborn made his living for three years and in addition cleared $1,000 of some $150,000.
