CAMP-ASTLE

The home of Mr and Mrs Geo H Aslie, 25 Spring street, was the scene of a very pretty wedding at 3 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, June 20, when their youngest daughter, Mary Ethel, was united in marriage to Mr Fred Moore Camp of Woodstock, N. B. by the Rev Thomas Whiteside, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in the presence of about twenty-five relatives and intimate friends of the bride. The double ring service was used. The wedding march was played by Miss Marion Bamford, niece of the bride. The bridal party stood under an arch of pure white honeysuckle.

The bride was attired in a dress of net over net with embroidery and wore a veil with wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Nell Gulliver of Fort Fairfield who wore old rose crepe meteor and carried white carnations. The best man was Mr Burns McIntyre of Houlton.

The groom's present to the bride was La Tausca pearls, to the best man gold cuff links and to the bridesmaid a brooch. After the ceremony dainty refreshments of sandwiches, cake and punch were served, the dining room was effectively decorated in pink and white.

The bride has lived in Houlton nearly all her life, and for a number of years was a valued stenographer for the law firm of Doherty & Tompkins. She is a young lady of sterling worth and character, and has a host of friends who extend good wishes.

The happy couple left on the Ashland train Thursday for a ten days' trip to Portage and Madawaska lakes. Many handsome and useful presents were received. -Houlton Times.

Lieut. Robert B. E. Wilson

The following are extracts from letters sent home by Lieut. Robt. B. E. Wilson, son of Mr and Mrs Benj. Wilson of Hartford, from "Somewhere in France."

April 4—I shall try to find time to write a few lines to-night. I wish you a happy Easter and Hedley a happy birthday and many of them. As for myself I am in the pink of health (as the boys say) and was never in better training. I never was prouder of my battalion than I am now; our work is wonderful. This is a beautiful night and having some lovely weather here now.

Don't worry about me, mother; you know I'll do my best, and it's not my life I care about, it's those dear boys who have followed me for so many months under fire. I am perfectly pleased with my career. I think I have made the best of life and will fight to the last for Canada.

April 19—Am glad to say that I am resting after coming through one of the greatest battles the world has ever seen. You have probably read about it; we drove the Bosche out of his position, and pursued him several miles. I found myself left in command of my company before going 100 yards in the attack. I did my best and am pleased to say I was praised by my commanding officer for my part in the fight. It was one of the proudest and most exciting moments when the Bosche began to file out of his holes in the ground, with his hands up, in great crowds, but I shall tell you all about it some day.

It is very rainy here; we seldom see a fine day. Am living in a tent at present; got your beautiful box just the day I came out of the trenches. I was hungry and the cake was awfully good.

May 1st—This is a beautiful morning; the sun is shining and I am sitting on the brow of a hill in a big shell hole, waiting for an ineffective cloud of gas (which the Boschies put over last night) to clear away, so I can turn my field glasses on some Bosche positions. This is the slackest morning I have had for some time; nothing done this morning only inspect my boys' rifles. I am in the best of health and spirits after having my first shave for about two weeks at 1 a. m. this morning.

I did not tell you that I lost my finest batman yet, Nason, of Woodstock, wounded in the battle of Arras. He was shot through the leg and kept on with me until we had captured the German positions and some hundreds of prisoners when he fell in a shell hole exhausted. I would like you to let his sister, Mrs Wilcox, know of his bravery.

May 9—We are out having a glorious rest in a great camp under canvas behind the line, a beautiful day. I have been promoted to the position of machine gun officer, a little safer and cleaner job than I have had the last six or seven months, being on the staff now. Had a rather hard trip last time and my nerves are a little shaky having to bury some of my men with my own hands at midnight after the battle under a heavy fire.

My colonel feeling I had done my bit under fire very kindly gave me a safer job. Of course I go into a scrap yet but not as much in front as before.

On the day of the great battle of Arras the 9th April was when I did my trick. I'm not boasting but—

Well, I must away, am still a very busy man.

June 4—I have not received a letter for some time. I guess our pulling through.

The Canada Temperance Act

The policy of the Dominion Alliance is to encourage the repeal of the Canada Temperance Act (Scott Act) in counties in which it has been operating. Where this is done the new Provincial Prohibitory Law would then become effective.

It is always easier to enforce one uniform law. The New Brunswick Government cannot put its new law in effect in Scott Act counties as the latter is Dominion legislation, which has precedence over Provincial legislation. Friends of temperance, who live in Scott Act counties, are, however, asked to co-operate in the more thorough enforcement of that Act so long as it continues in operation.

We are out for a long rest now. I like my position as machine gun officer fine. I am a sort of instructional officer on machine guns.

Well, dear mother, address me Lt. B. B. E. Wilson, M. C., now. I won the military cross during the battle of Vimy, for rushing a German machine gun and killing and taking crew prisoners. I was the only one of my party, who volunteered to go with me, left alive. It's a pretty little white and purple ribbon on my left breast. When I go to England I shall probably go to be decorated with the medal by the King.

My best love to all. Never worry about me. I am always

PROHIBITION went into force in Ontario, September 16th, 1916. "Since Prohibition has been enforced, Toronto has become a different place from the point of view of the police," declared Lieut.-Col. H. J. Grasett, C.M.G., Chief Constable of Ontario's largest city. "The stations are almost empty, the streets are quiet."

"The number of arrests for drunkenness during the past six weeks has decreased to a marked degree as compared with the record for the same period in 1915. From September 15th to October 15th they were:

Under License, 1915 - 1,059 arrests
Under Prohibition, 1916, 214 arrests"

Such was the immediate effect of Prohibition in the largest city in the world to be under such a wide measure of temperance law. It is always the large centres which find the greatest difficulty in enforcing Prohibition.

"Evidence of satisfaction with this era of Prohibition is being given constantly by men who were never known to be temperance advocates," said Col. Grasett.

The "Chief" stated that information had been received by himself and his men to show that the retail store-keepers were benefiting in many parts of the city as the indirect result of Prohibition.

On account of the effect of Prohibition, the City of Toronto considers it unnecessary to replace the men enlisted for the war. The force is now decreased by 100 men.

The annual cost of maintaining the police force in 1916 was estimated at $18,000 less than that for 1915.

In February, 1917, the Chief of Police issued his annual report for 1916. Arrests for drunkenness for the three months ending December 31st were, compared with the same period in 1915:

In 1915 (Under License) - 3,347 arrests
In 1916 (Under Prohibition) 1,922 arrests
Decrease 59.45 per cent.!

Help to Enforce Prohibition

No matter where you live, whether your district is under the Canada Temperance Act or under the New Prohibitory Act, you are urged to use your influence to the fullest extent within your power to aid the officers of the law in strict enforcement of province-wide Prohibition in New Brunswick.
