Local News

Page Eight

Presentation

On Wednesday evening June 20th a number of the young lady friends of Miss Pearl Robinson from Woodstock and Upper Woodstock were invited by the Misses Cowan to meet at their home at Upper Woodstock, where they presented Miss Robinson with a mis cellaneous shower, including linen, cut glass, china and silver. A dainty sup per was served at the close of the even ing, and on Friday evening, the 22nd the "tiny tots" gave ber a complete sur prise by marching to her home, all dressed in white and showering her with very many useful articles in kitchen ware.

Harry wiley Shot Dead by William Glenn

Wm. Glenn shot and instantly killed Harry Wiley on Saturday morning and is now in the county fail at Woodstock. The bullet was fired from a Snider rifle and went through the right breast and out through the shoulder. The preliminary examination will be held before Police Magistrate A.D. Holyoke some day this week.

Both men belong to Divide, a few miles from Glassville, this county. Glenn has been living alone on his late father's property, is 35 years of age, unmarried, six foot in height, weighs 180 pounds and is a dead shot with a rifle. There is a farm house between his house and Wiley's father's house but the farms are connected, a line fence running between the properties.

On Saturday morning Wiley

E. W. MAIR PRESCRIPTION Druggist, The

PERSONALS

June 27

Mr. E. J. Clarke, was in St. John this week on business.

Miss M. D. Clarke, spent part of this week in Gratton, the guest of Miss A. M. Rankin.

D. D. Baird, of River de Chute, was in town last week on business. He was a caller at "The Dispatch" office.

DISPATCH. THE

Memorial Service for Charles Henry Bull

Continued from page 1

while we show honour to his memory along with that of other brave men at Vimy and while we demonstrate our sympathy for his own kith and kin, I would ask you to think of his wife, her self the sister of heroic brothers, and his sunt confined for many months to her bed of sickness and thinking during the long hours of watchful waiting of him who was almost as a son.

He might have excused himself for not volunteering. He was married and had one little child. There were others with greater claim than he but all ex least give our sympathy to those who cuses were laid aside at the call of duty.

He had a commission in the militia but after a period during which the op portunity of going overseas in that cap acity did not come he resigned his com mission and enlisted in the ranks. I had a conversation with him shortly before sailing and during it he expressed satis taction that he had done so and I detect ed in his voice the note of sadisfaction at his own self conquest and that he was ready to do just what others had done "to go in his country's service in what ever capacity she asked." Nor was that all. He was given Sergeant's stripes and when in England found that these would prove a bar to going to the front, so these too were resigned and he served as a private. He wrote letters telling his relations what he contemplat ed doing and asking their advice. They would not hold him back, "Do," they said, "just what you think right and he thought right to go just as the other worthy heroes of the Empire had gone in whatever capacity the country want ed, ready to serve just where or how was best, to do their bit in any position, and "he died at Vimy" what more glorious epitaph cculd be written of any man. Vimy, a name, which will find Valley R. R. north of Contrevila place alongside the name of Ypres and will be inscribed large and in glor ious letters in Canada's history. In much will be done in contract years to come that will be one of the names with which the inspiration of generations yet unborn will be tied and we shall glory in telling of the Canadians leaping from the shelter of the par apet to meet the pitiless fire with unflin ching courage and to drive the German^s from their hives, and we shall never think of Vimy without thinking of our last Saturday on a small tast. representative who met his death there, | He was nearly exhausted when and you especially, whose relatives came through unscalled, will never forget the one who dia not come through. We have our own satisfaction in these boys who went from our midst Practical proof of this commendable and played their part so nobly in cir cumstances which called forth the great first expected. est courage imagicable and they will be forever enshrined in our memory as those who gave their all on our behalf. Their deeds speak and they speak in a language which all can understand and this year, which together with She was married to Mr Gibson, who which rerhaps shames us by the nobility. These three considerations present themselves through their glorious dea th. 1. "Their readiress to offer" Think of these boys but a few months ago en gaged in the other vocations of peace and home right in our midst in this town so far removed from scenes of war. Yet at the front we see them pited against the trained soldiery of Germany npheld by that vast military machinery we see them passing through scenes of horror absolutely unimagin able. We see them meeting all the hid eous devices of war yet ready at it all though the heart yearns for home and comfort and ones loved ones because it is their duty. 2. "Then think too of their nearness to God." Try to picture those boys mien while the priest celebrates that service which means so much to us all and which has meant so much to the long line of heroes of the past who nave gone from it to meet their God. they turn their thoughts to the homeland so far away, where others too had made their Easter communion-and wait for the dawn-brave and collect most in our serects, but the need into Empire thousands are plus gloom, and each community has its grief.

We must not-we dare not refuse our meed of sympathy to those strikes homes. Believe me true, genuine sympathy counts to much more than we imagine. Perhaps those who sorrow can only truly enter into the sufferines of others but if we fail, we lose a gior ious opportanity—an opportunity of keeping cur fellow men and of keeping ourseives by communion in the fellow ship of suffering-sympathy does not require ostentation or a gift of speech, it can shine through the roughest exter ior, and everyone can grasp its meaning. In it language is of the simplest character and most often is unexpress ed. We cannot do much, but we can at suffer on our behalf.

CENTREVILLE

There was a baptism at Tracy Mills last Sunday when seven of the candidates for baptism received that rite.

Lightning damaged one of the barns on the Amos Gregg farm to some extent. This property was purchased not long ago by Howard Hartley.

The Centreville Agricultural Society have decided to have an' Exhibition this fall. A considerable preparation will be necessary to put the grounds and sheds in proper condition.

Farmers continue to plant and sow and everything seems to be having an unusual rapid grow.

Surveyors are working on the le, but it is not probable that work during the present season.

and his brother repaired this fence. Glenn came out from his house and tore down the fence. Angry words passed between the brothers and Glenn, after which the fatal shot was fired.

Harry Wiley was 30 years of age, unmarried, son of a former County Councillor, Edward Wiley. He is survived by his parents, two brothers, Edward and Frank, and three sisters. He was the respected son of honorable parents who are mourning the loss of another dearly beloved son who was killed in the present war, and who are once more so sadly afflicted.

Sheriff Foster, Chief Kelly and Deputy Sheriff Mooers left here at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning and returned at II o'clock in the night with the prisoner, Glenn, who, after firing the fatal shot, returned to his home and was there when the officers arrived. A brother of Glenn entered the house and after some persuasion induced him to give up the gun and shortly afterwards he went from the house to where the officers were who made the ar-He made no statement to rest. the officers who warned him not to do so. No Pla

The prisoner who is of a respectable family, his mother residing in this town, is considered by his relatives to be of unsound mind and they give the following example: He was so afraid of others stealing his property, they say, that he used to nail up all the doors of his barns in the evening and tear out the nails in the morning when he was ready to feed his stock.

his farewell sermon Sunday, July 1st. Mr. C. E. Stephenson and Mr. families are mourning their dead, and Millicent Sutherland. Oldest and Strongest face the future with a weight of sorrow and Mrs. E. Packard and chilmanna Duchess. BURN which nothing can lift. It is such things as this that bind dren, of Florenceville, motored Companies. "Giorio us victory of the British CONNELL, - At Woodstock on Tuesday the Empire together in the bonds of to Woodstock on Sunday and Troops" we congratulate ourselves and Queen St., Woodstock, N. B spent a few hours with relatives. nell, a son. June 26, to Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Con abiding affection. This type of arisbeam with joy and satisfaction as we sarme criticia . June -Sand Strates 1. 7 1 31 ville, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Judson Shea, Grafton,

The members of Woodstock Lodge A. F. and A. M. marched to St. Luke's church on Sunday June 24, where the Rev. A. S. Hazel preached a special germon.

Mrs. Charles McLean and son Dr. C. R. McLean Ph. D., of Montreal, are visiting friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. David Dykeman, of Kirkland, were in town this week. Mrs, Dykeman was a caller at "The Dispatch" office.

Mrs. H. L. Wallace and Mrs. F. Drinkwater, of Houlton, spent Tuesday in town, guests of Mrs. A. F. Winslow.

Master Hilton Wallace, of Houlton, is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Winslow.

resday morning for Windsor, N S., where she will visit Miss Reid for some weeks. They expect to spend the month of July at Mr. Reid's summer cottage at to, may be introduced. It is as fol-Kingsport.

Mre. W. S. Sutton, Mrs. J. T. Mont gomery and Miss B. G. Walker, secre tary of the St. John Presbyterial, town, Mrs. S. S. Miller, of Hartland and Mrs. R. J. Millar, of Richmond, have return ed from S'. Stephen where they were attending the St. John Presbyterial. While in St. Stephen, Miss Walker was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mac-Wha, Mrs. Montgomery, the guest of Rev. Rederick and Mrs. MacDonald, Calais, Mrs. R. J. Millar, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. D Ross.

Misses Pauline and Louise Prescott arrived home on Wednesday, from Edgehill School at Windsor, N. S., and will spend their holidays with their father Dr. Piescott.

Rev. C. S. Young of Plaster Rock preached Sunday, June 10th, at Apohaqui, Kinge Co., N. B. Mr Young has received and accepted a call to this church and will begin his work July 8th. After spending nearly six years on the Tobique, Mr Young will preach

Railway Agent'or write N. R. DESBRISAY.

District Passenger Agent, St. John, N. B.

SYMPATHY FROM A DUCHESS.

Much has been written of the noble and self-sacrificing attitude of the British aristocracy, both men and women, since the outbreak of the war. spirit has recently reached Woodstock in the form of a letter from the Duchess of Sutherland to Mrs Lincoln Gibson of Lower Main Street.

Mrs Gibson was formerly Miss Munro of Southampton, York County. was of English parentage, some five years ago, and lived in Woodstock some time, her husband being in the employ of Mr Wallace Smith, the well known lumberman. About a year Miss Jean Smith left on Wed. 1 ago Mr Gibson went overseas with the 140ch Battalion, and after a time in England went to the front, where, a short time ago, as a stretcher-bearer, he was severely wounded in the discharge of his duty on the battlefield. At this point the letter above referred lows:

> No. 9 Red Cross Hospital Millicent Sutherland Ambulance Army Post Office 4, British Expeditionary Force,

> > May 28th, 1917

Dear Mrs Gibson:-It is with great sorrow that I write to tell you of your kneeling with bared heads and reverent husband's death in this hospital. You would have heard that he was very badly wounded, and although everything possible was done for him, it was impossible to save his life. He died peacefully, and without pain, and God was brought very close to those was thinking of you up to the very boys and serene in that consciousness last.

He will be buried in a little cemetery just outside Calais beside many other brave men who have, like him, given their lives so nobly, for King and ed.

country. I am sending you some letters, and a Testament which he had with him here, as I thought you would like to have them.

> In deepest sympathy. Believe me, Yours very sincerely,

3. From what has happened we can learn companionship in suffering "Two or three aeroplanes do not re turn, a successful trench raid, but severe al casualties," and we casually glance tarough the news item, but somewhere throughout the Empire, two or three

A young man by the name of Charles Stoddard had a narrow escape from drowning, by being carried over the Sherwood dam recovered.

The heavy rains of a week ago did some damage to the growing crops but the injury will not be as great in this section as was at

The good condition of the grass at this season, gives the promise of an abundant hay crop that on hand from last year will make a good deal of business for the buyers of a suitable market can be found for it.

Mrs. J. A. Sylvester and son. Rob-ert of Malden, Mass., arrived on Thursday evening to spend the summer with her parents, Mr and Mrs C R Watson, Connell Street.

RIDEOUT-PHILLIPS

On Tuesday afternoon the house of Mr and Mrs William Phillips of Knowlesville was the place of a joyous fee-tivity when their daughter, Lollian, was married to Clifford Rideout of Peel. A large company of friends were present and the pretty and useful gifts were as numerous as the happy congratulations.

RELIABLE INSURANCE Fire, Life and Accident Perley S. Marsten, Successor to Astle & Cosman, Representing the