Sir Edward Carson On New Campaign

London, Feb. 1.—Sir Edward Carson, First Lord of the Admiralty, referred to Germany's new submarine campaign in a letter accusing himself from addressing a war loan meeting to-night, on account of indisposition. He wrote:—

"We are daily threatened with increasing acts of barbarity on the high seas by the enemy, who has long substituted the practice of pirates for the laws of nations. I do not delude myself, nor will I attempt to delude you about the dangers of the German submarine campaign.

"These ruthless, inhuman attacks upon the peaceful shipping of the world have created for us and our Allies a problem as difficult as it is grave. But this at least, I can say—the problem is being grappled with day and night by the Admiralty with tireless vigor and our hourly anxieties only stir us on to greater unceasing effort."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Cure fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

London, Feb. 22.—The Times says that there is nothing surprising in the German notes to those who are nearest the war. It contends that the communication is merely "the logical application of principles upon which Germany has acted from the outset, namely, necessity knows no law." The Times sees in the speech of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg a proof that his real attitude on the submarine question has been constant throughout, although in his dealings with the United States, "he has sometimes sacrificed principles to expediency."

"He now proclaims," says the Times, "that he was always ready to adopt ruthless U-boat war as soon as it seemed likely to bring Germany victorious peace. So he flings aside the pretense of humanity unctuously affected in his former notes to President Wilson."

Referring to the note to the United States, the Times says: "It is for the American Government and people and for them alone to take the grave decision that these insolent demands require."

Paris, Feb. 2.—Rear-Admiral Lacaze, Minister of Marine, speaking in the Senate yesterday, declared that only one-half of one per cent, of all the tonnage which entered French ports during the last eleven months have been sunk by German submarines. He said that this percentage might be a little higher in the future, but that no efforts of the Germans could prevent the final victory of the Allies.

Admiral LaCasse spoke in reply to an interpellation by Senator D'Estournelles De Constant in regard to the responsibility of the government in the submarine warfare. Senator D'Estournelles criticized the administration for allowing the Germans to take upper hand in the submarine campaign.

In his reply Admiral LaCasse said: "The Germans are trying to do now what they always have done. The world ought to know that they have endeavored to terrify us since the beginning of the war. Disregarding the humanitarian engagements they made at the Hague they have not hesitated to throw crews and passengers into frail boats and abandon them to the waves in tempests far from any coast. In a great many cases, even recently, numbers of their victims who could not be reached in time, died of hunger, thirst and cold. What more horrible than that can the Germans do? There is not a man in the world who has not learned with horror of the deeds of which the Germans have been guilty. The declaration of to-day does not move us. The army, the navy and civilians all maintain the same calm before the horrible crimes of our enemy."

Slave Raids In Full Swing

The Hague, Jan. 30.—The deportations of Belgian workmen continue, but at a slightly lower rate than previously, according to information from an unquestionable source. It is said that the deportations from Brussels are now being made at the rate of about 350 men daily. Many of these men, it is alleged, are not idlers, but skilled workmen, who have been engaged for at least a part of their time in their trade.

In some provinces the Belgians, it is said, are adopting method of passive resistance in efforts to escape deportation. This resistance takes the form of failing to appear at the appointed place for examination. Out of 1,700 men called in five communes near Malines, not more than one-half presented themselves. Thereupon the German military authorities arrested three prominent men in each commune, holding them as hostages until the appearance of the absentees, who in the mean time were hunted by squads of soldiers. In Brussels many of the summoned men who failed to appear are now in hiding.

About one thousand Belgians connected with the work of the American Relief Commission—members of provincial and communal committees or helpers in storerooms, mills or soup kitchens—have been deported to Germany over the strong protest of the commission. As a result of vigorous protests, however, a few of these men have been returned to their homes and no others are being taken.

Selling the Cow

"She's an awfully good old cow. Our children think the world of her. You'll like her immensely."

"And how much milk does she give?"

"Don't know exactly, but she's a nice cow—first class."

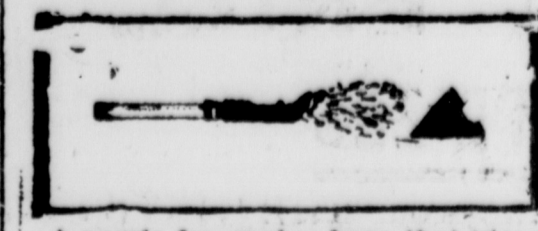

"Well, you must have some idea—does she give a gallon at a milking?"

"Never kept very close track."

"But you must have a rough notion about it. Does she give as much as half a gallon a day?"

"Couldn't say definitely. She's an awfully good, kind old cow, though. If she's got any milk she'll give it to you."

Why Buy a Spray Nozzle?

A nozzle for garden hose that throws only a straight stream can be made to spray by the attachment of a triangular piece of wire netting to the end. The base of the triangle is made long enough to permit the ends to meet around the nozzle just below the outlet. This will cause the apex of the angle to bend over the outlet, but at an angle and the angle is sufficient to deflect the water in a fine spray. The netting is attached tightly to the handle with wire.

LEARN HOW TO SWIM

Good swimmers are drowned now and then, but most of the victims lose their lives because they are not able to swim. As between the swimmer and the non-swimmer the chances for escape in an emergency are as ten to one. The point of the important lesson is driven home with emphasis every summer, and still it apparently heeds urging as much as it did twenty years ago. Most people seem to regard swimming not as an important accomplishment, but merely as an optional recreation, like golf, tennis or alpha painting. And yet any of us may be confronted at any time with a crisis that makes swimming an art more important for the moment than that of walking. The folly of the common neglect is heightened by the fact that it is an art as easily acquired as the ability to walk. And once acquired it is never lost.

AUTO MOTOR NOT ALL

Other Parts That Owners Need to Understand

A writer on motor cars says: It has often been said that owners know too much about the motor, and their knowledge of it tends to remove their attention from the clutch gearset and the remainder of the power transmission system. We all like to work around machinery we know something about, but in the case of motor car owners, they should endeavor to learn more about the running gear and its parts.

Universals, brakes, wheel bearings and many other parts not as accessible as the spark plugs, seem to be forgotten until something goes wrong with them. The owner does not wait for a bearing cap to fall off before he fills the crankcase with oil, and similarly he should not wait until there is excess play in the universal before it gets its supply of grease or graphite. It is difficult to keep universals well lubricated, even when the bearing is periodically filled. These parts are just as important as the motor, and should receive just as much attention and at frequent intervals. There will be no buckling, and the end play in the propeller shaft assembly or clutch, if the parts are properly lubricated and kept.

ABSORBS SHOCK OF AXE

Device is Really a Shock Absorber For Axe Handles

A shock absorber for an ax has been designed, to minimize the vibrations which are felt in an ax handle when the blade is engaged in vigorous chopping. The handle of the implement fitted

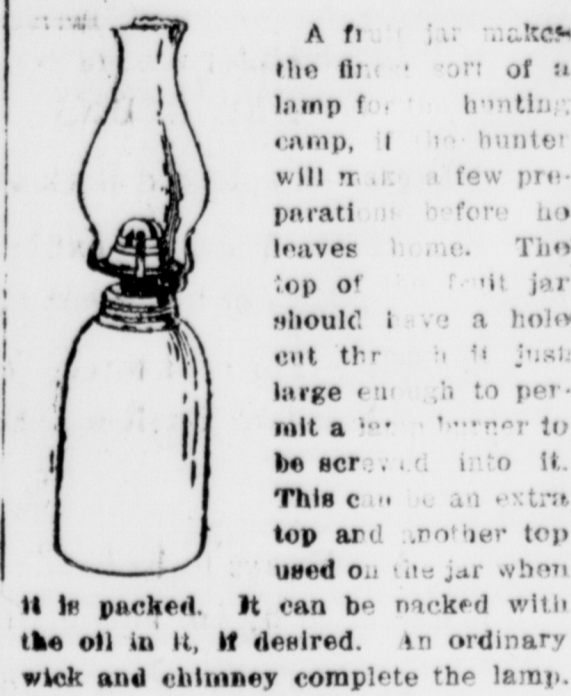

With this device does not extend into the head but is fastened to it by means of two short spring-steel rods. One of these is bolted to the upper edge of the wooden member and the other to the lower edge. The former extends through the head and is fastened by a nut; the latter describes a downward curve and is fastened to the head by two bolts. This gives the handle a resilient connection with the head without lessening the force of the latter's blow when it strikes into the wood.—Popular Mechanics.

"SPRING ONIONS": POET

Famous Police Court Rhymster of London, England

"Spring Onions," or to give him his full title, Mr. William "Spring" Onions, the police court poet, and a well known character in East London, died at Hatfield. Mr. Onions, after making police court history with a record of 500 appearances, came under the influence of the Church Army, and from that time onward began to appear periodically before the magistrate to "report progress" and read his "spiritual pilgrimage" in rhyme verse—a kind of spring song of his own composition.

CAMP LAMP MADE FROM FRUIT JAR

A fruit jar makes the finest sort of a lamp for the hunting camp. If the hunter will make a few preparations before he leaves home. The top of the fruit jar should have a hole cut through it just large enough to permit a burner to be screwed into it. This can be an extra top and another top used on the jar when it is packed. It can be packed with the oil in it, if desired. An ordinary wick and chimney complete the lamp.

MAKING A PORTAGE

How to Ease the Weight of a Canoe

It has been said that the portages cure more people of the woods fever than anything else to be found in the wild lake country. The burdens one must carry at the portages are certainly discouraging even to the most enthusiastic and cause much backache and general soreness.

The carrying of the canoe over the portages has always been a problem. Some of the canoes are so large that it is impossible for one man to manage them. This device would not do for them. But for the smaller and lighter boats a much easier method of portage has been invented than the old custom of raising the canoe over the head and walking with it in this uncomfortable manner, with the arms bearing much of the weight.

A canoe rest for the shoulders has been devised that is made of four pieces of stout board and lets the entire weight fall on the shoulders without straining the canoe or the man who is carrying it. The four pieces of board are fashioned into a frame which is provided with padded notches for the shoulders, on one side and on the other smaller notches at each end into which fall the battens of the canoe.

Waste in Potatoes

Enormous waste is caused both in material and nutritive value by the peeling of potatoes before cooking them. There are thousands of pounds of potatoes wasted every day through the peelings. To be convinced of this it is only necessary to note the bulk of the peelings when you peel the potatoes before cooking. But this is not the only waste. When peeled potatoes are boiled in the ordinary way, there is a loss of nitrogenous and saline matter by extraction into the water, which does not occur when potatoes are boiled in their skins, as baked.

Northern Potato Seed Best

Authorities agree that northern-grown seed will give the best results in old Ontario and that immature seed does better than mature seed. "In parts of Scotland," said Professor Savits of Guelph, speaking on this point, "they grow an early crop of potatoes and then plant a later crop for seed purposes, and they find that the immature potatoes make the best seed, and the same result has been found at the college; potatoes not fully matured make better seed than a well matured potato."

Arm is For Food

A rather curious fact is that the bones of the arm are arranged primarily for the purpose of carrying the hand to the mouth—food being, of course, the first necessity of life. If you do not believe it, try it for yourself and see how much more naturally, when your arm is bent, your hand moves in that direction than in the other.
