EVERY ROYAL HONOR CARRIES A NUMBER

Thus Precedence in Appearing Before Royal Personages is Always Determined

In the United Kingdom all matters of precedence before royalty are carefully settled, and nothing is left to chance. In fact, each person who bears a title, or occupies a position entitling him to any precedence at all, has a number showing his exact position in the scale of relative precedence according to that work. Lord Decies number is 13,126, while Mr. Borden's number is 18,337—a good way lower down. As a matter of fact, however, the numbers prefixed to the various names, though indicating the relative position of those entitled to precedence, do not show the actual numerical position of each. Thus Lord Decies number of 13,126 does not mean that there are 13,126 persons of higher rank than his. Nor does Mr. Borden's number of 18,337 persons of higher rank than his. What is signified is that they belong respectively to classes thirteen and eighteen—Lord Decies, as a Baron, to class thirteen, and Mr. Borden, as a Privy Councillor, to class eighteen—in the scale of precedence, called, for convenience, 13,000 and 18,000 respectively, and that the honours from which they derive precedence are respectively 126th and 337th in order of seniority in their own degrees. The numbers prefixed to each name, in fact, combine two ideas.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's number is 24,112—224 higher up than that of the Prime Minister. For, though both are in the eighteenth class, as Privy Counsellors—this class comprises Knights of the Garter, Knights of St. Patrick, and Privy Counsellors—Sir Wilfrid Laurier's number is above Mr. Borden's for the reason that the former was created a Privy Councillor in 1907, and the latter not until 1912 and the Prime Minister of Canada is not, as such, in this scale of precedence at all. In fact, it is a members of "The Most Honorable Privy Council of Great Britain" that he and the leader of the Opposition hold their places in the scale. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, it is true, is a G.C.M.G., or Knight Grand Cross of St. Michael and St. George, is entitled to precedence in the scale of precedence, but is one very much lower down than that which his Privy Councillorship entitles him to—indeed, in fact, with the number 27,000 instead of 18,112.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is the only Canadian G.C.M.G. But there are quite a few K.C.M.G.s, or Knight Commanders of St. Michael and St. George, whose order of knighthood entitles them to a place in the thirteenth class of the scale of precedence. Thus Frederick Borden's number 30,234; William Mallock is number 30,295; Allen Aylesworth is number 30,418; Joseph Pope is number 30,444; Sir M. Gibson is number 30,445; Sir Edmund Roblin is number 30,450; Sir Edward McBride is number 30,451, and so on. Canadian knights bachelors are almost like the sands of the sea for multitude. And we have our fair share of them in Toronto. But the knights bachelors are not very high up in the scale of precedence, their forming the 33rd class, and, in fact, they are so numerous that they overflow into the 34th. Among other numbers are the following: Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, 33,573; Sir Henry Pellatt, 33,833; Sir William Mortimer Clark, 34,004; Sir Edmund Osler, 34,414; Sir Glenholme Falconbridge, 34,965; Sir Edmund Walker, 34,226; Sir Lyman M. Dunnington, 34,311; Sir William Mackenzie, 34,268; and Sir Donald Mann two numbers below his brother railway agent.

Housing Poultry Machine There is no doubt that poultry houses built of concrete would be excellent winter quarters, but we should be saving the inside of the house when it is washed and plastered or double lined. Houses built entirely of lumber and double walled, with heavy lining paper between the walls, can be made just as comfortable, and are better liked by the majority of poultrymen, than houses built of any other material.

Actor Loves Criminology It is curious what hobbies some actors have. That of Mr. H. B. Irving, for instance, is criminology, and one did find him at every notable criminal prosecution. He was regular in attendance at Bow Street when the case of George Joseph Smith was being heard.

The King gave 2,000 pheasants to soldiers during three months.

MOUNT CAVELL HAS ITS UNIQUE FEATURES

Glacier Upon It Resembles Woman Robbed in Spotless White—Was It Selected By Inspiration?

The mountain in Jasper National park that perpetuates the memory of Edith Cavell, the English nurse who suffered martyrdom at the hands of the Germans in Belgium, is a striking pile, whose summit reaches to a height of over 11,000 feet above sea level, and is about 12 miles south of Jasper, from where it can be clearly seen at any time when not obscured by clouds. Its northern face is covered by snows and glaciers, and when lit up by the rays of the sun or moon presents a splendid spectacle, and it is regarded as being a most appropriate monument for the unfortunate victim of Hunnish hate.

Strange Figure Lying between Mount Cavell and a high, sombre, verdureless mountain, as yet unnamed adjoining at right angles there is a remarkable glacier of immense size, which, at close range resembles the prostrate form of a woman attired in robes of white, with outstretched arms, one extending to the side of each mountain and the feet reaching down to the great ice bed at the foot. This figure creates in the minds of those who see it impressions associated with the supernatural, and it lends an additional interest to the memorial mount.

In Mournful Attitude On the nameless mountain, which it is proposed to call Mount Sorrow, there is another remarkable figure which nature has carved from the solid rock with wonderful fidelity. It is that of a woman in an attitude of mourning, standing over a tomb-like basin. Except at the feet, there is no cleavage between the figure and the mountain, and from the point from where it can be seen best it is strikingly realistic, even to the garments, which look like buckskin, the stone being stained a brownish yellow. The life-like appearance of the figure is so very real that impressionable people will doubtless conclude that it was by no mere chance that the memorial monument in memory of the departed nurse was chosen, but by inspiration.

Not Yet Explored It is estimated that there are about 100,000 square miles, or about one-eighth of the land surface of the world waiting to be explored by discovery.

THE ANIMALS' HEALTH

Owens in the Toronto Zoo Ranks Good Patients

"A long way the healthiest animals here," said Mr. E. Goode, superintendent of the Ilfordale Zoo, Toronto, "is the elephant. We have had her about ten years, and she has only been sick or sorry once in the last five years, and then she had only a slight cold."

Speaking generally, Mr. Goode was of the opinion that the denizens of the Zoo made good patients. The great majority of them, he was convinced, are more insensible to pain than are human beings. And they have nothing like the same conception of death or suffering. Under this rule, however, he made some exceptions. A sick monkey, he said, was one of the most pily-suffering of the world. To see a monkey die was pitiful in the extreme. It showed just the same kind of feelings as a human being does.

"I should say that the leopard is the most delicate of the animals we have here. He has a shorter coat than either the lion or the tiger, and a cold wind affects him. We lost a leopard two years ago from pneumonia. That is really the chief disease of which we stand in dread. On the whole we are extremely free from illness at the Zoo."

"Black and brown bears give very little trouble. They are naturally strong. And when they are feeling not quite up to the mark, they will drink cod liver oil freely out of a cup. Beavers are healthy, as well as industrious. But they fight like fury. Where a male and female are together, and have a family, and found a colony, they are all right. But put in a strange beaver among this colony, and they will kill him inside of twenty-four hours. They will cut his tail off, and tear holes in his back. And all this will be done under water. Beavers can stand any amount of pain. I have known a beaver badly maulled and gangrene set in under half of his body as well as dead. And yet he would still keep on drifting."

TO REMOVE THE DUST, USE A SCREW DRIVER

Put a Paint Brush in the Ratchet Driver And Try It

Cleaning tufted upholstery work is one of the most difficult jobs imaginable. The dust collects in the hollows and it is almost impossible to get it out by ordinary methods. This is especially true of leather furniture.

The ordinary dust brush must be cast aside and if absolute cleanliness is wanted a ratchet screw driver and paint brush must be used. The handle of the paint brush is cut, about 1 1/2 inches being left on the brush. This is cut V-shaped, as shown in Fig. 1. This permits the brush to be attached to the blade of the screw driver with stout cord, shown in Fig. 2 and the tufted places are cleaned out by simply pushing the brush into them and whirling it with the ratchet as the screw driver would be turned.

Swallowing Eight-pennies A man living swallowed eight pennies in a three-months' attack belonging to Elsie Kibbey, of Astor town, N.H., has been relieved of the trouble.

The pin was swallowed head foremost, the head entering the stomach. The sharp end could be felt under the jaw. A veterinarian cut a small hole in the cat's throat, worked the pin out as far as the head, swung it around, and by bending it slightly, pushed it head first from the cat's mouth.

Insurance Bill in Australia The Commonwealth ministry of New South Wales is preparing a national insurance bill on the lines of Lloyd George's measure. Provision will be made for benefits for funerals, maternity sickness, accidents and unemployment.

Beer or a Pension "If a man was to save the price of a pint of beer a day from the time when he is 18 years old, he would have an odd-age pension of £100 a week at 70," said Dr. Fraser, of the local government board, at the National Society, London.

HUNNISH TURK DEEDS

The following description given by an Armenian woman of the upper class, is typical of the fate suffered by hundreds of other beings. After describing the murder of every man over fifteen in a surprise attack by Kurds, and how their horses, valuables and food were taken, she continues: "Very many women and girls were carried off to the mountains, among them my sister, whose only child they threw away. My mother died until she could go no farther, and dropped by the roadside on a mountain top. We found on the road many who had been in the previous batches; some women were among the killed with their husbands and sons. Many persons were obliged to start off on foot—and with what they could carry on their backs. Such persons naturally became so weak that they fell behind, and were bayoneted and thrown into the river. At the Euphrates, the brigands and gendarmes threw into the river all the remaining children under fifteen years."

Of the districts assigned to the Armenians a Professor Hagopian writes: "These unhappy deported people have been chiefly deposited in two places—one section of them in a swampy region which has either remained uninhabited on account of the deadly malaria; while the remainder have been sent to a still more unhealthy place in the direction of the Persian Gulf, that is, Der-el-Zor, so bad that they have begged to be sent to the swamps, but their petition has not been granted."
