It is earnestly to be desired that AND FASHIONABLE both Provinces will make great advances in breeding improved stock from this out, as it is the only means by which they can reap the full benefit of the new trade with England in addition to the home demand. The fine show of stock made by St. John at the late Exhibition is very encouraging, many of the animals there shown being really very fine specimens of the different breeds. trol of the money she might, perchance, waste it! The subject of money supplies in the home opens a wide field of thought to the husband. Will be cultivate it? Many wives of the middle class have been accustomed to earn their own support, to purchase their own wardrobes, before they were married. But after marriage all is changed; they must ask for what they require rather than have it paid them quarterly. At first their wants are Sought, like the rest for both riches and place; few, or all supplied; but one or two years alter their outlook, and it becomes very dreary. Can the husband understand this? We think not. He will tell you, "my wife has all she asks for," never dreaming how many days it requires to summon her courage to ask for necessities. "An utterly false statement," exclaims some one; "there's no woman afraid to ask for what she needs," Just inquire of your own wife how she feels on such occasions, and unless she is afraid to speak the truth, your eyes may be opened somewhat.

> TO MAKE A WALL PROTECTOR .-Every housekeeper now-a days has splashers at the back of her wash board, to protect the wall. A very pretty one can be made of white oilcloth; cut the length of the stand and trim the edge with crochet work of a bright color. These are very durable, and can be washed off with a sponge when soiled or dusty. Splashers of white muslin, gathered over blue or pink cambric, with a small ruffle at the top and sides, and ribbon bows at the corners, are very pretty, though not as durable as those made of oil-
