Maritime Farmer.

FREDERICTON, N. B., OCTOBER 4, 1879.

Commercial Union of the British Empire.

Sir Alexander T. Galt, in his paper defending or apologizing for the tariff, showed the way into a wide field of discussion.

Sir Alex. T. Galt says that a political confederation of the British Empire is quite possible. There is nothing, or hardly anything impossible to will, energy, and perseverance, and if Sir Alexander will devote all his time and all his energy and all his talents, and stake his reputation on the result, he may induce practical politicians, and leaders of public opinion to take hold of it.

It is not without effect, for the subject has been discussed intermittently ever since. But it would have required more than all the resolution, commanding ability, and persistent energy which he threw into the contest for responsible government to have brought the subject into the field of practical politics, and caused statements all over the Empire to seriously take hold of it.

It is allowable to compare great things with small. Previous to confederation there was a movement to bring about a commercial union of the Maritime Provinces, but the necessity that the Province lay under to raise revenues by custom duties and the differences of their financial needs made the union impracticable.

School Matters.

Since the intimation in a late issue of the MARITIME FARMER, of the intentions of the Board of School Trustees to cut down expenses as far as possible, without impairing the efficiency of the service, the Trustees have had another meeting, when they went fully into the present and prospective state of the finances, and we learn, while the Trustees are fully satisfied that a reduction in the number of teachers, and in the salaries paid is necessary, they see no reason to apprehend any difficulty in carrying on the ordinary work of the Schools, or that their present efficient staff will be interfered with.

Frederick occupies a very enviable position as an educational centre, and we should be sorry that anything should render it necessary to disturb existing arrangements. Indeed, we feel that the Trustees are taking a very prudent course, and one which the public will heartily endorse.

By adopting this course the expenditure may be considerably reduced without inflicting great hardship on any one. The salaries have been gradually creeping up for the past two or three years, and perhaps this is all right while times were good and living dear, but now when times are hard and every thing cheap, the employees of the Board can very well submit to a fair reduction, and we think this will be done without any grumb-

Our University.

It may be questioned if there is a University more favorably situated than the University of New Brunswick. A seat of learning is not of place amidst the bustle and stir of the work-day world, the grove is its proper site.

Our University has all the seclusion conducive to study, and while the student is allowed to wander the watchful eye of his professional guardians, he is not cut off from social amenities. And how beautifully is it situated on its hill, amidst its trees. Other colleges, to keep within the bounds of the Dominion, may command fine prospects, but the view from the flag tower of our University is unrivalled.

The Revolution in the Schools of Quebec.

Charles Francis Adams, Jr., United States Minister to England, during the Administration of President Lincoln, has published a pamphlet which gives an account of a great revolution in the schools of the town of Quincy, Mass.

Some of the intelligent citizens, members of the School Committee, awoke to the fact that the children of their schools were not being educated, but simply taught like so many parrots; that the majority of the graduates of the grammar school neither spoke nor spelled, read nor wrote, their own language properly.

Our University is rising in public favor. Give man, dog, or institution, a bad name, and ten to one their fate is sealed. But it has been otherwise with "our University."

Crime in Ontario.

Judgment has rapidly fallen on Clark Brown for the murder of his kind old father, and his young sister, under the most appalling circumstances, at West Winchester Village.

That part of Kingslear known as Spring Hill is a lively and inviting place. The scenery is magnificent on every hand. The undulating hills form a striking landscape.

The roof of the Parliament buildings at Ottawa caught fire yesterday. No great damage is reported to have taken place.

Prof. Duguid was sent by the Privy Council of England to inspect the cargo of Canadian live stock on the steamer "Quebec" upon her arrival at Liverpool. He reported "no trace of foot and mouth disease," which was suspected.

Some time ago it was made known that the government of Prince Edward Island intended to dismiss Mr. Manning, their Superintendent of Education.

The Nova Scotia Exhibition was opened on Tuesday, and Lieut. Governor Archibald in answer to an address, made an interesting speech. It may be gathered from it that there is a large increase of improved stock in the Province in 1879, compared to what there was in 1854 when an exhibition was held.
