Maritime Farmer.

FREDERICTON, N. B., September 2, 1880. Our Second Volume.

With this number we commence the second volume of the MARITIME FARMER. We are happy to state that the farmers of the province are giving us more and more of their support, and are more fully recognizing the importance of having a paper especially devoted to their interests.

The position of the farmers in the province, makes the publication of a paper in their interests an urgent necessity. The farmers as a rule have, we may say, been slow to realize the importance of their position in the commonwealth, but they have now risen out of their state of apathy: are making efforts for self-improvement, and are taking in their time-honored avocation a "proper" pride.

In conclusion, we beg to remind merchants and business men generally, that our columns offer a valuable and continually improving medium for advertising, and that advertising, in these days, is the first necessity of all who, in any calling, expect to secure the favor of the public.

The report, given in the English papers, of the interview which the gentlemen representing the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, and others, (all members of Parliament), had with Sir John A. McDonald, in London, is rather interesting reading.

A war between Russia and China has been one of the changeable rumors of the time. Threatening reports have been followed by reports more pacific, and these again have changed to statements of a minatory tone and so on, so that it has been difficult to decide whether the chances for war were stronger than those for peace.

They do not accuse China of fearing Russia, but take ground that she intends her course in respect to the unlucky Kulja negotiator to be understood as expressive of a desire to settle by her own means, and without bloodshed, the settlement of several local matters within Chinese territory, in which Russian subjects were concerned.

A flock of girls is called a bevy; a bevy of wolves a pack; a pack of thieves a gang; a gang of angels a host; a host of porpoises a shoal; a shoal of birds a herd; a herd of children a troop; a troop of partridges a covey; a covey of beauties a galaxy; a galaxy of ruffians a horde; a horde of gullies a heap; a heap of oxen a drove; a drove of jackals a mob; a mob of whales a school; a school of worshippers a congregation; a congregation of engineers a corps; a corps of robbers a band; a band of locusts a swarm; and a swarm of people is called a crowd.

Remarkable Shooting.

In the primitive days of bows, there were some extraordinary marksmen, Robin Hood, for instance, who could, with an arrow, split a pealed wand at a distance of hundred yards or so, and, since the era of rifles, there have been some very remarkable shots, but we do not, if at any time, recollect a better marksmen than Dr. John Ruth, a young man, who has had much pistol practice on the Pacific slope.

It was then that Dr. Ruth's turn to show his skill. Leveling the pistol at a stationary ball, he held the weapon so steadily that the lesson he failed to give a whistle, and so surely as a bullet sped, just so surely was a glass ball shattered and the feathers scattered into the air. Then the attendant held the pistol, and the doctor placed it in the hands of the broken glass. This feat he performed several times, and then he took the rifle and fired into the air, and the doctor placed it in the hands of the broken glass, and he will probably make a stand before Candahar, (though some believe that he will retreat to Herat without risking a battle); if he does we believe that Gen. Burrows' defeat will be amply avenged by Gen. Roberts, that Ayob Khan's force will be scattered, and that he will have, in his flight, cause to reflect on the fugitive nature of the glory.

An anxious reader of the Scientific American, submits a reprint of an extended and detailed prophecy made about a year ago by C. A. Grimmer, of Kingston, Jamaica, and asks their opinion of it. It answers:— Mr. Grimmer professes to be an astrologist, and to base his predictions upon the position of the four great planets, whose conjunction in 1880 will produce, one universal carnival of death from 1870 to 1887.

A French paper tries to make out that Dr. Tanner is a humbug, and laughs at the credulity of people who believe that for forty days he fasted from everything save water.

The contest in West Toronto, for the seat vacated by the Hon. Beverley Robinson, on his elevation to the Lieutenant Governorship of Ontario, between Dr. Beatty, Mayor of Toronto, Conservative, and Ald. Ryan, Liberal, excited more interest than by-elections ordinarily do.

The discussion of Irish affairs has this session tended greatly to interruption of business, and to introduce confusion into the British House of Commons. Ireland is not only unhappy in herself, but is the cause of much unhappiness, anxiety and misery to many outside her.

The Exhibition Room. This month the Dominion enters upon its exhibition season, which, this year will be uncommonly lively. Though the holding of any exhibitions is no absolute proof, that the country is prospering, it is a sign that things are going on pretty well.

The Harvest in Great Britain. The great agricultural authority in England, James Caird, has said in a letter to the London Times, that the agricultural returns of Great Britain and Ireland show, compared with 1879, a slight increase in the average of wheat, a decrease of 7 1/2 per cent in barley, an increase in potatoes of 10 per cent, and so on.

The British railways during 1879 carried no less than 502,735,800 passengers. Of these only 38,907,174 were first class, and 63,430,544 second class, while 400,398,082, or more than eight-tenths, were third class.

A company to lease Cincinnati by steam is now in process of organization with a capital of $1,000,000. First rate business men are engaged in the venture and express full confidence in its success.

The latest article of consumption that has been found feasible and profitable to preserve in a satisfactory manner, is butter. An establishment for that purpose having been started in Watertown, N. Y.

A physician in Pierce County, Wisconsin, has been successful in curing a patient on a collection tour, and every man who could pay, but wouldn't, was soundly whipped.

An Iowa woman, by her will, left an old arm chair to one of her sons. In the stuffing was found a roll of bank notes amounting to $4000. The legal question is whether the money belongs to the son.

Afghanistan.

A battle was shortly to be fought for the relief of Candahar. It was expected that Gen. Pkayre would be able to reach within eight by the 25th of August, but on the 25th he appears to have been more than fifty miles from it.

The London Spectator lately asked if any one would point out a stiff piece of work for British capitalists. Sir John McDonald has offered them the Pacific Railway, which no one will deny is a piece of work of the description inquired after.

A good deal has been said by papers in different parts of the Province, concerning the dismissal of Mr. Nicholson, (whose ability as a teacher, all who knew him acknowledge) and grave reflections have been cast on what one of the said papers styles the educational "bureaucracy" in Fredericton.

We learn from the Daily Oregonian, published in Portland, Oregon, that one of Fredericton's noted boating men, and a jolly fellow to boot, Mr. Edward H. Allen, has proved his quality "on West", and has come into notice as an excellent oarsman.

The Fredericton Railway will issue Return Tickets from Fredericton to Boston, for ten dollars ($10), on the 10th and 11th September, good to return until the 20th, also will issue on the 10th and 11th, good to return until 23rd September.

Trains will leave Fredericton 9.15 a. m., and arrive in Boston 6.30 a. m. Returning will leave Boston 7 p. m., arriving at Fredericton 4.40 p. m. Among other attractions there will be a grand procession of forty thousand Odd Fellows' in Boston on the 13th.

From all sections of the country come the most favorable reports as to the condition of the crops. The hay is over and the yield has been a good one; it was feared that great damage had been done to the Island grass by the army worm, but the reports were greatly to the contrary.

A leading lumber dealer of Montreal gives some startling facts in regard to the lumber trade, and the great waste of timber in the country. According to this lumberman, who has been in the business twenty-five years, but four of the northern States are now able to furnish timber beyond their own needs.

It is stated that five hundred million dollars would not purchase abroad all the lumber consumed in the United States annually; and as a supply cannot be brought easily or cheaply from the Pacific Coast, there is a strong necessity to protect the timber districts included in the public domain, and to be "Doubtless the time will come when tree-planting shall receive the encouragement it is given in other countries, and doubtless, also, a demand will arise for the duty on Canadian lumber, in order that we may have an opportunity to husband our own falling supply; but there should be no hindrance placed in the way of immediate energetic measures for the protection of the timber lands of the United States not yet surrendered to private or corporate control."

The receipts from the first class were $2,877,084; from the second class, $2,458,504; from the third class, $13,868,580, or about twice as much as the receipts from both the other classes combined. These figures are striking evidence of the advantageous result of increasing the facilities afforded to third class travellers, and also suggests very strongly the necessity of increasing the passenger rates as in the end no 2¢ profitable to the railways than excessive rates.

On a recent night, the three young lads were walking on the top of the cliffs at Trophæus, near Macduff, in Scotland, a seagull alighted on a short distance in front of them. One of the lads, Walter Peterson, aged seventeen years, sprang forward and attempted to catch the bird. In doing so his foot lighted on a projecting stone, which gave way, and he was hurled over a precipice from a height of 350 feet. He was dashed to pieces. His remains were gathered together and conveyed to Macduff in the course of the evening.

Dr. Gian, who owns and farms 60,000 acres in California, sent eight ships loaded with last year's wheat, of his own raising to Europe, and is so pleased with the results of dispensing with intermediaries that he will do the same with this year's wheat.

From 1874 to 1880, Chicago had 159 murders, 27 of them occurring on July days, and only seven in February.
