FREDERICTON, N. B., February 3, 1881.

Meeting of the Local Legislature. By this day week the legislature will in session. The long interregnum of local political quiet will have come to an end, and the battle of the "ins" and the "outs" will in upon, and the busy tide of legislative life will pass up and down its stairs, and take possession of its halls. Fredericton will welcome the wisdom of the Province, happy in the thought, that as long as the Legislature by its presence. The citizens will be glad to lators once more among them, and we hope, that such as have the power will show their appreciation of their presence. $25,200 00 There is a rumour that the government will be confronted by a vote of want of confidence. It is almost a matter of course that the opposition should try the respective strength of parties, and waste too or three weeks in the attempt to break down the strength of the government. Mr. Blair, like a Sisyphus, will attempt to roll the opposition stone up the mountain side and place it in the height of power, and will extend much power and oratorical breath in the futile labor. But his ambition and his party, if not his country and its good, demand so much of him.
