In conclusion, allow me to say I have confidence in the capabilities of New Brunswick as a farming country, and in her sons as those capable of developing her resources, and although her progress is not as rapid as we might desire, yet it is permanent, and we hope for greater soon.

Mr. S. L. Peters endorsed the views given expression to by M. Estabrooks, and in his speech said the intervale lands on the St. John River are becoming less productive.

Mr. Sharpe, of Sackville, reported that grain was below the average. Roots are largely raised for feeding stock, and stock is gradually growing better. Between 700 and 800 cattle had been exported from Sackville and Westmorland Parishes during the last year, and that number will be largely increased. He said it would be more advannight. Loss is occasioned because cattle are never shipped at first time on account of the room being all taken up by the Canadians. The League adjourned until 2 P. M.

We shall conclude our report next week, and among the interesting subjects discussed is the care and management of stock, and the breeds best adapted to New Brunswick.
