retiring from that position which he has held for five years, issued a valedictory address to the Board of Directors. That paper rives in a condemned form, a clear idea of the marvellous progress, resources, earning power, and value of the great property unler his administration. The progress of the company's lines indicates also to some extent he business growth of the United States within the last five years. In 1877, when Dr. Green's predecessor issued his annual report, the gross receipts were stated at $9,-300.000, the net profits, at $3,100,000; in 1882, the gross receipts were over $17,100,-000; the net profits, over $7,100,000. The same if not greater rate of increase is confilently expected during the coming five years and this would give $31,500,000, as the CAMP BLANKETING, and this would give $31,500,000, as the gross receipts and $16,000,000 as the net profits. In the five years from 1877 ,the mileage of lines has been increased from 76,-955, to 131,032, and of wires from 194,233, o 374,294 miles; the number of offices from 7,500 to 12,050, and of messages from 21,-158,941 to 39,000,000. The W. U. T. Co, is looked upon by many, as a gigantic monopoly, but according to Dr. Green's statement, its position is not based on exactions, but rather upon an extension of business, the natural result of reduced rates, increased facilities and efficiency. That position is now considered impregnable against all competition. We should say that Western Union Telegraph Company stock is the most desirable of all American investments if its stock. that is now selling at 95, comes to be worth, five years from this time, 2.00, which it will be, when the net annual profits reach
