

Town and Country.

A number of interesting communications appear elsewhere.

The adjourned Nisi Prius Sittings will commence on Monday, the 24th inst.

The Methodist Church people expect to have their new organ in running order next Sabbath.

Mr. Ellis, M. P. of the Globe, has been visiting his friends here. He returned down yesterday.

A fancy sale was held in the Madras School Room yesterday, by the ladies of the Church of England.

It is said that Evans & Robinson's Circus and Menagerie, will make a tour of the Maritime Provinces in August.

The Freeman was called on Monday forenoon to submit the blazing embers of the Exhibition building ruins.

The annual meeting of the N. B. Railway Company, is to be held at Gibson, on Thursday August 3rd, at 10 A. M.

Rev. Joseph McLeod has been granted six weeks leave of absence, and Rev. Mr. Reid, of Keswick, will fill his place.

A Strawberry Festival is to be held by the ladies of St. John Church, Belmont, to-morrow afternoon and evening.

Lieut. Col. Mansfield, D. A. G., Ottawa, and Mrs. Mansfield, have been visiting their friends in this city, and were warmly welcomed.

Mr. Treas. Rainford requests us to notify Municipal Tax Collectors, of a 10 per cent discount of 3 per cent, on bills of the Union Bank of P. E. Island.

The twelfth Annual Convention of Labrador workers of which Mr. Wm. Leitch, of this city, is president, will meet at Dartmouth, N. S., on Friday August 4th.

Preparatory work—can-making, etc., has been resumed at Hogg's Canning Factory, George St., persons being employed.

Canada will commence the first of August. The members of Hiram Lodge, F. & A. M. have decided to hold a Moonlight Excursion on Monday evening the 31st inst., on the David Weston, which has already been secured.

Rev. J. C. McDevitt, solemnized the nuptials of Miss Kate Williams of this city, and Mr. J. E. O'Malley, of Chatham, at an early hour Monday morning, in St. Dunstan's Church.

Rev. Dr. Sprague, who assumes the pastoral charge of the Methodist Church here, has been granted six weeks vacation, and during his absence the pulpit will be supplied by Rev. Mr. McGill.

Parties in the Market to-day are asking $1.50 per peck for new potatoes. At that price, a barrel would cost $10 per bushel, and each individual potato five cents, rather an expensive luxury.

The body of the young lad, known as "Nobody Johnny," who mysteriously disappeared from Douglas, last fall, was recovered on Friday, from among the logs in the Douglas River.

THE VITAL FORCES are speedily renewed by Mack's Magnetic Medicine, the great brain and nerve food, it is the best and cheapest medicine ever discovered. See advertisement in another column.

Election petitions have been filed against the return of all the St. John City and County M. P. P.'s, the Westmorland members, and also the Kent men, as well as against Mr. Lyonn, in Madawaska, noted elsewhere.

Social gossipers are excited over the approaching nuptials of several well known young men in the city, among whom are mentioned a prominent city physician and four young business men. The "events," with one exception, will be celebrated here.

The cards of Mr. J. D. Hazen and of Mr. A. L. Belyea, Attorney-at-law, appear in our advertising columns. Both are prepared to attend promptly to the business of all kinds, and are entitled to a fair share of patronage.

At the closing exercises of the Nova Scotia Normal School at Truro last week, Miss Otis Smith, teacher of drawing and handicraft, and Mr. A. W. Smith of this city, were presented with an elegant gold breast pin by the student teachers as a mark of esteem and affection.

Mr. John Richards, Grand Master of the Odd Fellows Association, in the Maritime Provinces, has returned from an official visit to Nova Scotia and P. E. Island. While absent he was the recipient of many kindnesses from the brethren, especially at Halifax.

Henry Macdonald who is in jail pending his trial for alleged perjury in Scott Act cases, attempted suicide on Monday by cutting a belt around his throat. He was found in an exhausted condition by the jailor's wife and relieved from his dangerous position.

Mr. R. Napier, Manager of the B. N. A. Bank has returned from his holiday trip to Grand Manan, looking much invigorated. Mr. Deacon, of the St. John Branch, who has been absent from the office during the latter's absence, and who made man during his brief stay in this city, returned to St. John yesterday.

Bears are reported as very plentiful in the county this season, and are causing much destruction to the farmers' crops. On successive days, recently, in the Miramichi district, Harry Brant was shot six of these animals, and most remarkable, he killed two with a single discharge of his reliable barreled gun, loaded with ordinary shot.

A curious abduction case occurred in Montreal on the 18th inst. A three-year-old son of M. Smith, a wealthy merchant, was taken from his cot and a note left, saying the child would not be returned unless $10,000 in gold was paid. Mr. Smith was absent at the time of the abduction, but his wife and mother were in the room.

There was much excitement in Margareville Monday afternoon over a report that a little child of Henry Morrill's had been devoured by bears while picking the mills. The child was found dead, and the bears started off to the woods in search of the child, but however was safe, and was innocently returning home by one road, while the searchers were on another.

The contract for the erection of the new Presbyterian Church, has been awarded to Mr. Lawlor, who will commence work in less than a month. The contract price is $18,400 and the building will be of limestone, faced with granite.

The Teachers' Institute closed its session on Monday, and throughout interesting, estid and instructive. We regret, however, to observe that there is an apparent falling off in attendance, there being only eighty-four ladies attending this session, as against one hundred and seventeen in 1887. Before adjourning a resolution was passed, providing for an Educational Exhibit at the Dominion Exhibition at St. John in 1888.

Interest in the Scott Act election is increasing, and when the time for voting arrives, which will likely be about the middle of September, excitement will be at a fever heat. The temperance party are organizing and have already held a public meeting in the City Hall, which was addressed by Mr. Hunt of Boston, Rev. Mr. Phillips of Ontario, and Rev. Jos. McLeod. There will be lively work on both sides before polling day.

The Citizens held a meeting Monday evening, at Mr. Hatten's new office, and talked over matters generally. A code of by-laws for the Club was adopted, a local match to-morrow afternoon, was arranged, and a decision arrived at to challenge the Monoton Club for a match in St. John next week in August. A committee was appointed to arrange with one of the city bands, for an excursion on the occasion. Mr. E. H. Allen, was appointed Field Captain, vice Collector. Straz resigned.

The banking facilities of Fredericton are being extended by the addition of two new agencies here—the Maritime Bank of St. John, and the Bank of Nova Scotia. The former occupies the lower store in Devere's Building, opposite the stone barracks, and the vacant shop in Sharkey's Block is being fitted up for the latter. Mr. Blair, who is to have charge of the Maritime Bank Agency, has arrived and is ready for business. The other will open as soon as the arrangements in the building can be perfected.

Council March of Queensbury, we understand, will not again seek Municipal honors, having opposed the stone barracks, and the City Hall, which was addressed by Mr. Hunt of Boston, Rev. Mr. Phillips of Ontario, and Rev. Jos. McLeod. There will be lively work on both sides before polling day.

The Citizens held a meeting Monday evening, at Mr. Hatten's new office, and talked over matters generally. A code of by-laws for the Club was adopted, a local match to-morrow afternoon, was arranged, and a decision arrived at to challenge the Monoton Club for a match in St. John next week in August. A committee was appointed to arrange with one of the city bands, for an excursion on the occasion. Mr. E. H. Allen, was appointed Field Captain, vice Collector. Straz resigned.

The banking facilities of Fredericton are being extended by the addition of two new agencies here—the Maritime Bank of St. John, and the Bank of Nova Scotia. The former occupies the lower store in Devere's Building, opposite the stone barracks, and the vacant shop in Sharkey's Block is being fitted up for the latter. Mr. Blair, who is to have charge of the Maritime Bank Agency, has arrived and is ready for business. The other will open as soon as the arrangements in the building can be perfected.

Council March of Queensbury, we understand, will not again seek Municipal honors, having opposed the stone barracks, and the City Hall, which was addressed by Mr. Hunt of Boston, Rev. Mr. Phillips of Ontario, and Rev. Jos. McLeod. There will be lively work on both sides before polling day.

The Citizens held a meeting Monday evening, at Mr. Hatten's new office, and talked over matters generally. A code of by-laws for the Club was adopted, a local match to-morrow afternoon, was arranged, and a decision arrived at to challenge the Monoton Club for a match in St. John next week in August. A committee was appointed to arrange with one of the city bands, for an excursion on the occasion. Mr. E. H. Allen, was appointed Field Captain, vice Collector. Straz resigned.

The banking facilities of Fredericton are being extended by the addition of two new agencies here—the Maritime Bank of St. John, and the Bank of Nova Scotia. The former occupies the lower store in Devere's Building, opposite the stone barracks, and the vacant shop in Sharkey's Block is being fitted up for the latter. Mr. Blair, who is to have charge of the Maritime Bank Agency, has arrived and is ready for business. The other will open as soon as the arrangements in the building can be perfected.

Council March of Queensbury, we understand, will not again seek Municipal honors, having opposed the stone barracks, and the City Hall, which was addressed by Mr. Hunt of Boston, Rev. Mr. Phillips of Ontario, and Rev. Jos. McLeod. There will be lively work on both sides before polling day.

The Citizens held a meeting Monday evening, at Mr. Hatten's new office, and talked over matters generally. A code of by-laws for the Club was adopted, a local match to-morrow afternoon, was arranged, and a decision arrived at to challenge the Monoton Club for a match in St. John next week in August. A committee was appointed to arrange with one of the city bands, for an excursion on the occasion. Mr. E. H. Allen, was appointed Field Captain, vice Collector. Straz resigned.

The banking facilities of Fredericton are being extended by the addition of two new agencies here—the Maritime Bank of St. John, and the Bank of Nova Scotia. The former occupies the lower store in Devere's Building, opposite the stone barracks, and the vacant shop in Sharkey's Block is being fitted up for the latter. Mr. Blair, who is to have charge of the Maritime Bank Agency, has arrived and is ready for business. The other will open as soon as the arrangements in the building can be perfected.

Council March of Queensbury, we understand, will not again seek Municipal honors, having opposed the stone barracks, and the City Hall, which was addressed by Mr. Hunt of Boston, Rev. Mr. Phillips of Ontario, and Rev. Jos. McLeod. There will be lively work on both sides before polling day.

The Citizens held a meeting Monday evening, at Mr. Hatten's new office, and talked over matters generally. A code of by-laws for the Club was adopted, a local match to-morrow afternoon, was arranged, and a decision arrived at to challenge the Monoton Club for a match in St. John next week in August. A committee was appointed to arrange with one of the city bands, for an excursion on the occasion. Mr. E. H. Allen, was appointed Field Captain, vice Collector. Straz resigned.

The banking facilities of Fredericton are being extended by the addition of two new agencies here—the Maritime Bank of St. John, and the Bank of Nova Scotia. The former occupies the lower store in Devere's Building, opposite the stone barracks, and the vacant shop in Sharkey's Block is being fitted up for the latter. Mr. Blair, who is to have charge of the Maritime Bank Agency, has arrived and is ready for business. The other will open as soon as the arrangements in the building can be perfected.

Council March of Queensbury, we understand, will not again seek Municipal honors, having opposed the stone barracks, and the City Hall, which was addressed by Mr. Hunt of Boston, Rev. Mr. Phillips of Ontario, and Rev. Jos. McLeod. There will be lively work on both sides before polling day.

The Citizens held a meeting Monday evening, at Mr. Hatten's new office, and talked over matters generally. A code of by-laws for the Club was adopted, a local match to-morrow afternoon, was arranged, and a decision arrived at to challenge the Monoton Club for a match in St. John next week in August. A committee was appointed to arrange with one of the city bands, for an excursion on the occasion. Mr. E. H. Allen, was appointed Field Captain, vice Collector. Straz resigned.

The banking facilities of Fredericton are being extended by the addition of two new agencies here—the Maritime Bank of St. John, and the Bank of Nova Scotia. The former occupies the lower store in Devere's Building, opposite the stone barracks, and the vacant shop in Sharkey's Block is being fitted up for the latter. Mr. Blair, who is to have charge of the Maritime Bank Agency, has arrived and is ready for business. The other will open as soon as the arrangements in the building can be perfected.

Council March of Queensbury, we understand, will not again seek Municipal honors, having opposed the stone barracks, and the City Hall, which was addressed by Mr. Hunt of Boston, Rev. Mr. Phillips of Ontario, and Rev. Jos. McLeod. There will be lively work on both sides before polling day.

The Citizens held a meeting Monday evening, at Mr. Hatten's new office, and talked over matters generally. A code of by-laws for the Club was adopted, a local match to-morrow afternoon, was arranged, and a decision arrived at to challenge the Monoton Club for a match in St. John next week in August. A committee was appointed to arrange with one of the city bands, for an excursion on the occasion. Mr. E. H. Allen, was appointed Field Captain, vice Collector. Straz resigned.

The banking facilities of Fredericton are being extended by the addition of two new agencies here—the Maritime Bank of St. John, and the Bank of Nova Scotia. The former occupies the lower store in Devere's Building, opposite the stone barracks, and the vacant shop in Sharkey's Block is being fitted up for the latter. Mr. Blair, who is to have charge of the Maritime Bank Agency, has arrived and is ready for business. The other will open as soon as the arrangements in the building can be perfected.

Council March of Queensbury, we understand, will not again seek Municipal honors, having opposed the stone barracks, and the City Hall, which was addressed by Mr. Hunt of Boston, Rev. Mr. Phillips of Ontario, and Rev. Jos. McLeod. There will be lively work on both sides before polling day.

The Citizens held a meeting Monday evening, at Mr. Hatten's new office, and talked over matters generally. A code of by-laws for the Club was adopted, a local match to-morrow afternoon, was arranged, and a decision arrived at to challenge the Monoton Club for a match in St. John next week in August. A committee was appointed to arrange with one of the city bands, for an excursion on the occasion. Mr. E. H. Allen, was appointed Field Captain, vice Collector. Straz resigned.

The banking facilities of Fredericton are being extended by the addition of two new agencies here—the Maritime Bank of St. John, and the Bank of Nova Scotia. The former occupies the lower store in Devere's Building, opposite the stone barracks, and the vacant shop in Sharkey's Block is being fitted up for the latter. Mr. Blair, who is to have charge of the Maritime Bank Agency, has arrived and is ready for business. The other will open as soon as the arrangements in the building can be perfected.

Council March of Queensbury, we understand, will not again seek Municipal honors, having opposed the stone barracks, and the City Hall, which was addressed by Mr. Hunt of Boston, Rev. Mr. Phillips of Ontario, and Rev. Jos. McLeod. There will be lively work on both sides before polling day.

The Citizens held a meeting Monday evening, at Mr. Hatten's new office, and talked over matters generally. A code of by-laws for the Club was adopted, a local match to-morrow afternoon, was arranged, and a decision arrived at to challenge the Monoton Club for a match in St. John next week in August. A committee was appointed to arrange with one of the city bands, for an excursion on the occasion. Mr. E. H. Allen, was appointed Field Captain, vice Collector. Straz resigned.

The banking facilities of Fredericton are being extended by the addition of two new agencies here—the Maritime Bank of St. John, and the Bank of Nova Scotia. The former occupies the lower store in Devere's Building, opposite the stone barracks, and the vacant shop in Sharkey's Block is being fitted up for the latter. Mr. Blair, who is to have charge of the Maritime Bank Agency, has arrived and is ready for business. The other will open as soon as the arrangements in the building can be perfected.

Council March of Queensbury, we understand, will not again seek Municipal honors, having opposed the stone barracks, and the City Hall, which was addressed by Mr. Hunt of Boston, Rev. Mr. Phillips of Ontario, and Rev. Jos. McLeod. There will be lively work on both sides before polling day.

The Citizens held a meeting Monday evening, at Mr. Hatten's new office, and talked over matters generally. A code of by-laws for the Club was adopted, a local match to-morrow afternoon, was arranged, and a decision arrived at to challenge the Monoton Club for a match in St. John next week in August. A committee was appointed to arrange with one of the city bands, for an excursion on the occasion. Mr. E. H. Allen, was appointed Field Captain, vice Collector. Straz resigned.

The banking facilities of Fredericton are being extended by the addition of two new agencies here—the Maritime Bank of St. John, and the Bank of Nova Scotia. The former occupies the lower store in Devere's Building, opposite the stone barracks, and the vacant shop in Sharkey's Block is being fitted up for the latter. Mr. Blair, who is to have charge of the Maritime Bank Agency, has arrived and is ready for business. The other will open as soon as the arrangements in the building can be perfected.

Council March of Queensbury, we understand, will not again seek Municipal honors, having opposed the stone barracks, and the City Hall, which was addressed by Mr. Hunt of Boston, Rev. Mr. Phillips of Ontario, and Rev. Jos. McLeod. There will be lively work on both sides before polling day.

The Citizens held a meeting Monday evening, at Mr. Hatten's new office, and talked over matters generally. A code of by-laws for the Club was adopted, a local match to-morrow afternoon, was arranged, and a decision arrived at to challenge the Monoton Club for a match in St. John next week in August. A committee was appointed to arrange with one of the city bands, for an excursion on the occasion. Mr. E. H. Allen, was appointed Field Captain, vice Collector. Straz resigned.

The banking facilities of Fredericton are being extended by the addition of two new agencies here—the Maritime Bank of St. John, and the Bank of Nova Scotia. The former occupies the lower store in Devere's Building, opposite the stone barracks, and the vacant shop in Sharkey's Block is being fitted up for the latter. Mr. Blair, who is to have charge of the Maritime Bank Agency, has arrived and is ready for business. The other will open as soon as the arrangements in the building can be perfected.

Council March of Queensbury, we understand, will not again seek Municipal honors, having opposed the stone barracks, and the City Hall, which was addressed by Mr. Hunt of Boston, Rev. Mr. Phillips of Ontario, and Rev. Jos. McLeod. There will be lively work on both sides before polling day.

The Citizens held a meeting Monday evening, at Mr. Hatten's new office, and talked over matters generally. A code of by-laws for the Club was adopted, a local match to-morrow afternoon, was arranged, and a decision arrived at to challenge the Monoton Club for a match in St. John next week in August. A committee was appointed to arrange with one of the city bands, for an excursion on the occasion. Mr. E. H. Allen, was appointed Field Captain, vice Collector. Straz resigned.

The banking facilities of Fredericton are being extended by the addition of two new agencies here—the Maritime Bank of St. John, and the Bank of Nova Scotia. The former occupies the lower store in Devere's Building, opposite the stone barracks, and the vacant shop in Sharkey's Block is being fitted up for the latter. Mr. Blair, who is to have charge of the Maritime Bank Agency, has arrived and is ready for business. The other will open as soon as the arrangements in the building can be perfected.

The fishing season, in lake and river, is now at its height, and parties are organizing daily. We have heard of many good catches, but none more successful than that of Messrs. Robert Mr. Hardy, and Mr. Chas. Robinson, on the South-West Miramichi, last week, on the landed twenty-eight fine salmon and four grise in a very short time, and the former, which is the largest ever caught with a fly in the South-West, weighing twenty-five and a quarter pounds. He was landed by Mr. Orr without a gaff.

The Report of the Engineers to the Water Commissioners, printed by the city contractor, was executed in such an admirable manner, that the Printing Company were ashamed to send it abroad, and have arranged to have it reprinted at the Capital office. A copy of the Report, as printed, is now in the office, preserved as a memento of the now notorious "Printing scandal." We do not know who is the more commendable, the Committee of the Council that awarded the contract, or the individual who undertook its fulfillment with the full knowledge that he did not possess the facilities for doing the work.

Mrs. Fleming, Alms House Keeper, on Monday morning, received by a telegram from Mr. Henry A. Perley, Dewinton, North-West Territory, the sad intelligence of the death of her son, James Fleming, who went West two months ago and was employed by Mr. Perley's store. No particulars have yet been received. The remains were interred at Dewinton. Young Fleming served in Mr. Wiley's Drug Store for several years and later had charge of Mr. Wiley's Branch Store at Grand Falls. He was very popular in a large circle of comrades and friends here, and his early demise was a great regret. Our sympathies are tendered to the bereaved mother and family.

The Harmony Club, a St. John Musical organization, have arranged an excursion to this city on Monday next, to be accompanied by the 62nd Fusilier and City Cornet Bands. Mr. Andrew Pratt of the former band, was here last week and engaged Kenn's Grove Street, to meet the excursionists, and also arrange for an afternoon open air concert in the Officers' Square to be participated in by the four bands, has been made. It would be an act of hospitality to the visitors to have them provided with an admirable entertainment for the citizens.

THE WAR IN EGYPT.

Bombardment of Alexandria.

The City Evacuated and Occupied by the British.

Scenes of Massacre and Pillage.

In our last issue we gave the despatches descriptive of the opening of the bombardment of Alexandria, in addition to which we publish below, a vivid sketch of the great conflict, in which British arms have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day has ended in complete success. The object for which we have been sent has been attained, the forts and batteries on the sea face of Alexandria being a heap of ruins. Considering the extent and nature of the bombardment, and the fact that the British have again been victorious. The massacre and pillage that followed the bombardment when the Egyptian army had evacuated the city are graphically described in a correspondent on board the "Invincible" thus describes the bombardment:

The great artillery combat which has raged all day