The Record Office.

To the Editor of the Maritime Farmer: SIR .- It is to be hoped that the Bill before the Legislature to convert part of the County Court House into a Record Office may not become law. It does not matter with whom this matter originated, it is an unwise measure and should be defeated.

The irregular fronts of the old departmental offices detract much from their appear- them. The Provincial Secretary's office building by itself is a very respectable looking structure, but it is much out of place where it are now, therefore, prepared to furnish any is, and does perceptibly darken the Supreme Court side of the Buildings. And a good deal more clearing away will have to be done before the surroundings of the Buildings are what thay should be and at the lowest prices going; and hope to procure from the citizens of Fredericton, and of the country generally, that patronage to which first class work and attendance, low prices, and courteous and prompt attention to business must entitle them.

The latter range might be allowed to stand, if no other accommodations can be obtained for the offices, but, if it can, their removal would make easier the beautifying of the grounds around the buildings. And could not accommodation be obtained for the offices within the Buildings? proper ornamentation of the grounds around the new Buildings. The internal decoration of the Buildings will demand some thought and care. The cold expanse of white walls have to be warmed by color, and relieved by pictures. We venture to say, that in the Legislative Council and Assembly rooms, only portraits should be admitted; landscapes, representations of scenery in the Province, should be relegated to the committee rooms and elsewhere. In this Province, unlike other of the Provinces of the Dominion, there are few if any mementoes of the past-of its governors, and its political leaders and judges extant, and we suppose it would be exceedingly difficult to make good the want now. Of CENTS' TWEEDS, couse, it would be possible to make good the deficiency, on the ground that nothing is impossible. The Town Council of Edinburgh, for instance, wanted to have the portraits of the Kings of Scotland to decorate one of the rooms of Holy Rood Palace, and an artist was commissioned who produced a series of pictures which have a striking family likeness, as he painted them all from great men, he could do better than that! from chalk drawings, minatures, photographs, etc., he might point a series of full length portraits, but that would be an expensive and unsatisfactory process. Sir. Richard's whole tone and manner is, the Globe is obliged to confess, against him. It is exasperating to his foes and displeasing to his friends. He is polished, cool, and cutting. He seemingly takes a delight in shooting his poisoned shafts into the tenderest part of his opponent, with the object of giving him as much pain as possible. As long as he totally disregards the feelings
