Accusations against the C. P. R. S.

The Canadian Pacific Syndicate is the bugbear of the Opposition, or rather it is the FUR CAPS, bogie with which they seek to frighten the public, Canadian. The last scare is that the Syndicate is about to form a construction company of New York and Amsterdam capitalists, and that the stock of the company is to be quoted upon the New York Stock Exchange. The opposition are incurably suspicious; they from the first have hinted that the Syndicate never intended to carry out Directly Opp. Normal School, their contract in good faith; that they would find some way to shirk finishing and running the road, after finishing the easily constructed and heavily subsidised sections, and that the company, in short, had no interest but an intensely selfish interest to serve, and that being the case, the people of the Dominion the control of the great road out of their hands to parties abroad. And according to Syndicate proves that they are following out the course above indicated. A construction company is a company that takes over the assets, or part of the assets of a railway company, and undertakes to construct the work which the original company is bound to get executed. By the medium of such a company the Syndicate might pass over to it the contract for building the easy and largely subsidised part of the road. The said company would receive all the subsidies accruing, and land grants, and having executed its ALBION HOUSE. work, would pocket its pay, and then the

A Manufacturing Suggestion.

Everybody says that Fredericton is well situated for manufacturing purposes, and all acknowledge that it would be much to its interest if manufactures were established. But it is exceedingly difficult to induce the and sea people to give practical proof of their belief. There is a good deal of capital lying idle, or at the bank rate of interest, but the holders can hardly be persuaded to venture part of it in any venture or enterprise, from which a 401,999, Netherlands 254,477, and Canada profitable return might not, perhaps, be im- 66.478. mediate, but which would certainly pay well, if judiciously managed, in the long run .-They may be a little shy of the ordinary enterprises; the boot and shoe business may be overdone; there is no more room for another cotton mill, What will they say to a of laths. Clothes Pin Factory? It seems a small business, but those who think so have no idea of the extent of their manufacture, and the amount of capital employed in the business. The market for clothes pins is found nearly all over the world; their manufacture is mostly confined to New England, and from thence thousands of boxes are monthly sent to London and Melbourne, &c., and then there is the immense home market. New Brunswick being a wood producing country, and Fredericton being well situated for manufacturing, a Clothes Pin Factory door, and Blackwell's Island is at the same might be established here with every prospect of success.
