Dominion Day

We are not among those who look with dis favor upon the proper celebration of public holidays. "A little nonsense now and then, is relished by the best of men." by the old and young, by the grey beards and the children. Fredericton which has not had a good public holiday for years, is waking up, and will have a grand celebration on Dominion Day, a celebration that will be partly centenial in its character, as this is Fredericton's hundredth anniversary. The celebration as already been pretty well talked up brough the press, and is exciting considerable interest in different parts of the Province. Posters giving a general outline of the days amusement will soon be distributed in the tifferent cities and towns throughout the Province. Excursion rates will be arranged rom Woodstook, St. John, St. Stephen and other points, and it is altogether likely that there will be a large influx of strangers from these parts, as well as from the surrounding country. All should come, for all will be everything in order. The chairmen of the partments are in good order, and that they will be able to successfully carry out what steam engines, and castings of various de- securing their livelihood. should lose no time in preparing for the Exhibition to be held in St. John during the coming autumn. As all of our readers are, many of them, taking life and property indisof course, aware, the Exhibition is a Domi-Dominion one in its character, and it is expected that there will be exhibits from all parts of Canada. There will be ample opportunity afforded for exhibiting, as a large permanent building is being erected in addition to the one in which the Exhibition of 1881 was held, and there will also be buildings set about for machinery and for an art gatlery. Nevertheless, though the space is large, it is important that intending exnibitors should not lose time on applying to the Secretary for Agriculture, in order that they may get good positions for their exhibits. We would like to see Fredericto and York County make a good showing at the approaching Exhibition. There can be no question about their ability to do so.
