What has the Local Government done with the hand book on New Brunswick, which one of the editors of the Subsidized Organ has confessed to have written for that body. It doubtless has been paid for, if not printed, and the public are anxiously awaiting its appearance.

It is said in New York, that James Gordon Bennett has sold one-third of the Heeald to J. W. Mackey, at a price which fixed its valuation at $5,250,000 Bennett is associated with Mackey in the new Atlantic cable. and found it necessary, so the story goes, to cable stock.

It is said that Mr. Blair can count confi dently on only five supporters in the Assembly besides the eight members who compose into disfavor so quickly as the present Attorney General. His continuation in power he may never be able to fulfill.

Vanderbilt's estimated wealth has formed the basis of a calculation of a man who finds that if it was converted into solid gold, it would make a bar a foot square and 550 feet long. Fifty men giving it away in dollars at the rate of $1,000 each a day, would have before it would be exhausted.

The FARMER has discovered a genuine curiosity, to wit, a very complete report of a speech delivered at the Grit Free Lunch in this city in 1882, by a gentleman, the first letter of whose name is Gregory. Some fine day when other material is scarce, and the occasion warrants, the FARMER may publish that great deliverance. It was a maiden effort, and the same party made-an-effort, on a subsequent occasion, but alas!

They have a new way in New York of getting over a difficulty in counting the ballots in an election, where more ballots are cast than there are votes in the district. A man was blindfolded and instructed to draw the surplus ballots from the box, and destroy them, both parties consenting to the plan. In the third New York Assembly district a vote was found to have been cast for "Rum Romanism and Rebellion," which by general in this country would invalidate an election.

In discussing Sir John A. Macdonald's new honors, the Montreal Gazette observes that this is the third time Her Majesty has signally honored Sir John Macdonald, above all colonial statesmen, in recognition of his great of Knight Commander of the Bath, the first and only colonial statesman to be called to position he derives his title of right honorable, and he is now the first and only colonial honor of the Grand Cross of the Bath.

The Bridge, which the FARMER, and other opponents of the Government, compelled Mr. Blair to build, has made very slow progress during the past season. The piers are only partially constructed, and only one span of the superstructure has yet been added. The werk ought to be finished next season, but some of Mr. Blair's friends say he will delay its dedication till the spring of 1886, just before the general elections, and that he expects with the grand Hurrah, which the event will raise, he will again ride safely into the Legislature. SCISSORED SELECTIONS.

The next funniest thing to a Frog.

The funniest thing's a frog, but the next funniest thing is a woman trying to cross the street in a rain. There are certain things to be done. It is desirable to keep the bottom of her clothes dry, also her feet. She stands on the edge of the curbstone and gathers a handful on each side. She gets hold of the waterproof only, lets it fall and raises again, gathering in the dress and skirt. The dress is too high and shows the skirt. Lets fall and shakes and tries again. This time the skirt is all right, but the dress drags; tries again; all three are too high and the instep ot one foot shows. She gets discouraged and grasps firmly on each side, and starts across the street on her heels, with one side of the dress and the waterproof trailing in the mud, and about a yard of the skirt visible on the other side.

Cakes Without Eggs.

In a little book just issued from the press of Messrs. Scribner & Welford, New York,

a large number of practical, though novel, receipts are given for making cakes of various kinds, from the informal griddle-cake to the stately bride-cake, without eggs, by the use of the Royal Baking Powder. Experienced housekeers inform us that this custom has already obtained large precedence over oldfashioned methods in economical kitchens, and that the product is frequently superior to that where eggs are used, and that less In a boarding-house a man's room is better butter is also required for shortening purthan his company, if he does not pay his poses. The advantage is not alone in the saving effected, but in the avoidance of the trouble attendant upon securing fresh eggs and the annoyance of an occasional cake spoiled by the accidental introduction of an egg that has reached a little too nearly the The man who got the last word in disput- incubatory period. A New Scheme for Lovers.

HOW A DIRECT PROPOSAL MAY BE AVOIDED.

At a recent wedding reception in South Crrolina, a young lawyer begged leave to offer a new scheme of matrimony, which he believed would be beneficial. He proposed clover she will be married before the year is "that one man in the company should be seout. Emma—Ah now I understand what lected president; that this president should be duly sworn to keep entirely secret all comspeeze from a person in the audience goes in his official department that night, and that racing around the hall for fifteen seconds each unmarried gentleman or lady should write his or her name on a piece of paper, and under it the name of the person they wished to marry, then hand it to the president for inspection, and if any gentleman and lady had reciprocally chosen each other, the president was to inform each of the result, their choice kept entirely secret." After the appointment of the president, communications were accordingly handed up to the chair, and it was found that twelve young ladies and gentlemen had made reciprocal choices, but whom they had chosen remained a secret to all but themselves and the president.
