In several towns of the Province, matrimony seems quite popular of late. St. John, Fredericton. Moncton, Chatham and Bathurst have each had one or more weddings, attracting more than ordinary interest recently. With us, however, the good old custom seems to be neglected. We have a goodly number of very eligible young men-men in every way worthy of the love of the fair. Neither are we lacking in feminine charms. Our young unmarried ladies are numerous, handsome and accomplished. In fact, to our credit be it said, of the gentler sex we have a surplus, and this is yet leap year. Why is this thus? It would be a real pleasure now to chronicle a first class achievement of the
