IMPRESSIONS OF FREDERICTON.

By a recent Visitor.

(Special correspondence of the FARMER.)

TRURO, N. S., Sept. 26. "You ask in common with scores of others, what are my impressions of Fredericton Having arrived late on Saturday night, my first impression on Sunday morning was, that The dryest flour contains from 6 to 7 per I had struck an English garrison town, and as first impressions are generally lasting, I never got rightly over it. I first heard the "dress for parade" bugle, next the "fall in," then the band struck up an old famaliar quick step, in a manner that reminded me of the days of "auld lang syne," and like an old war horse I was on my metal, and repaired to the barrack parade ground. Old soldiers are naturally prejudiced against make believe soldiers, and I expected to see a very awkward squad, but was most agreeably surprised A more soldierly looking lot of men I have seldom seen. Their appearance on parade their movements in the ranks as well as their conduct on the streets, when off duty, speaks volumes for the discipline of the school, and the excellent military training it affords. Marching with the band, I am led to a very A parrot, said to be 92 years old, is owned | pretty little cathedral, where the services are so thoroughly evangelical, that it is difficult believe I am not in the old parish church of my boyhood days.
