A very pleasant excursion by steamer to Oak Point is advertised for Saturday next. Persons who desire to go from this city can take the "Star" at 8 a. m. and return by moonlight in the "Western." Various kinds of amusement will be provided.

Among our new advertisers to-day, are Mr. John Haslin, dry goods, and Mr. S. L. Morrison, groceries. Both are young men deserving every success, and we hope the FARMER'S readers will give them the benefit of their custom.

St. Ann's Working Club has enlisted the aid of a number of ladies to raise for fund them, and to that end a tea festival is to be held in the Church Hall on Wednesday, the 24th inst., to be followed the same evening by a social dance in the Masonic Hall.

The Masonic excursion to Grand Falls, last Thursday, was a very enjoyable affair. Those who participated spent most of the day at the falls, and returned to the city on Saturday, and showed them many other things.

Madame de Angeli's concert in the City Hall Monday night, was a great success, and the Hall was filled with a most respectable audience. All the performers did well, Madame de Angeli and Miss Colby of course being the chief attraction. The latter possesses a wonderfully fine voice.

We have been requested by the Rev. Stephen E. Corrie, to state that the statement lately made in the weekly papers, and in the papers to the effect, that his horse and wagon had been seized, is like other slanderous reports circulated in reference to him. It is a malicious and untrue statement of whole cloth without the shadow of truth.

At the request of Lieut.-Col. Mansfield, D. A. G., the St. John Young Men's Christian Association purpose having a tent in connection with the Brigade Military Encampment to assemble in the afternoon of the 10th inst. There was a large and pleasant family gathering at Mr. David Hatt's residence last night, to meet Mr. Mass Torrens and his wife of Remerton, Ireland, and Mr. George Torrens of San Francisco, these two gentlemen being maternal uncles of Mr. Hatt.

Several persons, young and old, were taken to a sumptuously prepared table, Mr. and Mrs. Hatt being celebrated for their hospitality in this respect. During the evening the Messrs. Torrens were each made the recipient of a handsome gold-headed smoking pipe, and Mrs. Torrens a beautiful plush work bag from the gathering of relatives present. The recipients in a few fitting words acknowledged the kindness shown them, Mrs. Torrens remarking that duty to the delight and astonishment of her audience. The visitors will leave for New York on to-morrow.

Scott Act Statistics.

Since 1878, the year in which the Scott Act became law, that measure has been voted on 67 times, and has sustained 162 votes. The total number of votes cast in favor of the Act at these recurrences was 16,542; the total vote against the Act was 103,203; the net majority for the Act was 86,661. In several counties, however, repeat votes have been taken; in a number of constituencies no contests were had before the Act could be carried, and in one county the measure was voted on three times. Taking the last vote polled the total number of ballots cast for the Act was 143,802; the total vote against was 94,312; and the net majority for the Act was 49,490. The Act has been adopted in 49 constituencies, and defeated in 14. The total votes at these 74 contests being 238,174.

THE CRICKET MATCH.

The Halifax "Wanderers" Defeat Fredericton by Nine Wickets.

The Wanderers' cricket eleven of Halifax, after a fortnight's tour in the Maritime Provinces, during which they defeated with ease every club they encountered, including the Stellarton and Pictou clubs, the Charlotte Harbor Club, the St. John club and the Bankers' eleven of the same city, arrived in Fredericton by noon train Monday and registered at the Queen. At 2 p. m. the same day the match between the Wanderers and the Fredericton eleven, was called in Wilmot's field. Capt. Fuller of the Halifax team won the toss and sent Fredericton to bat. Bliss and Rutter were the first batsmen to appear for the Halifax. He scored five on two balls of the over, opening out with two pretty cuts. Bliss then followed with a long drive, the bowling being dead on the wicket, the batsmen very speedy. Bliss soon lost his partner, Habbitt, who skied one of Thompson's heavy balls, and was sent to the hospital. Rutter went in next but soon succumbed to Thompson, greatly disappointing everybody.

Bliss succeeded to the vacant position and steady play was the order. He and Habbitt did well especially off Allison, who bowled slowly and straight. The second ball was taken by Allison after a nice innings for 14—sixth wicket for 48. Atherton was next, and he and Bliss played prettily, Atherton scoring up rapidly. Allison, Biggs, Taylor, and O'Brien went in but he soon played Thompson into his own wickets. Barker, not out, but he and Habbitt were bowled out by Allison. Biggs went in next, and he and Habbitt were bowled out by Allison. Biggs went in next, and he and Habbitt were bowled out by Allison.

Effect of Moral Fusion. On a Carleton County Rumseller.

Benton, Carleton Co., is just now, says the Sentinel, much excited over the rum question. It seems that, taking advantage of the opportunity presented by the unfortunate state of things in connection with the working of the Scott Act, an individual had the hardihood to open up a rum shop in that village, a thing unknown to the community for many years. The people realizing that they could not bring legal action to bear upon the offender, determined to try the effect of moral fusion, which they did, and that with telling and triumphant success. Events after evening, as soon as the rum shop was opened for business a band of men women and children, led by a resident clergyman, walked into the bar-room, and after the closing hour kept up a service of praise, prayer, scripture-reading and exhortation: not many nights of such services had passed, before the rumseller surrendered at discretion, and joined the temperance Division and is now, with many of his former customers, earnestly engaged in furthering the temperance movement. A gentleman from Benton, who had seen the difficulties surrounding the operation of the Scott Act were under discussion, said "yes, but what of that? the will of the people is the highest law, and if the people of Benton is to prohibit rum-selling in their village?" and, he added, "law or no law, they won't have any rum here, and don't you forget it."

The people of Benton evidently mean business, and he would be a bold man who would attempt to open a rum shop there just now.

Fatal Railway Accident. A fatal collision occurred on the I. C. R., at Carleton Place, Thursday night, at midnight, by which Driver John Dalton of Newcastle, lost his life. It appears that the day freight, (No. 38) coming up was under an order to cross at Carleton. Con. Heine was in charge of the night freight, and his train arrived at Carleton first. His train had partly entered the siding, which contained the day freight cars, when Con. Merrill's train, Driver Dalton, came along and passed the station at a high rate of speed. The engine struck Heine's train about midway and was thrown off the track with the tender, upside down, to the track. Driver Dalton, who does not appear to have expected the accident, was thrown under the tender. When he got up he was found to be quite dead and it is supposed he was instantly killed. He was not burned or scalded, nor his face or body disfigured; his principal injuries were to the back of the head, which was crushed and bleeding. The deceased driver's friend, Mr. McMillan, belonging to New Mills, immediately escaped with out injury to his life. He was found after the accident in a partially delirious condition, with one foot fast under the edge of the tender. There was considerable search made for the accident before McMillan was found. The train was badly damaged, and splintered by the collision and a loaded gondola turned over and wrecked. This is about the only damage to the rolling stock. The track was not badly damaged, and the principal theory in regard to the accident is that the deceased driver, being unacquainted with the line in this section, was lost and did not know that he was nearing the station until too late. It is said that the brakes were on at the time of the accident. It may be said that driver Dalton had more than enough to do to get his train up to the station and that he was before the departure of the day train,
