On the seaboard that I knew. I dreamed as I slept last night. And because the oaks outside Swayed and groaned to the rushing blast, I heard the crash of the stricken mast, And the wailing shriek as the gale swept past And cordage and sail replied.

I dreamed as I slept last night. And because my heart was there. I saw where the stars shone large and bright, And the heather budded upon the height, With the Cross above it standing white: My dream was very fair.

I dreamed as I slept last night. And because of its charm for me. The inland voices had power to tell Of the sights and the sounds I love so well, And they wrapped my fancy in the spell Wove only by the sea.
