Long's Hotel in this city, every Saturday. A whose name we did not learn while cruising in the woods about a mile from Vanceboro, Maine, Sunday, came across the remains of a middle aged man who had evidently been dead two or three months. He was of middle age, well dressed, and in his pockets were found a gold watch, $75 in cash and some papers, from which it was learned that the name of the unfortunate man was Savage, The body was considerably decom-posed. It was enclosed in a coffin and buried and the friends of the man, who live in some part of the States, have been communicated. with. How Savage came there, or what be was doing in the forest a mile from any clearing, is a mystery, as is the cause of his death.
