The Proposed Assessment Law.

have taken, to say the least, a puculiar action with regard to a law that is of such vital importance to every citizen. I think it would only have been fair to the needle who need to the needle who needle who need to the needle who need to the needle who needle who need to the needle who nee only have been fair to the people, who pay the taxes, for the Council to have had the Companies. If the law is carried out, it will only result in an increase of the insurance rates, and just now the Fredericton rates are being revised by the Board of Underwriters, with a view of a general reduction. If this law passes, the Insurance rates will certainly not be lowered,, but probably increased, and for this reason I deem the proposed tax on Fire Insurance Companies, objectionable. Among the citizens very generally, I find a strong opposition to this bill. Some oppose it because they do not fully understand the object of the changes proposed, and others more strongly oppose the bill because they have taken the trouble to look into the unjust measures included therein. The Legislature should send the bill back to be first agreed to by the citizens before making it agreed to by the citizens before making it Geo. W. Hodge, Ithink it would only have been fair to the people, who pay the taxes, for the Council to have had the proposed law printed in the public press of the city, and the opinion and criticisms of the ratepayers invited, before ultimate adoption by the Council. Then the bill would have been the voice of the citizens generally, whereas now it only voices the opinion and wishes of five members of the Council and His Worship the Mayor.

As the bill now stands, every proposed change will lessen the tax on invested capital and real estate, and increase the rate on personality and income. The provisions of the bill decidedly favor the rich, and bear still more heavily upon the men of moderate means and the labouring classes, which is sufficient refers for its rejection by the Assembly.
