

Maritime Farmer.

FREDERICTON, N. B., June 20, 1887.

A Sorrowful Meet.

The Grit Association of New Brunswick is to meet at St. John tomorrow. It ought to be a very sorrowful gathering. A year has elapsed since the ponderous machine operated in this city, and the managers, not disconcerted by the political cyclone that annihilated them in the meantime, have the courage again to set the thing in motion. The convention, or whatever it may be called, and its composition, will furnish food for study and reflection. We hope York will be represented. Mr. George Gregory ought certainly to go down and tell the convention how he wrested this constituency from the Tories, and went up to Ottawa last winter to shake hands with Blake; he ought to tell the assembled Grits how charmingly the conspiracy worked; how happily resulted in all its details, his stupendous scheme for purifying the electorate of York. But Mr. Gregory must not go alone. No more should the engine travel without his attendant. Oh yes, the "narrow gauge element" must be represented. There will doubtless be reports from other counties beside York. Mr. J. E. B. McCready will be able to depict all the startling details of his glorious retreat from Kings County. Mr. Charles Barpee can tell how Sunbury at last proved unkind, preferring Wilnot to a representative of blue rain; Mr. George Macneaney will weep over Kent's ingratitude, and Mr. Henry Emerson will shed tears at his lamentable failure to dislodge Wood. These will only be a few of the delegates, but their reports will provide sufficient material for a general gown from Gridiron, as represented at the convention. But after all, the convention may see signs of approaching joy, dry its tears, brace up, and be somebody. The Telegraph beholds the coming dissolution of the Tory party. "All signs" says our contemporary "portend the approach of the end," and then it comforts its friends with the thought that the Tory leaders are old men, and must soon die. That was the Telegraph's cry a year ago, but the interval has seen the withdrawal of the Grit leader, while the Tory chieftain sits every day in Parliament, physically, mentally, and politically sound. But even the death of the Premier, so devoutly desired by the stalwart Grit, would afford little material comfort to him and his party. There are a dozen Conservatives in Parliament better fitted to lead their party, than any Grit in public life, and our opponents will have to look to some other source than death for assistance in their struggle for office. They will have to secure a policy, some political principles, some cohesion, some political honesty, and with all these elements, and an experienced head to guide them, they may possibly obtain place and power before the close of the present century.

What Might Have Been.

The fact of the Kingston Whig denying the Grit Association of that city for an amount due for printing for the past fifteen years, calls to mind a good thing regarding a similar matter in Fredericton. A prominent worker for the Grit candidate in York, during the last election, who has not yet received the promised financial remuneration for his labor, is said to have called on one of the alleged leading organizers of the party, and inquired as to the prospects of his bill being paid. The l. o. i. is reported as assured the p. w., that there were no funds for the purpose, and then proceeded to picture what "might have been," if the Grit candidate and his party had won the election. "You know we lost," said the organizer, and then added "but if we had been successful, I may say that you would have had a large share in the distribution of the patronage." This assurance, however, was of little comfort to the gentleman who had expended much physical and mental effort on behalf of the Grit candidate, on the promise of a generous reward for his services, and before taking leave of the organizer, he doubtless registered a solemn vow, that before again lending his assistance to the "party" he will have something more substantial than a promise of reward.

The University Eccelesia.

Something ought to be done to popularize the University Eccelesial exercises. As it is, the attendance of the public is limited. Indeed it is necessary so, because the capacity of the College Library where the exercises are held, will not contain very many people. It is doubtful, however, if the programme as constituted from year to year, would "draw" even if the building furnished the necessary accommodation. The truth is, the proceedings are exceedingly dull and monotonous, and should be brightened up. A little music for instance, some sharp, practical speeches, and an independent criticism of University work might be points that could be introduced with good effect, and the programme might be carried out in some place accessible to the public, whose property the University is. We believe that President Harrison has thoroughly at heart the welfare and success of the Institution, and is willing to listen to any reasonable suggestion to that end.

We shall soon have the new Railway Bridge across the St. John river here, for which Parliament, through the exertions of Mr. Temple, furnishes a loan of $300,000. Mr. Abbott of the Dominion Bridge Company was here Monday, and with Mr. Temple inspected the proposed site. He will come back in two weeks to estimate the cost of the superstructure. Mr. Temple expects that the piers will be completed before ice again forms in the river.

Sir Richard Cartwright, Mr. McMullin and other members of the Grit party in Parliament again persistently opposed the granting of railway subsidies, among which was the additional sum of $70,400 granted to the Woodstock and Fredericton Railway.

GENERAL NEWS BUDGET.

The Doings of the Week Concisely Chronicled.

Daily election July 10th. Friday will be Dominion Day. Mr. Cimon, M. P., for Charlebois, Quebec, is dead. The Wimbledon team sailed from Quebec by the Parisian, Thursday. Hon. T. W. Anglin is a candidate for the York county, Ont., shortly. For Bronchitis and Throat Affections, Allen's Lung Balm is unequalled. A new Conservative organ, the Empire, is to be started at Toronto immediately. The New York Legislature has prohibited the use of stores in passenger cars.

A BOTTLE of the "Lotus of the Nile" is most acceptable present to a lady. Lightning struck a flock of flying geese in California recently, and killed six of them. Sir Matthew Crooks Cameron, Chief Justice of the Ontario Court of Common Pleas is dead.

The Kingston Whig is suing the Grit Association of that city for fifteen years' printing.

Sir Ambrose Shea of St. John's Newfoundland, has been appointed Governor of the Bahamas.

The "ROYAL FLAVORING EXTRACTS" are made of great purity and strength. Take no other.

H. B. Robichau, a local politician of some note, is opposing Mr. Jones, the Conservative candidate in Digby.

Among the military budgets received by the Queen, was one of $75,000, subscribed by three million women.

The bribery case against Hon. John Costigan was dismissed in the County Court yesterday, the prosecution failing to appear.

The Indian military budget amounts to $14,000,000. The Indian army consists of 73,000 Europeans and 145,000 natives.

A Minneapolis man has invented a dust collector, but it is hardly expected that it will surpass the top surface of a centre table.

Harry Graham, son of His Worship the Mayor of St. Stephen, has been given a position in the Bank of Nova Scotia at St. Stephen.

The circulation of the Scriptures in the whole world since the beginning of the present century, is estimated at 200,000,000 copies.

It is said that President Cleveland saves $35,000 out of his salary of $50,000, and his extra allowance military budget amounts to $14,000,000.

Eight Indians are enrolled in the 40th Battalion now in camp at Kingston, Ontario, and are highly commended as soldiers by the captain of their company.

Many of the large boats of New York, now use potash imported from Germany, instead of using Bernadine. The advantage is in price rather than quality.

The officers of the Salvation Army in India are in the midst of a campaign, in imitation of the Hindoos, who wear their caste marks on their conspicuous places.

Jersey peach growers are becoming alarmed over the ravages of rose bugs, which they are swarming by millions over the trees and cutting the little peaches into atoms.

Rev. Mr. Wadman and his family left Carleton, St. John yesterday for St. Paul, whence, after a fortnight's sojourn, he will proceed on his journey to British Columbia.

Mr. Lockhart, Minister of Finance, is at Airth, County Stirling, Scotland, in a fit of insanity Saturday night cut the throats of his three children and her own.

OFFICE CHARLOTTE TOWN, HAVANA, April 23rd, 1887. Mrs. McNeill, Havana, Cuba, has written a very interesting and valuable book, entitled "The Baking Powder." She speaks very highly of it.

It has been computed that the death rate of the globe is 67 a minute, 37,700 a day, 35,630,835 a year, and the birth rate 70 a minute, 100,500 a day, and 36,702,000 a year.

The inequality of things is strikingly manifest in the fact that, while 22,000,000 bushels of wheat were tied up in Chicago by a speculating party, some 200,000 people in India were suffering from actual starvation.

An order has recently been issued from Ottawa limiting deposits in the Government Savings Bank after July first, to three hundred dollars in any one year, with a maximum limit of one thousand dollars.

Seventy-five per cent of the land sold in Boston, is a spurious and adulterated article. It is well known that this bogus stuff is composed of such innocuous materials as cottonseed oil, beef and mutton tallow.

A procession of eight couples from the French settlement in Sherbrooke, Maine, with their friends and all sorts of banners, proceeded to the church in Prospect Isle, at an early hour one morning last week, and every couple was married.

To the St. John Valley & River de Loup Railway Company, for twenty-two miles of their railway from the village of Prince William towards the town of Woodstock, Parliament voted a subsidy not exceeding $3,200 per mile, nor exceeding in the whole $70,400.

A Texas negro was recently struck by lightning and killed. In his pockets were found two horseshoe magnets, two copper cents that had melted together, a nickel that was partly melted and stuck to his watch, and the nickel rim around his money purse was also melted.

The Day Pilot says that St. Andrews man has captured nearly all the contracts for the supplies for the military camp, which have been awarded as follows:—Cachin, beef and straw; B. F. DeWolf, groceries and potatoes; G. D. Grimmer, hay and wood; J. G. Hatt & Sons, Fredericton, bread.

The revolving barriers in the streets have been fixed by the City Engineer, and a revising barrier is to receive $300 and a further allowance of 5 cents per name for each name on his list up to 4,000 names, and an allowance of 3 cents per name for 10,000 or over. The salary of $3,000 is not to be repeated when the revising barrier has to be revised more than one constituency.

Dhuleep Singh, who is endeavoring to create a revolution among the Indian princes against the British Government, is a short, dark-complexioned man, with Asiatic features. He is a descendant of Runjeet Singh, one of the M. P. P. has been offered the position of Collector of Customs for the port of New-Castle, which it is thought probable, he will accept, and that his acceptance of the position will necessitate a vacancy for this county in the local legislature. It is too early yet to speculate on any probable candidate for the seat, but Mr. John Morrison, will no doubt be in the field. Our contemporary strictly charges Mr. Park with retreating from the political life when his future is so promising, but we presume Mr. Park does not differ from the majority of politicians. He knows how to work all the time. A friend writes to me that I was cured by two bottles of Wm. T. S. Mury's Out.

MIRACULOUS.

My MIRACULOUS CURE was that I had suffered from kidney disease for about two years, and was off work all the time. A friend told me of B. B. B. I tried it, and am happy to say that I was cured by two bottles of Wm. T. S. Mury's Out.

London Demonstration.

The Queen most Loyal received by the Citizens of the great Metropolis.

A Touching Service in Westminster Abbey.

Her Majesty Reviews thirty thousand Children in Hyde Park.

And is the Recipient of their Enthusiastic Homage.

Tuesday, the 21st inst., the first day of the fifty-first year of the reign of Queen Victoria over Great Britain and her extensive Empire, opened with perfect summer weather in London. The crowds scattered over the city were unprecedented in number. Thousands of people, who selected locations along the route of procession, in order to remain there, occupied them all the night, and many used the night to sing and to pray, and enable them to withstand the long and tiresome occupation. A steady stream of carriages and pedestrians poured constantly all night until dawn, through the streets in all directions towards the west end. At 1 o'clock the line of route was on each side a compact mass of people. Everybody, despite the discomfort of the crowding, manifested the utmost respect and reverence for the Queen, who was accompanied by the Marquis of Salisbury, the Queen's Prime Minister, and the Duke of Devonshire, who were seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received the homage of the foreign princes and others, and the presents in commemoration of her jubilee. At the children's fête in honor of the Queen's Jubilee, held the same day in Hyde Park, 30,000 little ones were present. They were arrayed on the great lawn and made a pretty picture. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their sons and daughters, accompanied by a number of their guests, were in the Park during the fête. The children at once freed themselves from restraint, broke the groups and rushed pell mell towards the Queen, who was seated in a carriage with the Duke of Devonshire, who was seated in a carriage with the Queen. The Queen, on her arrival at the palace, seemed fairly overcome by the loyal display of her subjects.

Next afternoon she received