A Loaf on the Country. There is a financial leak in the management of the Infantry School here, that demands the attention of the Government, and should be stopped at once. The Institution is de signed principally for training the officers and men of the various battalions in the Maritime Province, and in that capacity it is doing excellent service to the country, but the thing is being over done in a certain direction. For instance, there is no good and substantial reason why the Government should pay any officer a dollar per day for a whole year, to assist him in securing a certificate that he ought to capture in a few weeks at the longest. If we understand the matter correctly, provision is made for special, short, and long courses of instruction, the Cadet receiving during his stay in the School, the sum of one dollar per day to cover the expense of rations and other necessaries. It is possible for the intelligent Cadet; and it is usual, too, with very many of them, to study up before coming here, and pass the required examination for a certificate in seven days, and this is what is known as a special course. Then we have S. land grant was given in aid of the construction of the New Brunswick railway. All the lands practically which at that time remained ungranted were taken by the railway company, and they had the right of choice in the four counties of York, Carleton, Victoria and Northumberland. From this plain statement of the actual facts and the true position of the case, you, gentlemen of the jury, will agree with me that there is no foundation for the feeling which since this sad affair occur-EXCITED IN THIS COMMUNITY.

But if all said by the people who are so prisoner at the bar were true, and if in some high handed manner which is not yet explained, or is not capable of explanation, there has been oppression and unjust legislation of either the Provincial or Dominion Parliament, surely it is not going to be said in a law abiding community that the justice or the wisdom of their laws can be determined by the perpetration of monstrous acts. like unto that now under trial by this jury This country cannot, nor can any country removed from savagery and barbarism, afford to allow any person who may fancy himself they had rights which were being infringed, though I see no evidence that the had any such thought, they must have been conscious of the criminality of asserting them at the hazard of the lives of others. But at all events I need not at this stage dwell further upon this view. In an earnest, dignified and impressive manner, the learned Attorney General then proceeded to outline the case of the crown against the prisoners at the bar, laying especial stress on the ability of the woman to show that their acts was premeditated and designed, and invoking the jury to weigh faithfully and impartially the evidence that would be placed before them. Hon. Mr. Blair spoke for a little over half an hour, and was listened to with the most profound
