Ald. Gilman on Road Making

(To the Editor of the Farmer.) DEAR SIR .- As the City Council and the Road Committee have been pretty freely nandled this fall, by some quite willing to publish their ignorance of road building, permit me, through your columns, to show o the public some of the work done on the treets and its results, and to offer a few sug-First, you know for some years, those of our citizens who take an interest in the welfare of the city, have been finding fault with he character and cost of the stone used for nacademizing our streets, the result was the Douncil trying gravel for street making and epairing, and several pieces made of stone and gravel can be pointed too as giving satisfaction. During the season just closed, the Council continued the experiment of street making, and repairing with gravel, and the first of the season I think the citizens conidered it a success, although there was but from three to six inches put on, and in no place was there a thorough building up of treet. A small piece on Queen street, from Peoples' Bank to York, and York to King, a small piece on King, and a small piece on St. John street were partly built as a test. The greater part put on Queen street was one at the suggestion of the Mayor and several of the Board, in order to try and get he streets dry for the Stock Show week. The unprecedented wet season, with more than the usual driving and heavy hauling reulted in mud, it could not be otherwise, as there was more mud than gravel in the first Large and Splendid Assortment place, and although while admitting, the Grand Lake gravel is not suitable for our main thoroughfares, I have seen enough to convince me that a good quality of gravel and streets. We have sold of these leavely in Verb an increase of debenture debt. I would therefore suggest that the future writers on road building, first sit down and count the cost before submitting it to the public. Yours truly,
