To the Old Year.

Goodby, Old Year! While others ring The New Year in, and loudly sing Of what delight and peace 'twill bring, Ere the last tolling of the bell To the world soundeth thy death knell, I bid thee now a fond farewell—

Goodby, Old Year! While others raise To thy successor hymns of praise, I'll thank thee for the bygone days. Many a blessing hast thou brought, Many a sacred truth hast taught; Fruitful changes have been wrought By thee, Old Year.

Goodby, Old Year! Should I alone Remember thee when thou are gone, I'll thank thee for the good thou'st done. The world forgets the absent friend; To each new comer doth It bend, Like thee, Old Year.

Goodby, Old Year! Dost thou forget How men with joy thy advent met? That praise the New Year bath; but yet, When once again its reign is o'er, The world, it may be as before, Will leave to me to say once more, Goodby, Old Year!

A DEAR LITTLE SCHEMER.

There was a little daughter once, Whose feet were—ch, so small! That when the Christmas Eve came 'round, They wouldn't do at all. At least she said they wouldn't do,

She slyly took her mother's. " I'll pin this big one here," she said-Then sat before the fire, Watching the supple, dancing flames, And shadows darting by her. Till silently she drifted off

And so she tried another's,

And folded her wee stocking up,

Where sleepy children go. She never heard the tumult rare That came upon the roof!

Of " Nowhere in particular,"

To that queer land you know,

She never heard the patter Of a single reindeer hoof: She never knew how Some One came And looked his shrewd surprise At the wee foot and the stocking-So different in size!

She only knew, when morning dawned, That she was safe in bed, " It's Christmas! Ho!" and merrily She raised her little head Then, wild with glee, she saw what dear Old "Santa Claus" had done. And ran to tell the joyful news To each and every one,

" Mamma! Pappa! Come and look! A lovely doll, and all! And "See how full the stocking is! Mine would have been too small. I borrowed this for Santa Claus. It isn't fair, you know,
